A FUNDAMENTAL CONCEPTION

Nearly two weeks ago the final meeting of the Community Forum for this season was held. The Forum in the past five years has performed a valuable service to the community in bringing to the citizens speakers upon various topics of special interest. Fewer persons among Newton audiences probably agreed with Dean James M. Landis at the last meeting than with any other speaker during the current season, erudite and experienced as he may be we could not help but feel that Dean Landis lost sight of one of the fundamental bases upon which this American democracy is based. Mr. Landis contended that it was better to have Boards and specialized bureaus handling the details of various governmental regulatory functions rather than to have the courts, far from specialized in the field in which they may be called to render verdict, decide the point at issue. Our conception of the function of the court is to render its decision on the basis of right or wrong as the law pertains to the constitutional rights of every inhabitant. The difficulty with having a specialized board exercise too great a power of regulation lies in the fact that members of these boards are politically appointed and politically subservient to the administrative officials from whom they receive appointment. Although many persons may feel reason to decry court appointments as being political in nature, by and large, the highest courts of which we are now speaking, render decisions based on justice. One cannot walk up the steps of the Supreme Court building in Washington without a feeling of confidence that within its walls equal justice for all is the motive of those who sit there.

STORM COSTS

Mayor Goddard called public attention this week to the expensive emergency which the two severe storms created recently by personally appearing before the Board of Aldermen at a regular meeting. In acquainting the citizens of Newton with the facts surrounding the problem he has performed a service which should go a long way toward further creation of public confidence. One thought in his brief message is essentially pertinent—"the demands of public convenience are very insistent, and the work cannot be carried on without ultimate payment by the taxpayer." The cost of the storm is not measurable in terms of dollars which are expended in making streets passable for traffic. Many Newton merchants well know that the storms caused practically all retail business to fall to a low ebb except in those stores dealing in the necessities of life. And a few days loss of business means as much, if not more, to the merchant than the few dollars assessed against individual property taxes.

Heads B. U. Junior Prom Committee

Elliston Whitmore of Newtonville has recently been appointed chairman of the Junior Prom at Boston University. Negotiations are under way to obtain a "name band" for the Prom which will be held in the main ballroom of the Copley-Plaza on May 10, the social highlight of the season at B. U.

Whitmore has been an outstanding student, serving as a member of the House of Representatives, Dean's Cabinet, and Class Treasurer as well as advertising manager of the Yearbook. He is a member of "Lock," sophomore honor society, "Skull," junior honor society, and Scabbard and Blade, national military fraternity.

Recently he was admitted into "Scarlet Key," the activities society, being the only junior in the university to be so honored. He is also a member of the Boston University chapter of Lambda Chi Alpha.

90TH BIRTHDAY

Mr. Ambrose M. Fuller of 20 Linden st., Newton Upper Falls, celebrated his 90th birthday at his home on Sunday, February 25.

Mr. Fuller has been ill since the first of January but is now about the house for part of the day. He received three birthday cakes from friends in Newtonville and relatives

In Wellesley Hills and Newton Upper Falls. Flowers were received from friends and relatives and also many telephone messages of congratulations. About twenty relatives and friends called during the day among whom was Mrs. Burnett of Wellesley who is over 90 years old.

Mrs. H. O. Woodbury of Beverly, Mass., sister of Mr. Fuller who has been assisting his housekeeper in caring for him during his recent illness, helped to receive the guests.

Mr. Fuller is the oldest member of Home Lodge 162, I. O. O. F., of Newton Highlands.

Charge W. Newton Man With Assault

Roland Wingate, 42, of 77 Chestnut st., West Newton, a former golf professional at Brookline, was arraigned in the Framingham court last Friday charged with assault and battery on Edyth Bailey, 35, of Cohasset, Wingate was arrested the preceding day on a warrant obtained by the Bailey woman. She is a former resident of Newton and conducts a dog kennel at Cohasset. Judge Luby continued the case until February 27 and Wingate was released on $500 bail.

In the Framingham court on Tuesday Wingate was found guilty and fined $25. He was alleged to have knocked out one of the Bailey woman's teeth when he hit her.

Powers' Paragraphs

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Feb. 19 a petition was received from Morris Fisher of Chelsea asking that heavy trucking be prohibited on Centre st., Newton, in Wards 1 and 7 between the hours of 11 p. m. and 7 a. m. Mr. Fisher is the owner of the new apartment building at 543 and 549 Centre st., between Newton Mount Ida st. and Newtonville ave. Residents on Centre st. have been disturbed in recent years because of the large number of heavy trucks which rumble over that street, including sand and gravel trucks headed toward Needham and Oak Hill early in the morning. But, unless a State law shall be passed restricting hours during which heavy trucks may be operated on all public highways, it is difficult to conceive how such trucks can be restricted on Centre st. This street is the main highway between Newton Corner and points North, such as Waverley and Cambridge, and Newton Centre and points South. If it is closed to heavy trucks during late night and early morning hours, on what street will such trucks travel? If they had to be detoured via Park st., Waverley ave. and other streets, to reach Newton Centre, naturally the residents on those streets would rightly protest. We sympathize with persons who resided on Centre st. before the nuisance of heavy trucking started. But, Mr. Fisher's apartments have been erected within the past year or so, when the truck traffic had been long in existence. Incidentally, the sidewalk along Centre st., adjoining the apartment building, was not cleared of snow following the snowstorms of Feb. 14 and 19.

A new feature of one of our favorite newspapers, the Boston Globe, is a daily message from Finland written by a young man, W. L. White, son of the famous Wichita, Kansas, editor. So far, young Mr. White's articles have not been very informative, tending more to the human interest side. One that was in last Saturday's Globe was, however, a pipkin. In it the new war correspondent, who never saw a war before, tells "some of the nice things about war," saying it is "nicer and fairer than hunting, and yet it has the same clean outdoors feel, the same feel of men doing something together, the same nice taste of lots of hot coffee and meat and bread,—the same sweet sleep when you are so tired you do not even feel the mattress is straw, and the same nice sound of a wood fire crackling at night in a snug stove." He continued—"the danger in being shelled or in dodging a belt full of machine-gun bullets is like the most exciting moment in the best ball game that you have ever watched, or like a very tense moment in a card game." The tyro war correspondent wrote more about the very nice things of war.

Young Mr. White made some very brief excursions to the front under the guidance and guard of Finnish officers. Obviously he did not have nice face or endure the real war conditions such as the Finnish or Russian soldiers have faced and will face, or as soldiers in the World War endured. Had he this experience he would know that those unfortunate pawns of human greed and stupidity did not enjoy the nice taste of hot coffee, meat and bread, or sweet sleep on a straw mattress with a wood fire crackling nearby in a stove. We would suggest that while Mr. White still believes war is so nice, that he returns to Wichita, because soon it will come mence to grow warmer in Finland, and when the many thousands of bodies of poor Russians and Finns now lying frozen in the forests and swamps there thaw, it will be much nicer in Kansas, and hunting birds and seeing ball games will be much safer than facing the advance of millions of Soviet soldiers.

The question which has increasingly interested or bothered many millions in this country—"Will President Roosevelt run for a third term?"—seems to have been answered (in the opinion of many) by Mr. Roosevelt allowing his name to stand in Illinois, and by his failure to state that he will not be a candidate. Declarations favoring a third term for Mr. Roosevelt by prominent Democrats in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut and other States, and by Mayor La Guardia of New York, and the one-sided lead he has in the Gallup poll, all indicate that if the President wants the Democratic nomination, he can have it.

We were interested to hear Adolf Hitler state in his speech of last Saturday that—"the hand of Providence saved him from death when the bomb exploded in the Burgerbrauhaus at Munich on Nov. 8," that "the same Providence has especially blessed us for six years, and will not drop us now," and—"There is a God—He creates people with equal rights." Herr Hitler, like his new ally, Kamegrad Stalin, has been accused of being utterly materialistic and Godless. But, the God to whom Hitler gives thanks is not the God worshipped by the Germans prior to the World War, the deity in whom they had such faith that their slogan was—"Gott Mit Uns," and which slogan was embossed on the buttons and belt-buckles of German soldiers' uniforms. That God was the God of the Christians, for the worship of whom thousands of beautiful Gothic churches, including majestic cathedrals had been erected during past centuries in Germany.

The losing of that war caused Hitler and most of his followers to lose their faith in Christ. Since they became ascendant in Germany the past several years, Hitler and his Nazi leaders have worked persistently to discredit and persecute both Catholic and Protestant clergymen in the Reich, and have succeeded in embittering millions of the youth of that country against Christianity, against the God who was Jewish in His human form. Hitler did not indicate what God he now believes in. Perhaps the Omnipotent in whom Adolf now places his faith, has in Hitler's belief the characteristics of that ancient German deity—"Wodan," worshipped as the dispenser of victory, and to whom (according to Tacitus) the ancient Germans offered human sacrifices. Certainly Hitler is offering human sacrifices, both of the German people and other peoples in his quest for victory and with the confidence that the God he now believes in, will not fail him.

Those of us who believe in Christianity cannot condone Hitler's paganistic philosophy, or worship his kind of God, but many of us will agree that Germany should control a fair share of this earth's resources. Had there been more adherence to the Golden Rule of Christianity by Britain and France following the World War, and less desire on their part for additional power and wealth, the present war might have been avoided.

Rotary Club

At the meeting of the Rotary Club on Monday the guest speaker was Dr. Hachiro Yuasa, Ph.D., formerly head of the biological department of the Imperial University of Tokio. He was introduced by Irving Atwood. Dr. Yuasa spoke upon "The Sino-Japanese Tragedy," prefacing his remarks with the comment that he was glad to address a Rotary Club; although not a member himself, he felt Rotarian in spirit. He touched briefly upon Rotary Clubs in Japan.

He characterized the period Japan is going through as a tragedy of history and one that is international in scope as a problem. The whole of Japan, being about the size of the State of Montana and with a population of seventy-two million, some measure of relief must be found for the future of Japan. The speaker discussed four possible solutions. Immigration is impossible because of restriction in any possible direction to which Japanese could go; birth control is impossible because it is not accepted; agricultural promotion is difficult because of lack of land; and fourthly industrial activity is possible only through the extension of trade with other nations, as Japan has but only a few of the 63 basic materials essential to industry.

Dr. Yuasa handled many phases of a delicate subject with due propriety and deference and concluded with replies to numerous questions from his audience. He asserted that Japan stands condemned as an aggressor nation but that he sees a Tokio-Washington axis more vital to Japan's future welfare than the so-called Tokio-Rome-Berlin axis.

President Norman Needy paid a fitting tribute to the memory of the late Horace Orr and the entire club stood in silent reverence for a minute.

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, February 21, 1885

A double runaway on Tuesday ended in a collision between Dr. Stone's sleigh and a Howe's Market pung, in which the former was badly damaged.

Howard Brothers Ice Company gave its employees a sleigh ride to South Natick last Friday night. The party, 19 in number, had supper at Bailey's Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Harwood of Hotel Hunnewell, Newton, entertained their guests and friends on Monday night with a masquerade in honor of Mr. Harwood's birthday. The costumes were varied and elegant and music was furnished by Gott's Band of Boston.

The Superintendent of Schools says that the new Rice School at Newton Centre is the finest structure of the kind in the city, and the best adapted for its purposes of any schoolhouse he has ever seen.

For the past few years the Newton Baptist Society has been earnestly working raising funds and studying plans for its badly needed new church. Some time ago the Whipple lot on Church st. was purchased and on Tuesday of this week contracts were signed for the erection of the church by April 1, 1886. The architect, H. H. Richardson of Brookline, is the architect of Trinity Church, Boston, and the State Capitol at Albany. The general design of the church will be modelled after Trinity Church; the cruciform shape will be followed, the massive tower, 40 feet square, rising directly above the structure, with the pyramidal roof rising 115 feet. The style will be Southern Romanesque. Norcross Brothers of Worcester have the contract for the erection of the church. The material will be Longmeadow brownstone, and the church will be finished at a cost, including land, of only $70,000.

The meeting of the Newton Horticultural Society on Wednesday night at Cycle Hall, Newtonville, was one of the best attended of the season. Dr. Henry Barnes of Boston gave a comprehensive review on the subject of sewerage. He condemned cesspools and favored first—surface irrigation and sewerage farms, and secondly—sub-surface irrigation. Ex-Mayor J. F. C. Hyde said there are only systems to be considered—water carriage, and surface irrigation. The former would necessitate discharging at Moon Island or Shirley Gut, in which event it would be in charge of a Metropolitan Commission. But, he favors surface irrigation with stations near Watertown st. and toward West Newton for experimental farms. J. W. Stover thought any system of sewerage entirely needless at present. He didn't see why people can't empty cesspools directly on their land for fertilizing purposes. After the discussion the usual collation was held.

Newton Graphic, February 21, 1890

The concert in aid of the Cottage Hospital on Monday evening netted $200, which is a very satisfactory result.

The Board of Health report for January shows that there were 58 deaths during the month, of which 13 were from pneumonia, 6 from old age, 6 from consumption, and the 33 other deaths from 27 different diseases. Eight of those dying were over 80, ten over 70, and seven over 60. Seventeen cases of diphtheria were reported during the month, 9 of scarlet-fever, and 1 of typhoid.

The high school boys were dismissed early on Friday afternoon so that they could go to Eliot Hall, Newton, for an extra military drill.

The red-headed, one-armed young man who is going about Newton begging $15 with which to start a newspaper, and claiming to have been injured while working for Mr. Bennett of West Newton is a fraud. People are requested to call the police if he comes to their houses.

Three boys between 15 and 18 went up into the belfry of the Baptist Church at Upper Falls during the choir rehearsal on Saturday evening, muffled the bell, and suspended a sign reading "Gaiety & Bijou" on the outside of the tower. Nothing was discovered until Sunday morning, when the sign was painfully visible, and the bell refused to ring. It was thought a smart piece of work by the perpetrators, but the public thinks differently, and a repetition will be treated severely.

George H. Ellis of Newton Centre is receiving this week from Lake Winipisogee 2000 tons of ice via the Boston & Montreal Railroad, requiring about 150 cars to move it. More will follow, as little was obtained from Crystal Lake this winter. It is very clear, pure blue ice, 21 inches thick.

A conference between the Board of Health, members of the Aldermen and the Common Council, and Dr. Whiston, representing the Cottage Hospital, was held on Tuesday afternoon to decide on building a new ward at the hospital for contagious

College News

By GEORGE W. HUTCHINGS, N.H.S. '39

Leading off this week is an item from Hamilton College located in New York. Howard John Potter, known to the masses as Jack, calls 19 Loring st., Newton Centre, his home port. Right up until graduation time at Newton High last June, Jack was torn between two choices for further matriculation. Would it be Amherst College, popular New England institution, or Hamilton, one of New York's better small colleges? There didn't seem to be much to choose by, both rates so highly in their respective sections of the country. What was Hamilton's gain was apparently a loss to the Lord Jeffs. First news from Jack arrived last fall when we saw his picture gracing the sport page of a local daily. Here he was, our Jack, totting a football for the first team backfield of the frosh team. Those who recall his play at Newton will remember a burly six foot tackle who spent Saturday afternoons kicking opposing backs behind their scrimmage line. All reports seem to indicate far greater success at his new position. Only recently he was elected to the freshman honorary society at Hamilton. This consists of students of outstanding character and leadership, and is known as the Quadrangle Club. When asked to make another great decision concerning fraternities, Jack chose Delta Kappa Epsilon. The Deks, as all collegians know them, have chapters in 49 colleges throughout the nation. Each house is a power on its respective campus, and forms an integral part of one of the strongest Greek letter societies in the country. Keep an eye on the Jack Pot.

Another "veteran" of former colunns is Clara Schwab of Newtonville, a senior at Pembroke College. A member of the Dance Club, Clara was elected to the freshman class of the modern dance who appeared last Friday evening in the fourth annual recital in Alumnae Hall. We understand that the program represented "the classical music of Grieg and Bach, as well as the syncopated rhythm of Gould and Prokoffier." In addition to appearing with the whole group, Clara danced in the Gaillard by Haster, and in Justice by Moore. Headmaster Frederick Smith, of New Hampton Preparatory School for Boys recently announced the results of the various class elections. Elected secretary-treasurer of the junior class was Kenneth A. Spilman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Spilman of Gibbs st., Newton Centre. Ken is obviously maintaining a standard of popularity held when he forsook Newton High for the New Hampshire school. Synonymous with popularity is the name Spilman, brothers Billy and Roy having held the esteem of all their classmates. The former was captain of the baseball team at high school in the middle thirties.

Another junior, Donald C. Jordan of Neshobe rd., Waban, was elected Student Council member representing his class. Let us hope the preppers continue to enjoy political popularity in the terms to come.

Harriet Zoe Church, daughter of Mrs. Alexander MacDonald of 4 Durant st., Newton, has begun her field work, a regular part of the program offered by the Simmons College School of Business and Secretarial Studies. Her practice work which consists of working one day a week at the Children's Hospital in Boston will continue until the end of the school year. Now a senior in Simmons, Harriet was graduated from Newton High in 1936 where she participated in activities of all types—athletic, dramatic, scholastic and civic. This practice work is one of the best plans we have ever seen for sending capable women into the world of business where competition is so keen and exacting.

Frank E. Hanneur, 100 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, was on the Honor Roll of high ranking students for the first semester at the Cambridge School of Liberal Arts, Cambridge. Frank is a second year student and eventually places Dartmouth as his choice of a college. In high school he was known as the mighty man with the brief case. His favorite extra-curricular activities were debating and marionettes, both of which profited from his consistent proficiency. First year students at the school who hail from the City of Gardens are John E. Cody, 34 Emerson st.; Norma Daniels, 29 Elison rd.; and Edwin A. Meserve, 30 Ransom rd., all of Newton Centre. All of the above received the required grades to place them on the music conservatory Honor Roll.

That is all for this time. Next week we have an interesting story from Monticello College out Illinois way—Alton, to be exact.

Letters To The Editor

Feb. 26, 1940.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

As we travel about our eyes are open to any new suggestions that can be transmitted to the general public upon the matter of parking in front of business stores as might relate to the City of Newton.

We have spoken about the stores providing area under their own jurisdiction at the rear of the store with an entrance at the back of the store as is done so many times now in the building of new enterprises. Now we have a new idea that will possibly help the patrons who do not desire to enter the rear door.

Such can be seen at Wellesley Hills sq. by the arrangement of a parking space in front of the building, but free from the highway traffic. This is about 25 or 30 feet inside the street sidewalk and with a new sidewalk at the new set back front that gives access to the store fronts for small sales by those who shop on "foot."

There is no set back now in the City of Newton zoning ordinance but thought should be given by the store and property owners of some means of providing store parking free from the main highways which are for traffic and not for parking. Congestion and appeals for relief are made to be at the expense of the city or town but without proper reasoning. Business properties should provide its own relief.

HERBERT J. KELLAWAY.

PRaises Street Dept.

Editor of The Newton Graphic, Newton, Mass.

Dear Sir:

As I look over the situation now, a few days after we had the blizzard, I think our Street Commissioner and his Department did a wonderful job and should have the thanks of the citizens of our City.

It is gratifying to know that we have a man at the head of the Department who can well live up to the good reputation earned by his predecessors, Messrs. Mahoney and Stuart.

It was a hard situation to handle but I think the Street Department made an excellent showing, and people who are able to compare it with what was done by the City of Boston are in a fine position to form a correct opinion.

Respectfully yours,

GEORGE J. MARTIN.

Dear Sirs:

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Jones wish to thank the Community Welcoming Committee and all the merchants who participated in the Welcome Basket delivered to us when we moved to Newton; also the gifts from the Welcome Wagon Service Company. The thoughtfulness and the gifts were appreciated very much.

diseases. The estimated cost is $10,000, and 8 additional patients will be provided for, giving the hospital a total capacity of 34. Mr. Leeson said the hospital is doing all that it can financially, and now that this need has come, it was decided to bring it before the city and see what action would be taken. Dr. Frisbee said that the increase in contagious diseases the past year shows the need of a contagious ward. These have been a constant expense to the city, as they had to be removed to some out of the way place and placed in charge of good nurses from Boston at a cost of $21 per week. Patients were taken to a Boston hospital when beds were available at $7 per week.

75TH BIRTHDAY PARTY

A 75th birthday party was given Mrs. Margaret P. Mattson of Brookline at the home of her son, Mr. William R. Mattson, Brookdale rd., Newtonville, on Tuesday, Feb. 27. Mrs. Mattson enjoyed the company of a number of guests at this dinner party. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Lyndell and their son, Allen, of Somerville, Rev. and Mrs. Brouillette of Salem and the Misses Hattie and Laura Ellis of Jamaica Plain. Mrs. Mattson, whose home was formerly in Philadelphia, received many letters and telegrams of congratulations from distant points.

For years Mrs. Margaret Mattson has been active in the Women's Auxiliary of the 101st Engineers Veteran Association. Her son was a captain in this regiment during the World War.

LYDIA PARTRIDGE WHITING CHAPTER

The Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, held its regular meeting on Feb. 27th at the Newton Highlands Club Workshop.

The Regent, Mrs. Cooper, presided at the business meeting. She introduced Mrs. E. P. Lingham, a member of the State committee of the Children of the American Revolution, who gave an outline of the aims of that organization and urged formation of a Chapter in Newton. Mrs. Sanford of Hillsdale School, Marlboro, one of the D. A. R. approved schools, spoke on the work of the school and the eighty boys who make their home there. Nine boys were present and furnished a program of songs, a cornet trio, a cantata in honor of George Washington's Birthday and a playlet.

I. race, Bud Hurley was given the right wing position on the second team. Phil Fessenden, third member of the Newton number one line and Joe Beatty, defense, were given honorable mention.

Tom Dugan was also named on the Boston Herald All-Scholastic with a berth at right wing and awarded the mythical captaincy. Hurley was given a forward's alternate berth. Honorable mention was given Goodband and Fessenden's forwards, Hines as defense and Bender in goal.

TRACK TEAM PLACES
SECOND IN STATE MEET

Newton High completed its regular season last Saturday in the annual State Meet at the Boston Garden track, scoring 13 points, to earn a tie for second place with Lowell High while Mechanic Arts High swept to the top of the heap with 20 points for its first championship. Mechanics Arts triumph topped Newton from the throne where it has ruled for the past two years. Back in the track early in the season Coach Enoch's forces have forged gradually ahead with a third at Andover two weeks ago and its second-place tie last Saturday. Several of Newton's leading performers will participate in the Bowdoin Interscholastics on Mar. 9th at Brunswick, Maine.

Pre-meet favorites in various Class A events last Saturday were toppled to upset all predictions except for the Mechanics Arts rousing surge to the top in which the artisans tallied 15 points in the last three events, an eight-point effort in the high jump turning the trick. Had Newton athletes come through here and there sufficient points would have been garnered to have come close to topping the winners' efforts.

The dash field was too fast for Newton's entry, Jim Beloit, who won his trial heat but was eliminated in the semi-finals. Bill Alpert, who had previously captured a second in the standing broad jump to start Newton off, won his trial hurdle heat, placed second to Koumantzels of Lowell in a semi-final, and then duplicated in the final, chalked up 5½ points for the orange and black.

The 300-yard run, with trials against time, found Bob Cotton of Newton winning the second heat but failing to qualify. Lewis Watkins, Mechanics Arts flyer, had come within 1/8 of the record in his trial, and Pochowsky of Brockton staged a torrid duel in the final with the Brockton runner taking the lead at the end of the stagger-lanes and holding off every effort of the Bostonian who faded at the end and barely saved second place over Shotgrem of Boston English.

The 600-yard run was the most thrilling of the day with places being awarded on a time basis and the stars seeded in the final heat. John Turner, Northeastern and Andover winner, forged to the front with Fred Hall of Newton jumping him on the first stretch and Golas of Lawrence moving up to second as they reached the bend. Hall apparently was striving to build up a lead which would enable him to stave off the stiffer kick the others possessed at the finish but the field kept close on Hall's heels. At the bell Hall and Golas were pounding it out with Turner beginning to show signs of distress. On the back stretch Golas jumped Hall while Bob Ross of Newton and Fisher of Boston English, nearly ten yards back turned on the heat. Off the final bank Ross swung wide with Fisher at his elbow and the pair came down onto the straightaway to pass Turner, Hall and Golas. Turner found a lift to hang on while Hall faded and Golas faltered. Down the middle of the track Ross bore with Turner striving to pass but the pair crossed the finish line, inches apart with Fisher third and Golas fourth. The latter two were shut out in the point division as Nearhos of Boston English and Sullivan of Commerce had turned in better times. Ross' victory put five points into the Newton score.

In the 1000 yard run Paul Van Wart's third in the second heat was not fast enough for the point division. A seeded final heat found Carter of Boston Latin staging a last-lap spring which swept him by both MacMillan of Everett and Dave Blair, Medford 1939 champion, who had been fighting it out all the way in the lead. Charlie Flett of Mechanics Arts came in fast to nip third from Blair for two valuable points for the new champions.

In the relay races Newton's quartet of Bill Hurley, Gil Doble, Fred Holland, Bob Cotton defeated Brockton and were clocked in 2m. 32.68, good enough for sixth position and 2½ points. Elliot Mover added Newton's other half digit with a fourth place tie in the high jump.

SPORT NOTES

Don MacKinnon, former Newton ace hurdler, competed in the freshman dash at the Quadrangular meet on Saturday. Wearing the Crimson of Harvard he won his heat and placed second in the finals.

Coach Evan Johnson's All-star hockey team made it an undefeated season last Saturday knocking off the Bay State league All-stars to chalk up a second victory to add to that over Catholic High of Montreal the week previous. The Greater Boston All-team turned in a 4-1 victory while the All-star seconds annexed a 5-2 verdict. Hurley and Dugan playing in the first team game paired to score one goal with Hurley scoring and Dugan assisting. In the second team affair Phil Fessenden scored twice and was credited with one assist while Newton's goalie, Bender, and defense player Paul Hines were staunch defenders against the Bay State attack. Goodband of Newton assisted on one of Fessenden's tallies.

NEWTON QUINTET ENDS
SEASON WITH WIN

Anticipate Bid to M. I. T.
Tourney Next Week

The Newton High basketball team wound up its regular season on Tuesday turning back the invading Medford quintet, 36 to 23, in a game postponed because of the storm two weeks ago. School vacation necessitated the late layoff which may aid considerably in helping to keep Coach Beverly Wilson's aggregation in condition for a possible M. I. T. tourney invitation. Newton's record of twelve wins and but one loss is comparable to many other schools which are regarded as potential invitees. In addition the Newton Athletic Council has approved, for the first time in some years, the participation of a Newton athletic team in an extra-season contest, subject to the receipt of a bid.

In disposing of the Medford invaders on Tuesday Captain Johnny Flag and his mates found it difficult to get going. At the end of the first period Medford was leading 11 to 4. In the second session the orange and black turned on the heat to chalk up 14 points against but 3 for Medford with a half time result of 18 to 14 on the right side of the ledger for the first time in the game.

With each Newton player doing his share nine points in each of the next two periods while Medford annexed but 2 in the third period and 7 in the final count built up Newton's margin. Towards the end of the game Coach Wilson used numerous reserves who will provide next year's team.

Johnny Flag, Newton's consistent high scorer, again led with 14 tallies, followed by Olivigni with 7 and Teschner with 5. Fortin with 9 points and Murray with 8 were the visitors' leading scorers.

Youth Who Stole
Newton Car Caught

Leon Levenson, 18, of Oakhurst st., Mattapan, who stole a car owned by Abner Cohen of 398 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, from the latter's garage on the night of Feb. 21st, was arrested by Boston police on Monday, arraigned in the South Boston court that day on a number of charges, and held in $2500 bail. South Boston police observed a car with plates reported as having been stolen in Roxbury last week. They gave chase and after firing six shots at the fleeing car, several of which pierced the body of the automobile, an occupant of the car being chased fell out of the machine, and as the police car stopped to avoid a running over him the other car got away. Levenson was arrested the following morning. It was Cohen's car he had been driving when pursued and he had placed the plates stolen from the other car on it.

Levenson, who was on parole from Shirley Reform School, will be later arraigned in the Newton court on charges of breaking and entering, and larceny of the automobile.

New Shipment
By Red Cross

Conditions in Poland and Finland are brought home vividly when the American Red Cross reports from National Headquarters in Washington to all Chapter chairmen that many of the garments made in the Chapters are now actually in use by refugees and war sufferers abroad. War may have seemed vague and almost unreal when the local Newton Chapter sent their quota of garments for Poland the second of January, but that vagueness and unreality vanishes before this simple statement which strikes in forcefully as to what is occurring in these two stricken countries abroad, today.

News items last week of the bombing planes over Finland made more tense this realization, too, so that it is understandable why the American Red Cross is stressing the need for warm clothing, and why Newton women are knitting and sewing constantly to supply that need. The scarcity of woolen materials abroad makes necessary the continuance of the making of heavy sweaters for men, women and children, and of the heavier weight dresses, for the great need is among the women and children, the civilian victims of war. Gifts of yarn and materials by individuals assist greatly in this work.

In answer to this call, there is satisfaction in being able to announce that on Wednesday, the 28th of February, the Newton Chapter shipped to headquarters, for re-shipment to Finland, the following articles, packed by Mrs. Carl H. Hanson, chairman of Production, and by Mrs. David B. Galloway, chairman of knitting: 52 men's sweaters; 62 women's sweaters; 112 children's sweaters; 40 women's dresses; 80 children's dresses; 7½ dozen pairs of mittens; 2 dozen mufflers or shawls; and 4 dozen beanies or caps.

Anniversary of Patriotic Song

The 108th anniversary of the writing of the patriotic song "America" was observed at the Men's Club of the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, on Wednesday night, February 28. The words of the song were written by Rev. Samuel F. Smith, who was at that time the pastor of the First Baptist Church. The words were set to the music of an old German melody, also used for generations as the music of the British national anthem, "God Save the King." At the observance of the anniversary on Wednesday night the speaker was Professor Kirtley Mather, and his subject was—"My Country." Among other things he said: that the dream of the signers of the Declaration of Independence of this country is more in danger today than ever before because of movements of domestic character, and foreign conditions. Prosperity in the U. S. A. depends on prosperity elsewhere, and a "no-hate" movement should be started in this country. If we allow hate to thrive, it will disintegrate this nation.

Two Fined For Careless Driving

Mrs. Edith B. Felton of 277 Central st., Auburndale, was fined $20 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Friday for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. Her car was involved in a collision at Chestnut and Prince sts., West Newton, with a car driven by Mildred Kinsman of Needham. It was charged that Mrs. Felton did not obey the "Stop" sign at the intersection and bring her car to a halt before entering Chestnut st.

Robert Gleason of South Main st., Natick, was fined $20 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court last Saturday for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. At 4:40 a. m. on February 3 a car driven by Gleason hit an Edison pole at Walnut st., Newtonville, with enough force to break the pole into three parts. Gleason lost several teeth in the crash and was taken to the Newton Hospital. Sergeant Burke testified that Gleason had told him he fell asleep while driving.

A charge of driving to endanger against Richard Robbins, 16, and his father, Jeffrey of School st., Reading, was dismissed in the Newton court last Friday. The boy was driving a truck on his father's license and collided with a car on Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre. The driver of the car hit, Mrs. Virginia Alexander of Grove st., Wellesley, did not appear in court to testify against the defendants.

W. C. T. U.
The West Newton W. C. T. U. will hold an evangelistic meeting at the home of Mrs. Flora Weeks, 9 Higgins st., Auburndale, on Monday evening. The leader will be Mrs. Sarah L. Jordan. Miss Florence Hart will be the hostess.

"Gone With The Wind"

At Wellesley Theatre

"Gone with the Wind," history-making motion picture, comes on Monday, March 4, to the Wellesley Hills Community Playhouse for an engagement of undetermined duration.

Every established precedent of film producing and presentation had been upset by this astounding motion picture. Three years in the making at a cost of over $4,000,000 it has emerged as by far the greatest motion picture of all time. Already $7,000,000 has been paid into theatre box offices of the nation, unprecedented and substantial tribute to the film's magnitude.

"Gone with the Wind" is the most faithful filmization of a novel the screen has ever attempted. Every word, character and event in Margaret Mitchell's dramatic story lives on the screen.

Newtonville Boys Ransack House and Leave Threat Note

Last Friday Reginald W. Brown discovered that his home at 490 Walnut st., Newtonville, had been entered by means of an unlocked window, and ransacked. The intruders, apparently boys, damaged a phonograph, and scattered clothing about.
Mr. Brown, who was moving from the house, locked the window, but the next day two windows in the house were broken and the intruders on their second visit stole $3.50 from a handbag they found in the house.

In addition to finding that his home had been broken into on Monday, Mr. Brown also found a note which read—"Walnut street chamber of death. You die at midnight, tonight."
(signed) Dr. Death." Sergeant Bannon of the Newton police investigated the case and found that the breaks had been committed and the threat note written by three boys residing in the neighborhood. Two of the boys are 9 years of age, and the other 11. Their parents agreed to make restitution for the larger window broken, and the money stolen, and
Mr. Brown declined to prosecute.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Christ Jesus" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday,
March 3.

The Golden Text is: "God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ" (II Corinthians 4:6).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people. But when he saw the multitudes, he was moved with compassion on them, because they fainted, and were scattered abroad, as sheep having no shepherd" (Matthew 9: 35, 36).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus established his church and maintained his mission on a spiritual foundation of Christ-healing. He taught his followers that his religion had a divine

Conference and Program of Music For 12th District

The Woman's Club of Newton Highlands will be the Hostess Club on Tuesday, March 5th, for the Twelfth District Music Conference, which will be held in the Congregational Parish House.

Among the guests of the afternoon will be Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the Massachusetts State Federation; Mrs. John H. Kimball, General Federation director; and Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation.

Dessert will be served at 1:30 p. m., followed by a short meeting, and with music by the Club Chorus at 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. J. Arthur Snyder, Pianist and Commentator; and Artista du Volt, Harpist, will entertain during the afternoon.

Guest Nights And Other Social Events

Auburndale Review Club

Guest Night will be observed by the Auburndale Review Club on Tuesday evening, March 5th, in the Chapel of the Congregational Church, at the corner of Hancock st. and Woodland rd.

At 8 o'clock, the president, Mrs. Eugene U. Ufford; the director of the Twelfth District, Mrs. William F. Leach; and the president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, will be in line to receive the guests. The members of the Executive Board will act as hostesses to the visiting presidents. These hostesses, with Mrs. Ernest F. Drew as chairman, will be Mrs. James G. Patterson, Mrs. Walter Amesbury, Mrs. Amos R. Wells, Mrs. Frank F. Davidson, Mrs. Edmund I. Wilson, Mrs. Grace Fiske, and Miss Alice Dike.

An entertainment, arranged by the Program committee, will follow, in charge of the chairman, Miss Anne Buckley, who will introduce the artists. This will include readings by Mrs. Herman Krueger, a member of the Club, and the author of several monologues and plays; and selections on the harp by Miss Mildred Shedd.

Following the program, there will be a social hour, during which the Hospitality committee, Mrs. Paul Tardivel, chairman, assisted by Mrs. John Heideck, Mrs. Robert Waters, and Miss Elizabeth Eaton, will serve refreshments. A group of Club daughters will assist the committee.

Newtonville Woman's Club

"Turquoise Trails to New Mexico" will be the subject of the illustrated lecture by Alton Hall Blackington at the Annual Guest Night, Tuesday, March 5th, at 8 o'clock, at the Newtonville Woman's Club. Each member is privileged to bring one guest, and they will be admitted upon presentation at the door of the membership ticket. Due to the illness of Mr. Phidellah Rice, it was necessary to cancel the program originally planned, and the Club was very fortunate at such short notice to secure the ever-popular Mr. Blackington. This is one of his outstanding lectures and his rapid-fire delivery assures the audience of a quick tour of ten thousand miles to New Mexico.

Immediately following the entertainment, a four-piece orchestra, The Pied Pipers, under the direction of Lyman Bowker, will play for dancing. Refreshments in charge of Mrs. Henry E. Johnson, will be served.

Auburndale Woman's Club

A Scholarship Bridge will be held in the Auburndale Club House on the afternoon of Tuesday, March 5th. Dessert and coffee will be served at 1 o'clock, and the playing will start at 2.

This Bridge is in charge of the Education committee, Mrs. Guy M. Winslow, chairman; and Mrs. Leslie Ford and Mrs. Ralph D. Weston, and all arrangements for it are being made by Mrs. James Dunlop and Mrs. Edward B. Gray.

The proceeds will go towards the scholarship which the Auburndale Woman's Club gives annually to some local girl who meets with the requirements, not only of the Executive Board of the Club, but also of the same board at the Newton High School.

This scholarship was given up for a while, but the needs of students at the present time influenced the Club to resume this philanthropy, and they hope for a generous response in the sale of tickets.

Notable Speakers For Conference of Literature, Drama

"Listen" is the title of the address of Professor Frederick W. Packard. He is Director of the Department of Public Speaking at Harvard, and will illustrate his talk with records of famous voices.

Last fall, on the book horizon appeared the title of "Free For 3 Months Only," which concentrated eight acres of New England between covers. The author, Dwight Hutchison, had a vacation from his active work in advertising and found peace and contentment in Harvard, Massachusetts, on a farm. Mrs. Hutchison's second book "Nathalie" was written for young girls, but found its way into the adult market, for it tells the story of advertising technique through its leading character, Mrs. Hutchison, who has given up her profession of advertising for creative writing, will speak on "Out of Advertising."

YOU MIGHT AS WELL Get it!

If you like fine motor cars, you might as well get a LaSalle—and be done with it! Hundreds of LaSalle owners have confessed to us that they tried for years to get motor car satisfaction in a lesser car. But eventually, they had to move up to LaSalle. There is simply no substitute for LaSalle performance, acceleration, safety and gas economy. How about a demonstration?

It's No Secret!

IT'S no secret that Savings Bank Life Insurance offers safe family protection at remarkably low cost.

Neither is it a secret that the main reason for the low cost of Savings Bank Life Insurance is that you have to want it enough to go to the savings bank and buy it over-the-counter.

Thrifty Massachusetts people have bought more than $175,000,000 of family protection under this "cash and carry" plan. Insurance is available in amounts from $250 to $25,000, to persons from 6 months to 70 years who live or work in Massachusetts.

Savings Bank Life Insurance policies have cash value after only 6 months and loan value after one year.

Removal of Snow Cost City $95,000

Washington st., Commonwealth ave. and Centre st., Commonwealth av. and Lexington st., and in the traffic tower at Nonantum sq., Newton Corner. At the intersections on Commonwealth ave. the signal beacons located on the streets were to be removed and replaced by corner signals. At the tower at Newton Corner the dangerous existing signal, which authorizes two lines of traffic to cross by each making a left turn, was to be eliminated.

Street Commissioner Haughey stated that the cost of removing snow after the blizzards was $46,000, and the cost of removing the snow after the storm on Feb. 19 was $49,000. Although much more snow fell during the blizzard, it was light and dry, and could be plowed and removed more expeditiously and economically than the heavy, wet snow which fell during the second storm. The second storm came before the snow from the blizzard had all been cleared, and the high drifts and windrows caused by the blizzard, and the plowing of streets after it, added to the costs of the second storm.

Plan Compromise To End Eyesore At Crystal Lake

The eyesore adjoining Crystal Lake, Newton Center, caused by the debris where the former Crystal Lake Ice Company plant was located, and an outdoor market nearby, will be eliminated if plans for a compromise arrangement are accepted by the Board of Aldermen and the Mayor. Petitions were received by the Aldermen on Monday night from Elsie Tufts of Somerville. One asks for a permit to erect a gasoline filling station at 1365 Centre st., Newton Center, the site of the former Karalekas Market. A hearing has been assigned for this petition on April 1. A second petition from Elsie Tufts asks for a change of zoning so that a lot of land on Norwood ave., adjoining the proposed filling station site will be changed from business district to single residence district.

In conjunction with these two petitions a petition was received from the Purity Crystal Ice Company asking that the site where the former ice house was located between Centre st., Norwood ave. and the lake, be changed from manufacturing district to general residence district. It is understood that if the Aldermen will grant the permit for the filling station, the owners of the other two parcels of property will consent to the zoning changes. Several attempts have been made to obtain a gasoline station permit at the 1365 Centre st. locus. Proposals have also been made by some residents of the Center and Highlands to have the city purchase the old ice house property for park purposes, but the city hasn't money to spend for such aesthetic development under existing conditions.

Newton Boy Scouts Visit Governor

Last Friday afternoon members of "Golden Wolf Patrol," Newton Boy Scouts, went to the State House and had the unusual honor of being received by the Governor. At 4:30 the patrol proudly marched into the Executive Chamber where W. Clifford Fisher presented Governor Saltonstall with a medal, making him an honorary member of the patrol. It was the first time in the history of Boy Scouts in Massachusetts that any Governor had been presented with such a medal. Prior to visiting the Governor, the patrol went to the Hall of Flags to view the historic collection there. They were especially interested in the flag used by General Plunkett in the Civil War, which was shown to them by one of the General's descendants. They were told how both the General's hands were shot off, but he heroically continued to hold the flag with his mangled arms. The patrol also visited the Senate Reading Room to see the war relics there, and the Scouts also saw the Mayflower Log in the State Library.

Highlands Men's Club March Dinner

The Newton Highlands Men's Club will hold its March dinner meeting on Tuesday, March 6, at 6:30 p. m. in the Congregational Parish House. The speaker of the evening will be Eugene J. Campbell, manager of the Newton office of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company. His subject will be—"The Radio and Your Telephone." The Minstrel Show to be presented by the Men's Club will be given on the nights of April 5 and 6, and the interest being taken in rehearsals indicates that the show should be a big success.

Newtonville Board Of Trade Officers

Warren W. Oliver, treasurer of the Newton Co-operative Bank, was elected president of the Newtonville Board of Trade at the organization meeting in the Newtonville Branch Library last night. Other officers elected were James L. Higgins, vice-president; Miss Alice Simpson, secretary and Herbert W. Kestle, treasurer. The following committee chairmen were also selected: William R. Willis, finance; John T. Burns, Jr., advertising and publicity; William M. Parson, traffic and parking; Bernard H. Dokton, membership; James Joyce, activity, and Francis V. Terry, entertainment. The by-laws were adopted and the treasurer reported that the membership had been increased to 49. Meetings of the board will be held monthly on different evenings at the Newtonville Library.

Neighbors Object To Boarding House

A hearing was held at City Hall on Wednesday night before the Claims Committee on the petition of Ida Morrison for a permit to conduct a boarding house for aged persons at 1660 Washington st. Dr. Harrison Berg of 1643 Washington st. objected because he thought the place would reduce values of nearby properties. George Kell of 1633 Washington st. also objected, believing it might be the opening wedge for a wayside restaurant or some other type of business. Dr. N. Emmons Paine, who formerly conducted a sanitarium at the house in question, favored the petition. He said that old people make better and less noisy neighbors than younger persons he has had as neighbors. Mrs. Morrison said she was formerly a dietitian in the Watertown schools, and had to resign because of the objection to married women holding school jobs in that town, and she then boarded old persons in a house on Washington pk., Newtonville, until advised by State officials to get larger quarters. Last June she moved to the house at 1660 Washington st. and is boarding 12 persons there, 10 of whom were Newton people. Asked by Alderman Temperley if she intended to have the place incorporated as a charitable institution to exempt it from taxation, Mrs. Morrison said "No." She commented that if she had any idea of making the house a charitable institution she would give it to Newton which needs one badly.

Aldermen Confirm Wilson, Boutelle

The reappointments of F. Ewing Wilson as Recreation Commissioner for a term of 3 years, and of Dr. C. A. Boutelle as Inspector of Animals for a term of 1 year, were confirmed by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. The rules were suspended to permit the confirmation of these appointments. The Board voted to authorize the continuation of the bond ($3000) of Louis Ebb as a constable of the City of Newton. A couple of the Aldermen inquired if the city pays the premium on the bond, and were assured that it does not. An offer from Samuel Shelman of $875 for land owned by the city at 537 Watertown st., Newtonville was refused. It is part of the lot on which the old Adams School is located at the corner of Crafts st. The assessors advised that this land is worth much more than Shelman offered, and it would not be expedient to sell this property piece-meal. Claims for damages were received from Elmer Kling for damage to his automobile caused by the condition of the street at the B. & A. bridge on Centre st., Ward 6 on February 17; and from Alice V. Murphy for an injury received to her ankle caused by stepping into a hole on Chapel st. on February 5.

A new petition was received from the Franklin Savings Bank asking for a permit to establish a gasoline filling station at 2078-2086 Commonwealth ave. The ninth petition of Frank Vincenzo for a permit to establish a filling station at 1105 Washington st. met the fate of its predecessors; it was refused. The Garden City Laundry was granted a permit to install a 500-gallon tank at 75 Adams st. for the storage of gasoline for private use.

Sydney B. Holden Named Assessor By Mayor Goddard

Mayor Goddard on Monday announced the appointment of ex-Alderman Sydney B. Holden of 54 Oxford rd., Newton Centre, as a member of the Board of Assessors to succeed the late John R. Prescott, and submitted the appointment to the Board of Aldermen. Mr. Holden was born in Watertown on July 16, 1897, and came to Newton Centre with his parents in 1903. He graduated from Newton High School in 1916 and attended Dartmouth from September 1916 to March 1918. He then entered the artillery officers' school at Camp Zachary Taylor and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Fall of 1918. He received an honorary discharge in December 1918. From 1919 until 1923 he was in the employ of the United Fruit Co. In 1923 he entered the real estate business at Newton Centre and has since been engaged in it. From 1928 until 1930 he served as an assistant assessor and from 1930 to 1936 he was a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen. In 1935 he was a candidate for Mayor. He is a past president of the Newton Republican Club and a member of the Republican Ward and City Committees.

Reappoints Wilson Recreation Head

Last Friday Mayor Goddard announced that he had reappointed F. Ewing Wilson of Ellison rd., Newton Centre, as Recreation Commissioner for a term of three years. Mr. Wilson was appointed on January 1 to the position to serve for the balance of a one year term which expired the first Monday in March. The position was created last year and Mr. Wilson was appointed acting commissioner by the Recreation Commission. Later, Mayor Childs appointed Reginald W. Brown of Newtonville as Commissioner, but the Board of Aldermen refused to confirm the appointment. Then Mayor Childs appointed Mr. Brown acting Commissioner and he served until Mr. Wilson was appointed by Mayor Goddard. On February 19 a petition signed by 1250 citizens was received by Mayor Goddard asking that he appoint Mr. Brown to the office for the coming 3 years' term. The appointment of Mr. Wilson was submitted to the Board of Aldermen at its meeting on Monday night and confirmed.

Ultra Leniency Did Not Deter Youth From Crime

George A. Bennett, 17, of 102 West Newton st., Boston, was arrested Saturday by Boston police when they caught him entering an automobile that had been stolen in Brookline on February 29. In the car were found two radio sets, a camera and other articles that had been stolen last Friday night from the home of Walter Swan, 64 Fuller st., Waban. Lieut. Crowley and Sergeant Bannon of the Newton police went to Boston and questioned Bennett, who was being held by Boston police on charges of stealing the automobile and driving after his license had been revoked. Bennett was arraigned in the Boston court on Monday and then turned over to the Newton police. He was arraigned in the Newton court that day charged with the Waban burglary, and held for the grand jury in $2500 bonds.

On the night of January 14 Bennett, who formerly lived in Brighton, in company with another Brighton youth, toured Brookline, Brighton, Roxbury and Chestnut Hill in a stolen car and snatched handbags from several women, one of whom was knocked down. One of the handbags was snatched from Annie Casey, a domestic, opposite Governor Saltonstall's home on Chestnut Hill rd. On the night of January 20 Bennett and two Brighton youths stole the car of John McNeill of 252 Franklin st., Newton, while it was parked on Brackett rd., Newton. Boston police captured the trio in the stolen car the following Monday night. Subsequently the three were arraigned in the Roxbury, Brighton, Brookline and Newton courts, and despite the fact that two of them, including Bennett admitted the handbag snatching and numerous automobile thefts, they were given suspended sentences in all four courts.

Bennett was taken to Shirley Reform School after his arraignment in the Newton court on Tuesday to serve out his six months suspended sentence. If he is indicted by the Grand Jury for the Waban burglary, he will be tried in the Superior Court for the Waban burglary.

Automobile Accidents

Gene Flinn, 54, of Roxbury, employed as night man at the Elmwood Garage, Elmwood st., Newton, received a scalp wound and brain concussion about 5:30 a. m. Wednesday when he fell from a truck he had driven out of the garage. He was taken to Newton Hospital in a police car for treatment. He then left the hospital against the advice of the attending physician.

A car driven by Edward Martoranna of Cherry st., West Newton, skidded on Washington st. on Tuesday and hit the rear of a car driven by Patrolman Charles Mague of Williams st. Mague claimed to have received injuries to his neck and shoulder.

Luigi Cardarelli of Hawthorn st., Newton was hit Tuesday night by the fender of a car driven by Angus McLean of Channing st. McLean reported that Cardarelli walked from between two snowbanks and collided with the fender. Dr. Gallagher who examined Cardarelli stated that he had received a "general shaking up."

Appropriations Made By Aldermen

The following appropriations were made by the Board of Aldermen at the meeting on Monday night—Accounting Department, pensions for John Bennett and James Milford, Street Department employees, $790.54 and $729.60; WPA project for relaying sewer in Nonantum Place, Newton, materials $3000, salary of inspector, $311.20; water main extension in Oakmont rd., Ward 6, $2480.

The two men pensioned have reached the age of 65 years. Bennett had been in the employ of the Street Department 32 years, and Milford 25½ years. Several other employees of this department will be pensioned within the next several months as they will have passed the age of 65 and having 25 or more years service will be eligible for pensions. The relaying of the sewer in Nonantum place is to eliminate a condition which has caused difficulties for the Sewer Division. The sewer under this street connects with the Metropolitan District trunk sewer near the Charles River just below Nonantum pl., follows the course of Hyde Brook, and because the land above it has been filled in over a long period of years, the sewer at one place is 25 feet under the surface. The new sewer will be less deep.

A recommendation from Mayor Goddard for the appropriation of $3919.70 to pay a 1939 deficit street lighting bill was held up on request of Alderman Hoffman. He wants to find out why this bill was not presented before. Alderman McKay explained that last year the Acting Street Commissioner asked for $14,000 more for street lighting than was appropriated, and the amount at the disposal of the Street Department was inadequate. He could not tell why the bill had not been presented sooner. A recommendation from the Mayor for the appropriation of $45,289 for the maintenance of the Middlesex County T. B. Hospital was not acted upon.

Woman Whose Car Killed Man, Freed

Hazel Otto, 32, of Rice rd., Cohasset, was found not guilty in the Newton court on Thursday by Judge Creehan of South Boston on a charge of driving a car so as to endanger the lives of the public. On December 17 her car hit James Welch, 74, of 1079 Boylston st., Upper Falls, as he was crossing the turnpike near his home. Recently Judge James Delay held an inquest on the death of the aged man and ordered a complaint issued against Mrs. Otto. There were no witnesses to the accident. According to the testimony the car turned completely around as the driver attempted to avoid hitting Welch.

The 1915 Class of the Newton Classical High School is to hold their twenty-fifth reunion this spring.

A committee of eighteen members held their first meeting on Wednesday night, March 6th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Burkhardt, 81 Church st., Newton.

All members asked to serve on this committee were present or accounted for, and every one was most enthusiastic about holding a reunion party. The committee itself was able to definitely locate one hundred and thirty-five (135) members of its graduating class of one hundred and eighty (180) and it is expected that all members will eventually be located.

About the first of April, details will be sent to all class members whose addresses are known. Any members not receiving letters are asked to communicate with Horace G. Hawks, 195 Prospect st., Framingham Centre, Mass.

$800 Burglary At Newton Centre

The residence of Frank W. Merriam at 81 Intervale rd., Newton Centre, was entered last Thursday sometime between noon and 4 p. m. and burglarized. The loot included jewelry valued at $800, a bottle of perfume and $4 in cash. Mrs. Merriam left the house about noon and when she returned found that a kitchen window had been broken to gain entrance for the burglar. Inspector Joseph Lyons is investigating the case.

The home of Walter Swan at 64 Fuller st., Waban, was burglarized last Friday. The loot included jewelry, silverware and two radio sets. The burglar climbed a porch, broke a window and ransacked the house. Members of the family were absent from the house between 9:30 a. m. and 11:30 p. m.

Police were notified last Friday by a neighbor that the home of George Titman at 18 Alexander rd., Newton Highlands, had been entered. The neighbor who was keeping tabs on the house in the absence of the Titman family, discovered the break when he went to inspect the house on Friday. The burglar gained entrance by breaking a cellar window.

Steals One Auto Hits Two Others

A car owned by Robert Sayles of 263 Hammond st., Chestnut Hill, which was stolen in Brookline, on March 1, was recovered Monday evening after the youth who was driving it crashed into two automobiles in this city and abandoned the stolen car in a badly damaged condition on Beacon st. near the reservoir. The stolen car first collided on the turnpike with a car driven by Joseph Denty of Hamlet pl., Newton Centre. Denty started in pursuit but was outdistanced, and he lost sight of the fleeing car as Woodward st. was reached. On Beacon st. the fleeing driver hit a car driven by Mrs. Robert Worden at 51 Tarleton rd., Newton Centre. She described the driver as a youth about 17 years of age.

Mount Ida Jr. College Planning Expansion Program

At a dinner-meeting of the Mount Ida Junior College Advisory Board this week approval was given to the plan to expand the facilities of the college and to seek funds from alumni, friends of Mount Ida and Educational Foundations for the erection of a Student and Alumnae Activities Building.

The members of the Advisory Board include Mrs. Abigail Fay Jewett, head of the old Mount Ida School, and Honorary Chairman; Dr. William Fitts Carlson, President; Mrs. W. Earl Atkinson, Mr. Henri Bournneuf, Mrs. Lincoln Bouve, Mrs. W. F. Carlson, Mr. Harry J. Carlson, Mrs. E. Ewing Chatman, Mrs. James David Clark, Mrs. William R. Coleman, Mr. John E. Eaton, Mrs. J. Joseph Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Malcolm Bradley French, Mr. Frank Wesley Gardner, Mr. J. Leonard Johnson, Mrs. Ethel M. Macdonald, Mr. William N. Ormsby, Miss Frances E. Pearson, Mrs. Endicott P. Saltonstall, Dr. LeRoy A. Schall, Mrs. Ellis Spear, Jr., Mr. Victor H. Vaughan and Mrs. Willis H. Wheat.

Mount Ida occupies the magnificent estate of the former Robert Gould Shaw comprising 275 acres known as Boulder Farm in Newton Centre. It was once the Appleton Estate, presided over by Mr. William Appleton and Mrs. Appleton, who was a sister of Henry W. Longfellow. On these spacious grounds, future expansion can never be impeded. Mount Ida operates under the original charter which guarantees that the school shall always be devoted to cultural and educational work as a non-profit organization. A considerable sum has been spent in obtaining and improving the property, but the Board felt that a new building was imperative. Although the school reopened only last August, 60 girls have enrolled and are doing standard work this year. Mount Ida has recently been recognized by, and made a member of the American Association of Junior Colleges, the standard accrediting board.

The proposed new building is planned to contain an auditorium for use as a chapel and assembly hall, and convertible into a gymnasium. There will be a stage, rooms for visiting alumnae, social rooms and the administrative offices. Another large building on the estate is being remodelled for use as a lecture hall, class room and laboratory unit. Prospects for a much larger enrollment next year necessitate the added buildings.

After the Board meeting Professor Henry Davenport, formerly with the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris, and Yale University, but now a member of the Mount Ida faculty gave an exhibition of French Art. In addition to the exhibit, he used several of the students who modelled in costumes of the period of Louis XIV, XV and XVI. An additional musical program with works from Mozart and Schumann was presented by Mr. Arthur Lang, well known pianist.

Warren Jr. High

The Junior Red Cross Club is making bean bags and collecting pretty greeting cards which are to be used for scrapbooks. This club is under the supervision of Mrs. Priscilla Dandelin and it makes many useful contributions to hospitals. In the past the student members of this club have made games, scrapbooks, and filled baskets for the shut-ins in various hospitals.

Warren played the Bigelow Junior High School last Thursday in the Warren gymnasium. Warren won the varsity game by a very narrow margin, 27-26. Bigelow junior varsity won an easy victory over the Warren junior varsity. The score was 24-14.

The assembly on Friday was sponsored by the Warren Broadcasters under the direction of Mr. Carl Penny. Warren had the privilege of having the Weeks Radio Workshop Club as their guests.

The two clubs presented three programs and showed how the actual broadcasting is done and how sound effects are produced. The Weeks Radio Workshop under Mrs. Dorothy Marotto's direction gave two broadcasts. The first one concerned the sinking of the S.S. Madison. The scene of the second broadcast was a train, the Corona, supposedly traveling between Chicago and New York. The students from Weeks Junior High School who took part in the assembly were: Helen Hardy, Janice Capon, Bill Larkin, Bill Whynot, Robert Carey, Althea Goodwin, Lawrence Greenwood, Kenneth King, George Wein, Jordan Miller, Bill Manning, Ted Keisler and Sherwood Harris. The Warren Broadcasters presented a program concerning conduct in the school cafeteria. The Warren students who participated in this assembly were: Marjorie Kearney, Fred Moore, Lenore Monday, Eleanor Anderson, Charles Miller, Marie Lanigan, Pat Melideo, Elizabeth Appleton, Horace Bunker and Nancy Jane Blanchard.

Day Jr. High School

On Friday, March 1st, school clubs demonstrated and discussed their activities. Samples of the work done by members of the Mechanical Drawing and Sketching Clubs were displayed on the walls, while on tables were exhibits from the Snap and Scrap and from the Embroidery Clubs. The program was introduced by Richard Seeley. Joe Incorvati of the Sports Club spoke on the History of Sports, assisted by Van Bogardus who spoke on Basketball. Gene St. George explained Hockey. Charles Pendergast made us better acquainted with Football. Frank Tocci talked about Tennis, and John Malgieri discussed Baseball, our national sport.

The Ping Pong Club played Round Robin and 3 sets of Singles for us. In the 7th grade match Leish Hood played Billy McLeod with a score of 21-19 in favor of the latter.

For the 8th grade singles, Lillian McNay and Russell Crosby were the participants. The score was 24-22 in Lillian's favor. The ninth grade singles were played by Bob Mulcahy and David Trumbull. The score, 21-16, was in Trumbull's favor.

Lastly, Shirley Greenwood of the Senior Glee Club sang the Negro spiritual, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and as an encore gave "Indian Love Call." Miss Hart accompanied on the piano and led the orchestra.

On Tuesday, the 7th graders, under Miss Manning's direction, held their rally and elections for class officers. The results: President, Joseph Farina; Vice-President, Warren Oliver; Secretary, Betty Lewis; Treasurer, Joy Linkenback.

The Boys' Cafeteria Staff elected Robert White captain for the second half of the school year; Richard Pelonsky, George Mulcahy and Walter Phillips assistant captains of the staff. John Russo was elected captain of the Boys' Playground Staff.

McGuinness, Jr. Memorial Trophy at a meeting of the Eastern Massachusetts Board of Basketball Officials at the Hotel Lenox, Boston on Monday night. The trophy, a mahogany shield with the figure of a basketball player, will be awarded annually to the boy selected as the outstanding basketball player. The trophy was presented to young Cronin by George H. Hoyt, honorary president of the basketball officials association. Cronin was the choice of both the coaches for athletic ability and sportsmanship, and the school authorities for scholarship. Brief speeches were made by Rev. George Dowd, C. Y. O. Above is the BUICK SPECIAL four-door touring sedan $996*

THERE are a lot of things about this stunning 1940 Buick to claim your attention—that is, if you really want to know what's what in motor-cars.

For instance, you've got to admit that its style has done a lot to brighten up and beautify the boulevards.

And you have to agree, from the way folks are swinging over to Buick, that it must have something value-wise that's pretty important.

What you hear about its quick-off-the-mark engine and the silkiness it gets from balancing after assembly certainly calls for inquiry.

So do the rave notices Buick Coil Spring ing gets and the talk you hear about five-foot front seat room in the SUPER and its Foamtex cushions soft as a down puff.

But skipping this—even skipping the fact that Buick's prices are lower than some sixes—there's one thing that alone is enough to send you hot-footing to your Buick dealer.

That's the fact, obvious from the very looks of other cars, that as Buick goes these days so goes the industry.

It set this year's pace last year—and right now, style-wise, comfort-wise and feature-wise, it is the car others will be like "some day."

So do the obvious thing. Go try out this superb traveler. You'll never be really happy till you have one.

The Lenten Course on "Understanding Music" sponsored by the Music School has been oversubscribed and the lectures have attracted an unusually intelligent group of music lovers. All are enjoying the freshness and sincerity of the lecturer, Mr. Harry Seaver, as well as benefiting from his well planned, informative and pleasantly delivered talks. These are illustrated by piano interpretations which throw much light on the subject matter under consideration. Two more lectures will complete the course, one March 11 on "Musical Texture and Tone Color"—the last one on March 18 at which time a resume of the course will be given with a large part of the hour devoted to the playing of illustrative material.

All Newton Music School Concerts

Pupils, parents and friends gathered on Friday evening, March 1, at the Clafin School, Newtonville, to enjoy an unusual concert of Chamber Music presented by members of the Faculty of the All Newton Music School.

The audience was enthusiastic in applause for each number and at the end of the program called the artists repeatedly to receive their expression of appreciation.

The program will be repeated on Sunday evening, March 10, at which time Dr. Miriam Udin of Marlboro st., Newton, will open her home for the purpose.

A pupils' recital was held in the hall of the new library in Newtonville on last Sunday evening, March 3. The program presented young students in piano, violin and cello solos as well as several pleasing ensemble numbers of violin, cello and piano, also violin and viola combinations. The attractive hall filled to its capacity, made a delightful setting for the young musicians to display their skill and talent. Several other similar programs are in prospect for the spring season, the next one featuring especially two piano numbers to take place in the Clafin School, Newton.

Diabetes on Increase
Deaths among Americans from diabetes have increased by 400 per cent since 1900; over 30,000 deaths in the U. S. estimated from this disease in 1938. The American death rate from diabetes was 9.7 per 100,000 population in 1900; estimated to exceed 23 per 100,000 in 1938. The U. S. has more cases of diabetes and more deaths from this cause per 100,000 of population than any other nation because diabetes is essentially a "prosperity" disease, flourishing in countries where living standards are highest. The death rate varies widely among the different states, but parallels per capita income with surprising exactness. Alabama with a per capita income of $139 in 1935, 56 per cent below the national average of $432, had a diabetes death rate of 9.1, 59 per cent below the 1935 national average of 22.2.

Real Medicine Men?
Maybe there was something to this medicine man business of the redskins after all. Dr. Earl B. Fisher of the University of Minnesota department of pharmacognosy will argue that the antics of the Indian medicine man of pioneer days was not always only terrifying faces and drum beating to drive away evil spirits. Such incantations were supplemented by some 200 medicinal plants and drugs. Many are widely used for remedies today; that is, all perhaps save one. That is a flint disk. It was obtained from a band of Indians near Le Sueur, Minn., and was used by them to effect cures for headaches by scraping the skull. The now-vanishing American in his early days used such drugs and herbs as the cascara plant, bark of the wild cherry for expectorants and sedatives, sarsaparilla; slippery elm, used in poultices and as an emollient; sparmint, juniper berry, wintergreen and jimson seeds.

One More Fish Story
Nine-year-old Homer Campbell, Spokane, Wash., baited a small hook with a piece of bacon and tossed his line—a piece of string—over the side of a boat in Liberty lake. A minute later he hauled out a four-pound rainbow trout.

Walls of Ancient Forts Stand Guard Over City

Early in its reign as the Queen City of the Caribbean, Cartagena was strongly fortified. Historians have estimated that the walls about the port cost half a billion dollars in time, labor and loss of life. When Ferdinand VI of Spain was presented with the accounts of the building of the great fortifications he is reported to have climbed to the top of the tower of his castle and to have peered long and wistfully toward the west. When courtiers inquired as to what he was seeking he replied:

"I am trying to see the walls of Cartagena, because such a tremendous expenditure should have created such a conspicuous architecture that it ought to be visible from here."

The old forts of San Jose and San Fernando guard the mouth of the river leading up to Cartagena, while those off Manzanillo and Castillo Grande are attractive old sentinels closer to the city. All these ports were effectively used against pirates in the olden days. The channel from the sea runs a zigzag course for several miles through low jungle-grown banks to a beautiful land-locked bay, where Cartagena looms beyond a lagoon, compact within its encircling ramparts and topped by mosque-like domes and Moorish towers, looking much as it did in the days of the buccaneers. Many of the buildings date back to 1533.

Sea Lions Use Sense of Smell by Touching Noses

Sea lions, like dogs, use their sense of smell by touching noses to identify one another at close range, but fail to react to distant odors. They are adept at spotting moving objects from considerable distance. Except when off on fishing excursions, they are gregarious by nature, collecting in large groups on favorite rocks or rookeries and generally making a big fuss and noise over nothing. About the only time they ever become hostile is when their pet place in the sunshine is challenged.

The cows have only one pup a year. If anything happens to the mother the pup will die, because no other mother would adopt it. They are not like dogs or cats or other animals in this respect, says a writer in the Los Angeles Times. A peculiar habit of the cows approaching pupping time is to form "rafts" by lying belly-side up in the water with their flippers protruding above the surface. From a distance a string of eight or ten cows floating end to end this way resembles the charred remains of a boat that has burned to the water's edge, with only stubs of the ribs left showing. This is probably a means of absorbing beneficial rays from the sun.

Game Conservation Old

Game conservation is an ancient practice in America, according to Dr. W. C. MacLeod of New York, writing in the Scientific Monthly. He says: The Choctaw of the Southeastern United States had laws governing the amount of game which might be killed by each family. Every month each band chief had to report to the head chief just how much had been killed by each family under his control. The more northern Algonquians practically farmed the beavers. Censuses were taken every year, and only the young or very old animals were slain for use. Disregard for conservation principles is believed to have been the cause of the war in which the Iroquois exterminated the beavers. The latter trespassed on Iroquois territory and acted contrary to the customs of all Indians, for they left none of the beavers alive to continue the stock.

Early Printed Books

Oswald's "History of Printing" begins by stating that Fifteenth-century books printed from movable type are considered to be of sufficient importance to justify their designation by a special title, that of "incunabula," "cradle books" or books produced in the infancy of the art. During the fifty years comprising the latter half of the Fifteenth century, probably 30,000 editions under various titles were printed, of which about 25,000 editions have been identified and described. These early editions appear to have numbered not more than a few hundred copies.

Kangaroo a Broad Jumper

A kangaroo is a broad jumper, rather than a high jumper. Some of the biggest ones are said to cover from 10 to 20 feet at a leap, while claims have been made of leaps of 30 feet and more. He does not jump high from the ground. The largest kangaroos weigh nearly two hundred pounds. The long tail aids the animal in leaping and helps it keep its balance.

The Symphony Orchestra

The four choirs which comprise the symphony orchestra are the strings (violins, violas, violoncellos and contrabasses); the woodwinds (bassoons, clarinets, flutes, English horn and occasionally the French horn, oboes); the brasses (French horns, trombones, tuba, trumpets); the battery (instruments of percussion such as drums, triangles, bells and tympani).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, March 10.

The Golden Text is: "O man greatly beloved, fear not: peace be unto thee, be strong, yea, be strong" (Daniel 10:19).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh; yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more. Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new" (II Corinthians 5:16, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The calm, strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity, and self-immolation, must deepen human experience, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a bald imposture, and sin, disease, and death give everlasting place to the scientific demonstration of divine Spirit and to God's spiritual, perfect man" (p. 99).

Spot of Acute Vision
One little spot in the retina of the human eye, only about one-eighth of an inch in size, gives human beings the power to focus objects sharply, thereby enabling them to read and carry on other difficult visual tasks. This small spot of acute vision, known as the “yellow spot” because of its color, is situated directly in the center of the retina in a line with the pupil of the eye. A great part of the seeing activities of modern life are made possible by this spot of high sensitivity, little larger than the head of a pin. Only the higher monkeys and human beings have spots of sharp, or central vision in their retinas. This leads some persons to believe that monkeys probably could read books if they had enough brains to understand what they were reading.

—First Card Game
Tarocchi is said to have been the first card game played in Europe. Tarocchi had five suits instead of the four we have in today's packs. Four of the suits stood for the four main classes of people in the Middle Ages—the nobility, the clergy, the merchants, and the peasants, represented respectively by the symbols of swords, cups, coins and staves. These symbols or signs have come down to us as spades, hearts, diamonds and clubs. The fifth, or trump suit outranked all the cards of the other suits, as these cards represented such elements of nature and human characteristics as death, lightning, temperance and thrift.

—Soldiers' Pension System
The soldiers' pension system is a development of comparatively recent times, although the personal pension—an award made on a special basis—was known even in the time of the Roman empire and was chiefly in the form of grants for military service. The number of such pensions was so large that Sully in the sixteenth century included their reduction as a part of his plan for economy. The Plymouth Pilgrims had a regulation in 1636 providing for a pension for maimed soldiers.

—Books Made of Gingerbread
“American Reading Instruction,” by Nila B. Smith, says, “Hornbooks were variously made of wood, iron, pewter, ivory, silver, and even gingerbread! This last medium was perhaps the first attempt to motivate reading instruction. . . . Since gingerbread was so highly prized, some one must have conceived the idea of bribing children to engage in the unpleasant task of learning the alphabet by offering them the gingerbread letters to eat when they had learned to name them.”

General Federation
Sponsors Tour of
South America

Clubwomen throughout the country are thrilled by the announcement that the imaginary "Good Neighbor Tour" of South America, which the General Federation of Women's Clubs is conducting for its 2,000,000 members by means of a stimulating study program, is to become a reality! Many clubwomen have already planned to make this their summer vacation for themselves and their families. Massachusetts will be well represented among them. Sailing from New York May 31, immediately after the Council meeting of the Federation in Milwaukee, the Federation will sponsor a 52-day all-expense tour of more than 13,000 miles, in which there will be visits to South American countries and capitals. All accommodations will be first-class. The tour is open to clubwomen, their husbands, and their friends. The cost will be $1,100. For those wishing a shorter tour three 38-day trips are offered, all sailing with the main party. One of these trips includes Peru with two weeks in and about Lima, from $600 and up; another is to the land of the ancient Inca civilizations, and the third to Chile, each of the two latter from $655 and up.

The president of the Federation, Mrs. Sallie Orr Dunbar, heads the list of those who will make the trip, the purpose of which is to make tangible the Federation's interest in continental friendship, to give clubwomen an opportunity to become better acquainted at first hand with their neighbors in Latin America, and to consider together their common problems of citizenship, their hopes for their communities, their countries, and the world, and their mutual efforts to "adjust Democracy for Human Welfare."

The party will be under the leadership of Mrs. Frederic Beggs, chairman of the department of International Relations of the Federation, who, in collaboration with the Pan American Union, created the imaginary "tour" entitled "An Adventure in International Understanding," one of the most popular programs ever offered by the General Federation, and now engaging the attention of hundreds of clubs. Mrs. Beggs will conduct a seminar on shipboard. On shore, the program in addition to sightseeing, will include social and official contacts, particularly with the several American Women's Clubs in South American capitals, which hold membership in the General Federation.

The party will sail on the S. S. Santa Clara, of the Grace Line, down the west coast of South America, with stops in Colombia, Panama, Ecuador, and Peru, giving a full week in Lima and several days in Santiago, Chile. Crossing the Andes by train or plane, the party will visit the heroic statue of Christ of the Andes, where, from the highest point of the boundary between Chile and Argentina, it challenges the world with its message of peace and brotherly love. After a full week in Buenos Aires, during which the party will visit Montevideo, Uruguay, the party will return up the east coast on the S. S. Uruguay of the American Republics Line. After visiting Santos and Sao Paulo in Brazil, the climax of the trip will be reached in Rio de Janeiro. A short stop at Trinidad will break the homeward journey which ends at New York, July 22. Annual Music Day
To Feature Trio

The annual Music Day of the Auburndale Woman's Club will be observed on the afternoon of Tuesday, March 12th, in the Club House.

Mrs. George DeGrasse, chairman, and Mrs. Nathan Bugbee and Mrs. Lowell D. MacNutt, members of the Music committee, have planned the program for the occasion, and they will present the Litwin Trio.

This trio includes George Milrood, Violinist, who is a member of the faculty at Phillips Exeter Academy; Arthur Winograd, cellist, a well-known soloist throughout New England; and Leo Litwin, pianist, the winner of the MacDowell Club of New York award in 1937.

The president will conduct the business meeting at 2:30 o'clock, and the program will be at 3 o'clock.

This concert is free to all club members, and guests will be welcome at the usual fee.

Quite appropriately, Music Day follows Drama Day in the programs of this Club.

Two plays were given before the members and guests of the Auburndale Woman's Club when they met at the Club House on Tuesday afternoon, February 27th.

As the chairman of the Drama committee was behind the scene, with the cast, the president of the Club, Mrs. Austin W. Fisher, announced the plays. The first one was "The Chimney Corner," by M. E. Atkinson, and was the story of a Belgian woman who had secreted British soldiers and aided their escape from the Germans. The cast included Miss June Krueger, Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt, Mrs. Gwyn M. Hughes, Mrs. Richard L. Kenney, and Mrs. Bradley L. Hill. This play had been directed by Mrs. Earl Dudley Wood, and Mrs. Kenney was Property manager.

"The Purple Door Knob," by Walter Richard Eaton, a Cape Cod comedy, followed, with Mrs. Thomas J. Brown, Mrs. Walter R. Amesbury, and Miss Charlotte Appelt in the cast. Mrs. Julian E. Jackson, chairman of the Drama committee, directed this play.

Previous to the program, Mrs. Fisher gave a few notices, and first presented Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation, who announced the coming Sale for the Blind on May 1, 2, and 3, in the Newton Centre Club House.

The next speaker was officer Thomas McNamee of the Newton Police Force, and he gave a talk on Highway Safety, a project which that department is stressing at the present. He said this talk was being given in all of the schools and before all such large organizations as the clubs as would invite him to come to them. He explained how many of the accidents are due to carelessness, and stated that what the public needs is education. He urged observing the three C's: Care, Courtesy, Common sense.

To the adult he called attention to the common practice of crossing streets when and where convenient, rather than on crossings, and the danger from it. For parents, he begged them to cement in the minds of their children, the dangers of thumbing rides, jumping on trucks, and riding bicycles in heavy traffic.

There was a large audience to greet Nicol Smith at the Channing Church, Thursday evening, February 29, the occasion being the Club's annual Guest Night. With so many of the husbands of Club members present, as well as the Junior Club members and their escorts, it was quite a gala occasion.

Mrs. Erdine Oedel led the Club Chorus in a group of songs, solo parts being taken by Mrs. Edwin A. Hovey, Mrs. Robinson, and Mrs. Sidney Marston. Mrs. Wallace Wales, the president, dispensed with the business meeting, Mrs. Snyder spoke of the magic of music, and pointed out that there are many stories told by composers in their music if one could but hear them. She felt that each composer is influenced by his environment, and she illustrated this by playing to the pleasure of her audience, selections from Bach, Chopin, and from several other composers.

Messages From China Received by Newton Red Cross

With the calendar announcing that now are the days of March winds and of jonquils in the air here in New England, Christmas and its activities seem far in the past. But at the headquarters of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross there are reminders of such occupations at Christmas time, for ships from distant shores have arrived with cards and letters written December 25th, and during the following week, by seamen in faraway Shanghai, China. Reading them it is borne in upon one how much one avenue of service by the Red Cross means to others. Each year the Production Committee of the Newton Chapter prepares and sends 108 Christmas bags to men in the United States Service. These calico bags contain useful and desirable articles, wrapped attractively in Christmas papers, and festive with seals, such as a box of stationery and pencil, two handkerchiefs, tooth brush and tooth equipped with buttons, heavy thread, and safety pins; diary note book, pocket knife, a postcard addressed back to the Newton Chapter, and a Red Cross greeting card.

The gratitude expressed in these letters and cards for being remembered at Christmas time, when so far away from home and the families who would make their Christmas happy, wells from a full heart one is convinced. One man sent a Christmas card of greetings from all the men and officers on board their ship. Messages from two such cards are quoted, as examples of the many such messages received.

"Dear Ladies of The Newton Chapter American Red Cross: I am glad to have this chance to thank each and everyone of you kind ladies for the thoughtfulness you have shown in preparing this bag of good cheer for someone so far away. From the bottom of my heart I thank you."

The message on the other card, though brief, gave a bit of the atmosphere and background whence it came, which whistled one to that land of mystery, as China always will seem. It gave a touching glimpse, too, of the longing to be back home: "December 25, on board the U. S. S. Marblehead, Shanghai, China. Dear Folks: Received the lovely Christmas Bag today. It is rather cool in Shanghai, but not so very much like Christmas, but all the spirit seems to be here as much as if we were home where we would love to be."

It is the reception of such mail as this which gives renewed impetus to the women of Newton in their efforts to brighten the lives of others.

Among the authorities on unemployment who will appear on the programs are Louis Brummer and Herbert Saul of the Y. M. C. A., Miss Ed Peters, Jack Lacy and Edmund S. Whitten, advertising executive. The broadcasts are being put on as part of WCOP's educational program and are being sponsored by The Job Hunters of the Boston Y. M. C. A., which is a member of the Greater Boston Community Fund.

Flower Show From March 11 to 16

With the opening of the 69th New England Flower Show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society in Boston, March 11th-16th, only a few days away, the work of building an Eden of 172 gardens amid the dusty and empty acres of Mechanics Building, goes into high gear today. From now until the opening bell rings Monday at one o'clock, gangs of gardeners, carpenters, plumbers, masons and electricians will work day and night. Meanwhile, by airplane from the Pacific coast, by train from the Middle West and Canada, and by auto-truck from all points in New England, millions of plants, trees, bulbs and shrubs are headed for the show.

Manager Arno H. Nehrling and his staff, who have been working for a year to prepare the show, have planned a most unusual and colorful show. For the hundred thousand odd patrons, who are sick and tired of winter snow and sleet, they have created a marvelous spectacle of beauty—veritably an enchanted dream which means that Spring has come to New England at last. For amateur gardeners, and their number is legion, now that New England has become the leading garden center of America, a host of instructive displays has been created and everything that is new and all that is best for gardening in New England is on parade.

Entering the show, visitors will find first of all a series of lovely spring gardens brightened by splashing fountains, as well as a mammoth rose garden filled with the best outdoor roses suitable for New England. Beyond, with a fortune in orchids massed together, are two marvelous islands. One is a golden forest, the famous Stone acacias, among which a winding path will invite everyone to wander away amid the gorgeous yellow-flowering trees. The other is a nature trail built by the New England Wild Flower Preservation Society in cooperation with Will C. Curtis. Here, amid forest trees, about whose bases a brook wanders, are grouped all the native wild flowers of this section made accessible by a path, which twists and turns as in a wild wood.

Beyond, across many another garden, the best that America's leading architects can design and the best gardeners grow, is Grand Hall where a breath-taking spectacle has been provided by the society in cooperation with a dozen leading nurseries. High on a hill, an old New England village stands, all but hidden by flowering green hills and mirrored in a placid mill pond. Below beside a ferned old mill dam is a century old water mill whose great wheel turns as merrily in a rushing fall as it did a century ago.

Linked by another brook, the display continues with a series of lovely gardens designed to meet all requirements of taste, location and purpose. Upstairs are other displays in a great variety, including a demonstration of the soilless growth of plants, masses of house plants, begonias, lilies, spring bulbs, gardenias, gladioli, and ever so many more, not forgetting carnations and roses. Indeed, the rose display is the best in America, for all the leading growers have contributed to it, including some who exhibit at no other show.

Information for gardeners is freely provided by the Garden Clubs who have a rose information booth and the society, who has a booth staffed with experts who will answer all garden questions.

The society wants to know something, too. Ballots will be provided upon which visitors will be asked to vote for the display they like best. A special prize has been provided for the display given the largest vote.

Savings Bank Life Insurance Grows Rapidly In Newton

When the Newton Savings Bank was established 109 years ago, the idea of persons making regular savings was a radical one, and undoubtedly there were many who thought

FRANCIS L. BUSWELL,
Treasurer, Newton Savings Bank

the little bank would not long survive. Perhaps at the end of the first three years when deposits totalled $1938.34, they were convinced that they were wrong, for Newton then was a village with a population of less than two thousand.

But that little bank has grown into a savings institution with deposits totalling almost twenty million dollars.

With the passing of years the city has grown and the conception of the needs of the community has also changed, so that now, even as then, a savings account is still necessary and in addition, life insurance is indispensable. Without the former there would be many who could not enjoy such pleasures as home ownership, and without the latter many a family would be left either entirely destitute or on the brink of misery.

When Savings Bank Life Insurance was founded in 1907 by Hon. Louis D. Brandeis, then a prominent Boston attorney and formerly a Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, it was his belief that as the importance of life insurance became more apparent to the everyday man it would no longer be necessary in many cases to sell him insurance, but rather the need would be in having it available as an over-the-counter commodity. It was on this premise that the system was established which today is foremost in providing low cost liberal protection for those willing to help themselves. There are now over 125 savings banks and other banking institutions scattered throughout the State that offer the benefits of Savings Bank Life Insurance as one of their services.

In order to bring Savings Bank Life Insurance directly to the attention of those interested in the savings and advantages made possible by this insurance, the Newton Savings Bank became the twenty-fourth Bank in the State to establish an Insurance Department.

Thus, it was, three years ago, that Life Insurance policy number one was issued by the Newton Savings Bank to Mr. Walter R. Amesbury, a prominent member of the community and a Trustee of the Bank. Since then 4672 policies have been written and at present there is in force in the Life Insurance Department of the Newton Savings Bank insurance totalling $3,801,183.

That so large a volume of business should be written in such a short period, is ample proof of the wisdom of those who were instrumental in providing the benefits of this insurance to the people of Newton and its vicinity.

To those interested in statistics, the following figures will show how this growth has been attained:

Ins. in force Mar. 1, 1938—$1,164,581
Ins. in force Mar. 1, 1939—2,583,899
Ins. in force Mar. 1, 1940—3,801,183

Number of policies in force

Mar. 1, 1938—1313

Number of policies in force

Mar. 1, 1939—2949

Number of policies in force

Mar. 1, 1940—4364

The assets of the Department have also grown until on March 1, 1940, the total was $225,313.56. Of this amount over $100,000 is invested here in Newton residences, and thus a large portion of the premium income has been kept at home and put to work in the community.

"Little Church Around Corner," Used by Actors

"The Little Church Around the Corner," which is not so well known by its proper name, the Church of the Transfiguration, is located at 5 East Twenty-ninth street, New York city. It is an Episcopalian church "just around the corner from Fifth avenue," but the corner to which its name has reference is that of Madison avenue, at the other end of the block.

The tradition is that Joseph Jefferson and other actors appealed to the pastor of a Madison avenue church to conduct the funeral services of an aged member of their profession. The Madison avenue minister refused, but advised the actors that there was "a little church around the corner" where they might be accommodated. They were, and the Church of the Transfiguration became thereafter a favorite of the players.

The "little church" is a low, cruciform building in Gothic style, opened in 1856. It is shaded by trees and half-covered with vines. Its memorial windows are notable and interesting. There is one to Ed-ward Booth, one to Richard Mansfield, one to Harry Montague—and one to "Walter William Griffith, for 35 years postman for Twenty-ninth street."

Rev. Dr. Edward C. Houghton was the minister who performed the services for Jefferson's friend, and he and his son and successor, Dr. George H. Houghton, took a deep and lasting interest in the stage folk of their congregation.

Magellan's Venture Was Completed by Del Cano

On August 10, 1519, Ferdinand Magellan, a Portuguese navigator in the service of Spain, set sail from Seville with five ships, carrying 237 men, for the purpose of reaching the Moluccas or Spice islands by sailing to the west.

On November 23, 1520, after a year and a quarter of anxious search, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, he passed through the strait that now bears his name, and entered the Pacific ocean, across which he sailed for 12,000 miles without seeing inhabited land.

Magellan was killed in a conflict in the Philippine islands on April 17, 1521, but his lieutenant, Sebastian del Cano, reached San Lucar, near Seville, in the Victoria, the only remaining ship of the five on September 7, 1522.

The Victoria was the first ship to circumnavigate the globe, and accomplished the journey in a trifle over three years. It brought back 31 men.

Football Old Game

In some form football seems to have been played in all ages and throughout the world. The ancient Greeks played harpastum, Latinized when introduced into ancient Rome as harpastum. Early travelers to the Polynesian islands found the natives playing with a football made of bamboo fibers, and the Eskimos play with a football of leather filled with moss. In England the game existed as early as 1175, and was so popular that, interfering with the warlike pastime of archery, in 1314 Edward II forbade any game of football on pain of imprisonment.

Despite that edict, says Literary Digest, the game is mentioned by many writers from Chaucer to Shakespeare. Football came to America along with the Virginia colonists, and random play with an inflated bladder was a common sport by the boys of early America. The first record of running with the ball, rather than kicking it, is credited to a schoolboy, William Webb Ellis, in 1823, to whom a memorial tablet was erected at Rugby as the progenitor of the Rugby game of football. The American game is an outgrowth based upon Rugby.

Sting of Queen Honeybee

The sting of the queen honeybee differs from that of the worker in being longer, curved and having fewer and shorter barbs on the lancet. It is also more firmly attached in the sting chamber than is the sting of the worker, which is easily torn from the worker's body when the sting penetrates an object beyond the barbs which extend backward as does the barb on a fishhook. The queen honeybee seldom uses her sting except to kill rival queens, although there are a few cases on record where queens have stung the bee-keeper when they were handled. This instinct to sting other queens is so strong that they will often sting queens that have been dead for a considerable length of time when brought into contact with them.

Peking Man Not So Dumb

The Peking man was clever enough to make crude tools and weapons, and to use fire to warm himself and to cook his food. The fact that he chose to live in a cave that was dark, smoky, and doubtless bad smelling, can be explained on the grounds that he had to seek refuge from cold weather. Moreover, the wood that he burned from plants that predominate in a climate like that of North China at the present time, semi-arid, with moderate summers and cold winters.

Mayor Goddard to View 'Mercury' at City Hall Monday

Mayor Goddard will officially welcome the Mercury Economy Test Run car which is on a projected 6000 mile tour of capital and principal cities in New England. The car that is being used on the test is a stock, 95-horsepower, Mercury sedan. The Economy Run is not intended to establish any speed records but rather to prove to the motoring public that the economy of operation claimed by the Mercury is a definite fact. This car is also cooperating with every community which it visits by emphasizing a safe and sensible driving campaign.

The cream colored car, with its enlarged speedometer and gasoline meter mounted on the rear deck, has received wholehearted greetings from public officials in every community it has visited. This Mercury, the car that Ford introduced into the low priced field last year, is a New England product built by New Englanders. The local loyalty has been gratifying because of the fact that the Somerville Assembly Branch is New England's only automobile plant.

All the Mercury dealers throughout New England are cooperating with this program and have demonstrators, equipped with mileage testers, which they will be glad to place at the disposal of any interested party for a private test run. The official car can be seen at the Newton Motor Sales Co. showroom in this city during the morning.

Nerve Messages Tapped

By Electrode Process

Messages from nerves can now be tapped, much as brain waves are tapped to tell significant facts about mental activity. The feat of tapping the nerve waves has been accomplished by Dr. A. L. Hodgkin and Dr. A. F. Huxley of the laboratory of the Marine Biological association at Plymouth, England.

An electrode, for measuring changes in electric potential, was inserted into a living nerve, the giant axon of the squid. Although this recently discovered axon is termed "giant," it is pretty small by ordinary measurements. The electrode used to tap its messages was so tiny that the tips of 254,000 such electrodes, laid side by side, would only fill one inch of space. Using a microscope, the scientists were able to insert this tiny instrument into the nerve and to take a picture of it within the nerve.

The results of the experiment, reported to the scientific journal, Nature, are important for two reasons: 1. They prove that the electrical potential accompanying nervous messages arise at the surface of the axon. 2. They give the absolute magnitude of the action potential as about 90 millivolts at 20 degrees centigrade.

Hoffman Demands That School Committee Reduce School Costs

Ward 6 Alderman Says School Dept. Budget Should Be Returned For Pruning

Alderman Carroll Hoffman criticised at considerable length at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night the cost to Newton taxpayers of the public schools of this city. He said that the Aldermen should send the school department budget back to the School Committee to have that body make planned reductions for the balance of this year, and that from $30,000 to $40,000 should be lopped from the cost of Newton's public schools. He said he is interested in having Newton children given the best in education, but he does not believe, as the Superintendent of Schools infers in his talks on Newton schools that the quality of education given by these schools is in proportion to the amount of money spent. He said the cost of Newton's schools must be reduced if we are going to get anywhere in having this largest item of the city's expenses put in line with what the present generation of taxpayers can afford to pay.

Hoffman said he had on Monday received a copy of the annual report of the State Department of Education and it shows that Newton still maintains its premier position in per pupil cost for education in its schools; the cost in this city for 1939 was $122.56, as compared with $118.10 for Boston, $106.47 in Springfield, $86.62 in Medford, $85.40 in Waltham, $81.76 in Quincy. He commented that according to a recent court ruling legislative bodies of cities have the right to refuse to appropriate money for other than the teaching of regular subjects in public schools. He said that he had been misquoted in the press relative to his alleged statement last year that the salaries of Newton teachers should be reduced, and that he was not concerned with salary reductions for any teachers receiving under $2500. He said that first efforts should be made to reduce school expenses other than teachers' salaries, and secondly to appraise the number of teachers in the junior high and high schools and the salaries paid in these schools. He commented that a State publication on municipal statistics indicates that the cost of janitors' supplies and the maintenance of school buildings are high in Newton.

Referring to a statement of school department expenses compiled for the Aldermen by the School Department, Hoffman said: "You will end in confusion if you try to delve into it from a statistical angle. You will have to work backwards to get the total administrative cost, and he could not understand the conflicting maze of figures. They spend $40,000 for secretaries, so they ought to get out a better statement." He said the administrative costs should be reduced, and also the secretarial cost. Hoffman asserted that in one year recently the cost of Newton schools had increased $92,000 and the administrative cost had increased 30 per cent. He also commented that there is a fast growing guidance department in our schools.

Alderman Temperley said that the cost of Newton's schools has increased 20 per cent in 10 years while the population of the city only increased 10 per cent. He said that he had been informed by a Newton citizen who is conversant with educational matters that Newton is paying in excess of $2000 to three teachers over what is the standard for such teaching positions in colleges or schools similar to those in Quincy. Temperley said that it was not his purpose to state that the salaries of Newton teachers are too high, but he agreed with Hoffman that the school budget has grown too much and should be reduced. Alderman Lee said that the comparison of school costs in Newton with those in Quincy interested him, but he feared if the School Department started making cuts, these cuts would be passed down to the lowest paid in the department.

Harvey Honored By Associates

Ernest H. Harvey, City Engineer, was tendered a surprise party by his fellow employees at City Hall last Friday evening in honor of his 50 years service as an employee of the Engineering Department. The affair was arranged by Mrs. Rose Silverman, clerk in the Engineering Department, assisted by Misses Eleanor Hannigan, Margaret McMullin, Grace Haughey, Helen Cavanaugh and Alma Daley.

The employees gathered at 5 o'clock in the Mayor's conference room, and Mr. Harvey was told that the Mayor desired to see him in the executive office. Upon going there, Mayor Goddard escorted Harvey to the conference room where the City Engineer was obviously surprised at the gathering. On behalf of the City Hall Associates, Mayor Goddard presented Mr. Harvey with a radio set. On behalf of the staff of the Engineering Department City Solicitor Bartlett presented Harvey with an upholstered chair. Joseph Delaney, president of the City Hall Associates, presented Mrs. Harvey with a bouquet of flowers. Mr. Harvey, who resides on Rowe st., Auburndale, entered the employ of the Engineering Department as a rodman at the age of 15.

Want Gas Station At Auburndale

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on April 1 a public hearing will be held on the petition of the Franklin Savings Bank for a permit to establish a gasoline filling station at 2078-2086 Commonwealth ave., Auburndale, near Lexington st. Previous attempts to obtain such a permit at this locus have failed, but owners of nearby properties who formerly objected now favor the petition. A one-story block of stores has been on the location for years, and for most of that time the stores have been vacant. It is contended that the gasoline station will give the owners of the property relief from a financial burden, and improve the appearance of the locality.

Newton Community Chest Had More Donors for 1940

A substantial increase in the number of contributors to the Newton Community Chest last year was revealed in the final reports presented last night at the Chest's Annual Meeting held at the Newton Highlands Women's Club. The report of L. A. Bruce, Jr., executive director of the Chest, showed that 17,632 pledges totaling $192,431.43 were received compared with 15,866 pledges totaling $191,665.78 in the previous year. Mr. Bruce pointed out that 26.51 per cent of the people of Newton gave to the Newton Chest compared to the national average of 16.4 per cent of Chest cities.

Benjamin J. Bowes, chairman of the Chest Budget Committee, praised the businesslike management of the Chest agencies and pointed out that all agencies had lived within their Chest grants during the year. "It has been necessary," he said, "to ask the agencies to practice extreme economy and their cooperation in this matter has been very fine."

Reviewing the work of the 1939 Campaign, Wm. V. M. Fawcett, chairman of the Campaign, pointed out that the campaign enlisted the aid of more than 2000 campaign workers, the largest number in the history of the Chest. A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., president of the Chest, presided.

Officers elected for the year were: President, A. Leslie Harwood, Jr.; Vice-President, Most Rev. R. J. Cushing; Vice-President, Mrs. Everett Morse; Treasurer, Maynard Hutchinson; Clerk, Fitzhugh Traylor. Directors: Mrs. William V. M. Fawcett, Mrs. John F. Brown, William M. Cahill, Hon. Edwin O. Alleged Stabber Held For Jury

James Manning, 26, of 57 Border st., West Newton, was arraigned in the Newton court on Thursday on charges of having stabbed Allan Foley of Lucas Court, West Newton, a former Newton policeman, and of having committed a battery at the home of Charles Nason, 53a Border st. Judge Mayberry ordered Manning held for the Grand Jury and set his bail at $1500. Foley who had been confined to the Newton Hospital for several weeks with a severe stab wound in his abdomen, testified that Manning stabbed him with a dagger after he had refused to give the defendant money with which to buy liquor. Dr. Nutter testified that Foley has been on the danger list at the hospital and that two operations were performed on him.

Patrolman Mague complained that Manning had stolen a watch, money and clothing from the Nason home. Testimony revealed that Manning is being sued for divorce by his wife.

City Sells Street Dept. Horses

The City of Newton is disposing by sale of twenty horses which have been used in the Street Department. On order of Mayor Goddard, Street Commissioner Haughey is receiving bids for the horses. They are the last owned by the city and have been kept for years for the purpose of hauling sidewalk plows to remove snow. The past several winters the city has boarded horses owned by contractors for the privilege of using them in plowing snow. The past winter 60 such horses were boarded by the city. It is estimated that the city will save annually $15,000 by selling the 20 horses. The drivers and hostlers who have been employed in connection with the horses will be transferred.

Want Zone Change On Farlow Hill

A petition signed by 44 property owners and residents of the Farlow Hill section of Newton has been presented to the Board of Aldermen asking that the Country Day School property be changed from private residence zone to single residence zone. The property includes about 5 acres of land and the school was recently merged with the Rivers School of Brookline. The surrounding area is a single residence district and if the former school property remains in a private residence zone, two-family houses can be erected thereon.

Aldermen Confer With Mayor Relative To 1940 Balanced Budget

Mayor Recommends Additional Appropriations of $98,000 for Reserve Fund and WPA

The recommendations of the Finance Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen on the 1940 budget were submitted to the Board on Monday night. Alderman McKay, chairman of the committee, commented that Mayor Goddard had used an axe on the budget recommendations of department heads by cutting $107,000 from them, so there was little left for the Finance Committee to do. The committee's reductions from the Mayor's recommendations totaled $31,504.82 in the general budget, and $4080 in the Water Department budget. A table printed in this issue gives a comparison of the Mayor's recommendations and the reductions made by the committee.

Alderman McKay made a lengthy and detailed report, explaining nearly every item, and it was about 2 a. m. Tuesday before the meeting adjourned. Mr. McKay called the attention of the members to some "new wrinkles" which the Finance Committee had introduced into the budget. These included items showing the Mayor's original budget and subsequent reductions he had made, and a table giving detailed information as to the reductions made in the Finance Committee's recommendations.

President Floyd informed the Board that Mayor Goddard was in his office and desired to meet the Aldermen as a committee of the whole at 9:15, so the Board took a recess at 9:12 and was in conference with the Mayor and City Solicitor until 10:15. When the Board resumed its open meeting, Alderman McKay announced that the Mayor had recommended that the Aldermen appropriate $50,000 for WPA expenses and $48,000 for a reserve fund. He said this action was for the purpose of creating a balanced budget, that the $48,000 for the reserve fund in addition to $12,000 included in the budget, and the $50,000 for WPA expenses should be sufficient for the balance of this year, and there should be no need of further appropriations except in cases of emergency. The Board prepared to suspend the rules so that these appropriations might be voted on at once, but Alderman Hoffman objected, stating he desired more time to consider the matter. Alderman Schipper also objected, saying he did not see the necessity of voting on these two appropriations, when a vote on the budget itself was not to be taken until the following week. Schipper's suggestion was followed and a vote on the appropriation was postponed.

Alderman Hoffman again raised the point that each Alderman, according to the city charter, is entitled to receive a copy of a statement showing the list of salaries paid to city employees. He had been informed by Chairman McKay of the Finance Committee at the preceding meeting, when he raised this issue, that it has been the custom in the past to have only one list of such salaries, and this is in the possession of the City Clerk, and available for examination by any Alderman who desires to peruse it. Monday night Hoffman reiterated his contention that each member of the Board should have a copy of the list so that he may have ample opportunity to study it. He won his point to the extent that Chairman McKay told him the City Clerk would have a copy prepared for him.

The recommendation of the Finance Committee that $8600 be appropriated to buy eight new trucks for use on WPA projects in Newton, and $1860 for their maintenance met opposition from the Public Works Committee. Chairman Jamieson of that committee stated that instead of the city buying four 2½-ton trucks and four 1½-ton trucks for the Newton WPA administration, only four 2½-ton trucks should be purchased; one equipped with a crane, and the appropriation reduced from $8600 to $4605. Jamieson said that the Public Works Committee believed that due to the uncertainty of Federal policies and the nature of future WPA projects in Newton, and as the buying of trucks for WPA use is experimental, the city should not start out by purchasing 8 trucks for this purpose. He said that if a power shovel is used on some project, more trucks would have to be hired to serve the shovel, and that no person could say definitely that Newton will not have to rent any trucks for WPA projects here, should eight be purchased.

President Floyd suggested that if the 8 trucks are bought for WPA use and then not needed, some of them might be turned over to the Street Department. Jamieson replied that the Street Department has no set program for the replacement of trucks and that some of the trucks owned by that department are 8 years old. Alderman Walker agreed with Jamieson in favoring the purchase of 4 trucks instead of 8. Alderman Colby said that the city spent $18,600 in 1939 to hire trucks for WPA work in Newton, that over $4000 would be saved in 1940 if the city buys eight trucks for WPA use, and $12,000 saved in 1941. Alderman Temperley said: "We anticipate a certain event this fall and we may not need so many trucks for the WPA in 1941." President Floyd of the Board commented that in connection with the hiring of trucks for WPA (Continued on page 2)

Powers' Paragraphs

Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Finland, Next?

The Finns are a brave, virile race and the only nation honorable enough to pay its debt to the U. S. A. So there is general regret in this country that after a gallant struggle against overwhelming odds they wisely yielded to the Soviets before their young men would have been annihilated in the unequal warfare, and most of their country ravaged. The defeat of the Finns should give food for thought to those persons who have been so anxious to have the U. S. A. become involved again in the European mess. It is significant that the neighboring Scandinavian countries placed discretion ahead of valor in aiding Finland. It is significant that France and Britain could not or would not send soldiers to aid Finland. With Germany and Russia scoring one victory after another, the "internationalists" in this country should realize that the U. S. A. possesses neither trained soldiers nor armaments as numerous as did the "little countries" of Europe which were recently absorbed by the Nazis and Soviets. We are not only not prepared to equip to send an army to the aid of the "democracies" overseas, but we have a huge task ahead to give proper military training to the young men of America, and to manufacture weapons of defense so that the U. S. A. will have adequate protection against invasion in the future. We don't believe in calamity crying, but the people of this nation must not delude themselves that they are either invincible or immune from attack just because the U. S. A. is the richest and most progressive nation on earth.

People residing in the area which has been served by the Old Colony Railroad are properly concerned over the abolition of that railroad system by the New York, New Haven & Hartford, with the result that much of Southeastern Massachusetts, including many industrial communities would have no railroad service. But, if cities and towns in the Old Colony area use motor vehicles mostly for transportation purposes, both freight and passenger, they can't expect privately owned corporations to continue at a loss in providing service. Greater Boston communities are heavily taxed to support the Boston Elevated Railway, which has been operated at a huge loss for many years. If Southeastern Massachusetts wants a continuation of its railroad facilities, why doesn't the State make provisions for the operation of the Old Colony district railroads by the communities served, and have them taxed to finance the deficit? Incidentally, employees of the Boston & Maine are agitating to have owners of bonds of that company co-operate, so that the B. & M. will be spared the fate of the Old Colony, and the thousands of employees of that railroad will not lose their jobs. Why would it not be sensible and practical for some of the highest-paid employees to take reductions in wages to save the railroad from threatened disaster? It would be better to have employment at fair wages than to have no employment.

While the totalitarian countries are waging wars to procure economic advantages, certain citizens of the U. S. A., headed by that great internationalist, Cordell Hull, have been advocating and obtaining trade agreements between this country and foreign nations. They are willing to jeopardize the livelihood of millions of our people in some sections of the U. S. A., to give alleged advantages to persons in other sections. If Mr. Hull had his way, the standard of living of a large percentage of our workmen will be reduced to such low levels. One of the latest trade agreements which adversely affects New England is that which permits the free entry into this country annually of 20,000,000 pounds of fish from Newfoundland.

A few days ago a delegation of New England Congressmen conferred with President Roosevelt on this matter. They were accompanied by representatives of labor unions, and told the President that thousands of New England fishermen will become unemployed if the Newfoundland fish is permitted to come into this country duty free. Congressman Brewster of Maine stated that General Sea Foods Company will have a monopoly in the importation of the Newfoundland fish because of an agreement it has with the Government. President Roosevelt told the delegation that "Marjorie Davies is the key to that situation." She is the reputed owner of a large number of shares of stock in General Sea Foods. She is the wife of Joseph E. Davies, special assistant to Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Think it over.

We have stated in years past that men elected to the Newton Board of Aldermen should not initiate the Sphinx, and sit in silence through meetings after meeting, even if they are new members of the Board. In recent years there has been too much of a practice of meetings behind closed doors by the Aldermen as "a committee of the whole," and too little discussion of important matters in open meetings. The past year and more Alderman Hoffman has injected open discussion into some of the meetings. While we advocate the Aldermen giving open expression on matters affecting taxpayers and citizens, new members of the Board should use some caution in being critical on matters concerning which they obviously possess little knowledge. Any new member should also think twice before making any "wise crack" at the expense of older members. Because one doing so is apt to be sticking his neck out for a disagreeable counter wallop.

In a nearby court a few days ago a man was charged with driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. His car had collided with another automobile at the intersection of two streets. The judge found him not guilty on that charge, but ordered him found guilty of speeding. We fail to see the logic of this ruling. When a motorist drives a car at an unreasonable speed into the intersection of two streets, if that is not driving to endanger, what is it? The State traffic laws specify that when one is operating an automobile by a street intersection, one must not drive faster than 15 miles an hour speed.

There is much comment throughout the city on the revelation of the fact that on December 28, 1939, three days before his term of office expired, Ex-Mayor Edwin O. Childs accepted, on behalf of the city, the law which permits any employee of the city with the status of a "disabled veteran of the Spanish or World War" to be retired on a pension of half pay after 10 years' service, or any veteran may be retired after 30 years' service. The law was passed in 1931 and so far 30 cities and towns in Massachusetts have accepted it. For four years members of Newton Post, American Legion have been asking Ex-Mayor Childs to accept this law.

Mayor Childs is being criticised because he did not accept the law until three days before he was to retire from office, and after he had been defeated for re-election. Some of his critics wonder if he would have accepted this law had he been re-elected? Mayor Goddard and City Solicitor Bartlett did not know that the former Mayor had accepted the law and obligated the city until a few days ago.

The law is quite unusual in that it accorded to one man, a Mayor of a city, the power to accept it, without any confirmation by the Aldermen of a city, or a referendum by the voters.

Letter Carrier Injures Ankle

George King, Jr. of 109 Charlesbank rd., Newton, received a severe injury to his right ankle last Friday while delivering mail on Hill rd., Newton Highlands. He slipped on an icy sidewalk, sprained the ankle and tore ligaments in it. Two months ago Mr. King's father received a broken ankle when he fell on a sidewalk while delivering mail on Washington st., Newton.

THE NEWTON DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

On Monday, March 11, 1940, the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton District Nursing Association was held at the headquarters, with Mrs. John F. Brown, the newly elected president, presiding.

After a business meeting, Miss Hilga S. Nelson, Executive Director, gave an interesting resume of the Civil Service merit system as it affects Public Health Nursing. She reviewed in detail the work of the Civil Service Committee of the Massachusetts State Nurses Association—of which she is chairman.

Newton Graphic, March 7, 1885

According to January and February bills the city's telephone service is costing about $1000 a year.

Professor Papanti's dancing class will wind up their course of lessons at Cole's Hall with a reception next Monday evening.

The new armory building has been painted the fashionable olive green hue, a great improvement over the dingy brown color which it wore so long when it was the Channing Church.

Says a correspondent:—"That several boys of this village should tie up a cat alive, make a fire under it and burn it to death on the open grounds of Channing Church and not caught, is a marvel of the times. Some of our good people we fear, will learn too late, that they have allowed their boys to pursue their own chosen course rather than exercise that restraint which is required to keep human nature in the right way." We have no knowledge who these guilty ones are, but such wanton cruelty, whether by boys belonging to our first families, or by hoodlums, should be severely punished.

Newton Representatives in the Legislature stayed at their posts Thursday, resisting the temptations of the Free trip to the Hudson River to see the site of "Storm King" bridge. The excursion carried away nearly 200 members and left the House without a quorum.

Thirty or forty years ago there was no name more familiar in Newton than that of Abel Harrington. For many years he kept the Nonantum House at Newton and it was one of the most noted hotels in Boston's suburbs. Every winter, so long as sleighing continued, his hotel was filled to overflowing night after night. Many who are now past middle age will testify to his tact and energy in providing for the wants of his guests. After he left Newton he conducted the Cattle Fair Hotel at Brighton for several years. For the past few years he was owner of the Oregon House at Hull and he died there last Tuesday at the age of 69.

A peculiar case of interest to Boston & Albany patrons was tried in the Newton court on Thursday. It seems that four passengers were playing cards in the smoking car on Conductor Mills' train out Tuesday evening. Each of them laid a ticket from his ticket book on the table, and the conductor after picking up and punching the coupons, asked one of the party, F. H. Hunting of Newtonville, to show his book. Hunting refused to do this and the conductor had him arrested for evasion of fare. Judge Park found him guilty and fined him $5 and costs. Mr. Hunting appealed and will fight the case in the Superior Court.

In the Board of Aldermen on Monday night the following orders were adopted: establishing the number of patrolmen at 16, providing a fire alarm bell on the Congregational Church at Newton Highlands to cost $750; appropriating $195 for a new wagon for the Fire Department, $65 for new wheels for the Hook & Ladder truck, $4500 for highway expenses in March. Bills ordered paid included $105 for drinking posts, $900 for horse watering troughs.

Thirty and forty pupils were absent the past week from the Rice and Mason Schools on account of the outbreak of measles.

50 YEARS AGO

Neither Mr. Daniels nor Mr. Bush was able to supply the demand for horses and sleighs on Tuesday and especially on Tuesday evening. A hundred more could have been rented.

The severest snowstorm of the season came on Sunday and the fine sleighing that followed was enjoyed by everyone who had anything that would go on runners. Tuesday evening the streets were full of sleighing parties until a late hour. The mild air, the full moon and the fine sleighing being three things that seldom come together.

The city has purchased the land on Cherry st. adjoining city hall for a police stable. It is proposed to erect a substantial building at a cost of $5000.

Patrolman Holmes is minus a pair of pants. While distributing tax bills on Wednesday he was attacked by J. B. Chase's dog at West Newton and the dog tore a large hole in the pantaloons. He will probably wear a new pair at the expense of the owner of the snarly canine.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Newton Cottage Hospital on Wednesday a letter was received from Councilman Collins stating that another cow had been secured for the hospital, partly from contributions of small sums from friends of patients who had been treated at the hospital.

Alderman Pettee's stone barn at Upper Falls in which they used to keep the horses that drew the teams to Boston before the railroad came, is offered for sale.

College News

With the arrival of the idea of March we are pleased no little to welcome Spring. Perhaps we are rushing the season, but college students all over the land will welcome the warm weather—the kind that causes a young girl's fancy lightly to turn to thoughts of saddle shoes and Easter vacation.

Thelma Cutter, Nancy Flagg, Nancy Waddell, Jane Holbrook, Evelyn Waddell, Carolyn Cooke and Mary Harris, all students hailing from Newton, were among the 2000 Smith College undergraduates and their escorts who attended the annual Smith College Supper Dance held earlier this month in more than thirty houses of residence at the college.

Open to members of all four classes, Supper Dance is one of the largest college dances held during the year. Its origin may be traced to the dance annually held at this time of year as a feature of a joint concert with the glee club of a men's college, a custom begun in the 1890's. In 1923 it was supplanted by the present glee clubless dance held in the individual houses and known as the "Spring Dance." In 1936 its name was changed to "Supper Dance" owing to the incongruity of a "Spring" event taking place often in the midst of March snow furries or even blizzards.

Expenditures ordinarily devoted to decorations were used this year largely to benefit the International Student Service Fund for the aid of refugee students in Europe. A few houses capitalized on student talent and improvised dance halls with posters on a variety of themes adding reality. Spring flowers were popular in most houses of residence as the sole decorative note. Dancing to the popular New England orchestras until the midnight curfew followed the early evening suppers. Every person we questioned on the affair answered, "A success."

Orono, Maine, home of the U. of M., brings another glad message concerning scholarship honors earned by sons of old Newton. Three lads, all living in the West Newton sector, having made an average of "B" or better in their courses during the fall semester, were included on the dean's list issued by the University registrar, James A. Gannett.

Of course (we say this with finality) Norman Whitney, of 215 Albermarle rd., was among the leaders again. Norm, a senior in dairy technology, has been on dean's list several semesters. His other noteworthy attainments are membership in Phi Kappa Phi, honorary scholastic society, and a like position on the Student Library Committee. The local R. O. T. C. unit has seen him rise through the ranks to become Lieutenant-Colonel, Battalion Commander.

Frederick J. Shepard, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Shepard Jr., of 67 Berkeley st., is a freshman in engineering in the College of Technology. Also included in the list is Fletcher A. Hatch Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hatch of 35 Pickwick rd., a freshman in mechanical engineering in the College of Technology.

Emily Jane Harris, a senior at Colby Junior College and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Harris of Larchmont ave., Waban, has been honored by being named to the social studies project which this year will be a survey of the Dartmouth-Lake Sunapee region, one of the six regions of the state. Selection for the project was made on the basis of scholarship and ability in a particular field, and only 27 students from the entire region, sociology, psychology, history and economics classes of the department were chosen to participate.

The 38 towns of the region will be the object of study for the group which is divided into five sections. Each of the latter is concentrating upon a special topic such as educational problems of the region. The problems of industry, labor, the church, the community, and the family will also occupy considerable time. Field trips to the various towns will be made by the group but not until each section has a thorough background in the topic under consideration.

Keep the eyes alert for the collegians; they plan to be home for Easter. Until next week at the same place we must part company.

Kiwanis Club

Three new prospective members of the Newton Kiwanis Club were officially welcomed at the meeting of the club held last Tuesday at the Charles River Country Club. These new members are Robert J. Vallinote, James M. Daley, and Walter A. Wood. President Jack Janse of the club was unable to attend as he is confined to his home as a result of an injury. These new members will be officially inducted at a future meeting when President Janse can be present.

Harry E. Baker, President of the Arlington Kiwanis Club, visited the Newton Club and spoke for several minutes. He was accompanied by Howie Parker, former member of the Newton Club and former manager of the Paramount Theater in Newton. Mr. Parker is now a member of the Arlington Club.

Dr. Norton, Chairman of the Program Committee, announced that the speaker next Tuesday noon at the Charles River Country Club would be Mr. R. A. Kirkpatrick of the Union Pacific Railroad Company. Mr. Kirkpatrick is a lecturer of note. His subject will be "National Parks."

The guest speaker at today's meeting was Mr. Fred E. Hamlin, representing the AAA Division Offices and the Boston Automobile Club. Backed by nearly 40,000 motorists of Massachusetts and nearby New England States in 23 automobile clubs, the American Automobile Association, better known as the AAA, has set the foundation in Boston for an organized, long-range program to do something about mounting taxes, insurance rates, driver training for high school boys and girls, and parking problems. Members and guests of the Newton club were told.

THE NEWTON HOSPITAL AID ASSOCIATION

The monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton Hospital Aid Association was held in the Nurses' Home of the Newton Hospital on Tuesday morning, March 12. Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson presiding.

Mrs. Hutchinson announced that the drive for new members had been postponed as all energies were to be directed at present toward the bridge which is to be held in the Nurses' Home late in April. She announced that Mrs. Harold Kellar would be chairman of the committee and later a corps of helpers would be chosen.

Mrs. Francis Williams reported for the Benefit Shop, and said there was immediate need for men's underwear and books as well as the usual stock. Occupational Therapy has played a large part in medicine today, and a representative from a school of that branch told the board of the amazing results where this was used for patients, and the quicker results obtained.

The morning closed with a social hour with coffee and doughnuts, and Mrs. Pitt F. Drew substituted for the two hostesses who were scheduled for this time, Mrs. Warner V. Taylor and Mrs. Hubert Carter. Mrs. Robert Whitehill and Mrs. Frank Kerns presided at the coffee urns.

Each year a Newton girl is assisted in attending Smith College with the money raised by the club in its various projects.

Mrs. F. Brittain Kennedy of West Newton, chairman of the scholarship committee, heads the following group of club members who are working for the success of the party: Mrs. Raymond D. Hunting of Newtonville, president of the club, Mrs. Clark E. Woodward of Newton Centre, Mrs. Philip Richardson of Newton Highlands, Mrs. Frank M. Seamans, Jr., of Waban, Mrs. F. Leslie Ford of Auburndale, Mrs. Charles H. Kimball of Newton, Mrs. Robert C. Kelley of Newtonville and Mrs. Clifford E. James of West Newton.

TRACK TEAM SECOND AT BOWDOIN MEET

The Newton High indoor track team closed its 1940 season with a second place at the annual Bowdoin Inter-scholastic meet. Coach Enoch's charges who made the trip figured in all the events but the broad and high jumps in which no one was entered, and in the dash where Jim Deloit was eliminated in a fast semifinal.

Billy Alpert took fourth in the high hurdles in his first attempt at competition over the high barriers. Bob Cotton tied for first in the 300-yard run. Bob Ross was the high scorer of the meet with a win in the 600 and a second place in the 1000, his first race over the longer distance. Ross beat Turner of Lawrence in another close finish in the 600. Captain Fred Hall did not make the trip due to illness.

A former Newton high star, Billy Pescosolido, now a student at Deerfield Academy won the high jump at 6 ft. 1 1/8 inches to set a new prep school mark but did not surpass his efforts of a year ago as a schoolboy. Pesky tallied the only points for Deerfield. Not in the best of condition he did not figure in the hurdles.

NEWTON FIVE LOSES
IN TECH TOURNEY

The Newton High basketball team, one of the eight leading quintets of eastern Massachusetts, participated in its first M. I. T. basketball tournament. The local five drew the strong Attleboro high quintet as its first round opponent on Thursday evening. Coach Wilson's charges were somewhat off-form while the southern Mass. team was hot, sending the orange and black five down to its second defeat of the season under a 42 to 32 count.

Haverhill, Somerville and New Bedford were other first round winners and on the basis of play the Newton five could have won from any of the other contenders. New Bedford topped Attleboro for the second time this season, in its semi-final round and went on to defeat Haverhill for final honors.

In the Newton-Attleboro game the first quarter ended with the locals having an 8 to 5 advantage but from the beginning of the second period the down-staters carried the play. Attleboro scored 17 points to Newton's 9 in the second period to take a 22-14 lead at the half. In the third period Newton crept up to within five points, 28-23, at the start of the fourth period but Attleboro widened its margin five more digits before the final gun. Captain Johnny Plagg as usual was Newton's high scorer with 13 points, followed by Francis Olivigni with 7. Captain Markman of Attleboro tallied 18 points to feature the game as Newton tried in vain to stop him.

Reynolds Talks To Catholic Wel. Com.

By invitation of the Catholic Welfare Committee, James P. Reynolds, head of the Department of Public Welfare, was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting March 11.

Mr. Reynolds mentioned the pleasing co-operation that exists between the Welfare Department and the private relief agencies, resulting to the benefit of the tax payers as well as the needy requiring aid. He sketched briefly the scope of Old Age Assistance, Aid for Dependent Children and Temporary Aid, mentioning that there are about 600 in the City receiving Old Age Assistance and about 800 receiving Temporary Aid, while Aid for Dependent Children included about 140 families.

The reports of the five branches of the Catholic Welfare Committee disclosed that they provided supplementary and emergency aid in February to 173 families, totaling 810 persons. The Committee expended for relief in January and February $3691. The largest expenditures were for milk and other foods, fuel, clothing and medicine.

The present officers were re-elected for the coming year: President, Charles C. Dasey; vice president, J. Joseph Warren and Timothy C. Hickey; clerk, Joseph J. Curran; financial secretary, John J. Cahill and executive secretary-treasurer, Rev. John A. Sheridan.

Henry H. Gaffney (chairman), William P. Eastie and M. John Barry were appointed as members of the Public Relations Committee. Father Sheridan and Mr. Barry were designated as delegates to the Newton Community Council. Mr. Harper, Mr. Hickey and Father Sheridan were appointed as representatives to the Annual Meeting of the Community Chest Council.

The operation of the Thrift Center established by the Community Chest was described by Mr. Barry and it was pointed out that the use of the Thrift Center had already resulted in material economies in the expense for clothing furnished to the poor.

Joseph F. Wogan of the Budget Committee of the Community Chest spoke briefly regarding the grant for 1940.

Broadcast Presented by Newton Music Groups

On Sunday, March 3, a radio broadcast was presented from the auditorium under the auspices of the Music Educators' National Conference.

A program with outstanding choral and instrumental groups is presented each Sunday morning from a different city by the National Broadcasting Company. The object of these weekly programs is to "gain a better understanding of the music teaching methods used in our public schools today and the results they achieve."

The program, entitled "Music and American Youth," was arranged by Mr. Haydn M. Morgan, director of Music Education. The Newton High School choir of seventy voices was conducted by Mr. Morgan and the instrumental group, the Newton String Quartet, was directed by Mr. J. Collins Lingo. Members of the group include: Aida Puciarelli, first violin; Mary Ruggles, second violin; Betty Ferguson, viola; Erna Nightingale, cello; and Donald Blackey soloist.

Since the broadcast, enthusiastic communications have been received from many cities throughout the country.

There was an assembly for the sophomore class on Wednesday, March 13, when representatives from all English 10 classes participated in a spelling bee. Winner of the contest was Elliot Robinson.

Many of the pupils are returning to Newton High on Saturday morning for the practice college entrance examinations which are scheduled weekly for 8:30-10:30 and 10:40-12:40.

Gloria Belotti, president, called to order the monthly meeting of the Microphone Club. After a discussion of an amendment of the constitution, the members of the club engaged in a sound effects game which was won by a visiting alumna, Kenneth MacDonald, student at Leland Powers School and former member of the club, spoke of his interesting experiences in radio work. Mr. MacDonald stated that there is ample opportunity for lucrative work in the field of radio. However, he emphasized the fact that the aspiring announcer must not expect very much pay during the first few years. The meeting adjourned after refreshments had been served.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, March 17, 1940.

The Golden Text is: "Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come" (Revelation 4:8).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "By the word of the Lord were the heavens made, and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth. . . . Let all the earth fear the Lord: let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of him. For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast" (Psalms 33:6, 8, 9).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay. Truth, Life, and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen'" (p. 468).

Day Jr. High School

On Thursday evening, March seventh, the Broadcasting Club, sponsored by Miss Selman and Mr. Read, were guests of the WBZ Studio at the Hotel Bradford where they witnessed a broadcast of Massachusetts on the March.

On Thursday, March 7, the Day Teams were hosts to the Bigelow Junior High players with the result of 20-18 for the Varsity Team and 13-9 for the Junior Varsity, both in the Day's favor. The faculty directors for this school activity are Mr. F. Morse, Mr. E. Tanner and Mr. W. Thornton.

One of the finest, most interesting broadcasts that mirrored the history and statistics of the school was given by the Radio Club on Friday morning in place of the regular Assembly. The announcer, Billy Perkins of Grade 9, introduced Patty Washer who presented the History of Frank Ashley Day Junior High School. In 1922 the school was built, one of the first Junior High Schools in this vicinity, at a cost of $325,000. It has been constantly growing and in 1934 the annex was constructed. Priscilla Young acquainted the schools' listening audience with the late Frank Ashley Day, the generous donor and loyal citizen for whom the school is named. The school census taker revealed the interesting facts that in Grade 7 there are 116 boys and 95 girls, in Grade 8 105 boys and 112 girls, and in Grade 9 103 boys and 96 girls, making a total of 627 students and a guiding faculty of 33. 19 of these children serve on the Student Council, 19 on the Library Council, 32 on the Cafeteria Staff, 10 on the Public Relations Staff, and 14 on the Playground Staff. There are 26 clubs progressing quite actively on Thursday. As Fiske Brown interviewed Mr. Flynn, chief custodian, a deeper realization of the planning and work that goes into the making of a safe, sound school was awakened. Helen Duff and Alice Fredey provided the thread of amusement through their ideas of the School of the future—elevators, adding machines, upholstered chairs, typewriters, and double chocolate sandwiches to appear instantaneously to smooth out problems.

On March 29, Hans Brinker will be presented by members of the Day Actors Guild. The all-Junior High School glee club concert will be given on the evening of the same date. On April 4, two plays will be presented, "Elmer," and "The Haunted Tea Room." Just before the spring vacation, the Girls' Annual Gym Meet will be held.

On Monday afternoon the Warren varsity and the Warren junior varsity played the Day Junior High School. The Warren varsity was defeated by a score of 25-22; the Warren junior varsity by a score of 17-13.

Laurence Sisson of Division IC has had a very interesting exhibit of oil paintings on display in the art room during the past week. This exhibition is the second in a series of "one man art shows" sponsored by Miss Helen Miles, art instructor at Warren.

On Wednesday afternoon Miss Avis Walsh and Mrs. Priscilla Dauden took a group of 42 students, members of Divisions IID and III, to the Paramount Theatre in Newton to see "The Hunchback of Notre Dame."

On Monday, March 11, the members of the color teams tried out for the honorary basketball team. This team will play the women's faculty on Thursday afternoon of this week. Some of the girls who are participating in this annual event are: Leah Keever, Ann Miles, Mildred Cox, Margaret McBride, Ruth O'Neill, Jean Ashton, Grace Prescott and Lois Southgate.

At the assembly on Friday, March 8, the Warren Junior High School had the honor of having Mayor Paul Goddard speak to the members of the Junior II and III classes. Fed Moore presided over the opening exercises and then turned the assembly over to James Palmer of Room 209. The mayor spoke on the problems of city government. He discussed the difficulties of snow removal in a city as large as Newton. He also mentioned a course given at Newton High School on municipal government.

On Monday afternoon Warren played Bigelow in basketball. Both games were exciting and kept the spectators on the edge of their seats. Bigelow won the varsity game by a score of 27-20. The junior varsity teams played a "sudden death" overtime period. Warren came out on top. The final score was Warren 18, Bigelow 17.

16 Stiles ter., Newton Centre, about
2 a. m. Sunday, brought Engines 3
and 9, and Ladder 2, and caused considerable damage before it was extinguished. The fire is supposed to have been started by careless disposal of a cigarette.

A fire, which started in the pantry in
the second-floor apartment at 661

Blamed For Fire

A fire, which started in the sun-parlor of the home of Roy Sears at 16 Stiles ter., Newton Centre, about
2 a. m. Sunday, brought Engines 3
and 9, and Ladder 2, and caused considerable damage before it was extinguished. The fire is supposed to have been started by careless disposal of a cigarette.

A fire, which started in the pantry in
the second-floor apartment at 661
Washington st., Newtonville, at 1:45 last Friday afternoon, caused damage estimated at $1000 to the building and contents. The apartment where the fire started is occupied by Anthony Cavallo, and the house is owned by James Delaney, who resides in the lower apartment. Upon discovering the fire, Mrs. Delaney carried her two small sons to the street.

Red Cross Courses In Braille and Care of the Sick

Of local interest, besides the broadcast on War Relief Work of the National Red Cross March 16, are two worthwhile courses being offered by the Newton Chapter at this time. That local women realize the value of the opportunities offered is proved by the many applications and inquiries being made at Headquarters, at 12 Austin st., Newtonville, in regard to them.

The course in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick is beginning Friday, March 15. This course of twelve lessons, held on consecutive Friday mornings, will be conducted by Miss H. Margaret Norcross, from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock, in Founders Hall of the Newton Hospital. The information given in these lessons is invaluable to all who wish to be informed upon how to make comfortable, and how to assist in recovery, those who may be in need of such service. The cost of this course ($1.00) includes the textbook and the twelve lessons. It is still possible to enroll, by telephoning Headquarters, Newton North 2717.

The other course offered is in Braille. Interest in this service to the blind is growing greatly throughout the country. Opportunity to know books, music, and art becomes available to the blind, and more and more women are learning to do Braille as they realize this. Mrs. George W. Reche, a former chairman of the Braille committee of the Newton Chapter, has offered to teach people who are interested to learn to do Braille, beginning Thursday, March 14, from 2 to 4:30 p. m., at the Newtonville Library on Walnut st. Those interested should call Headquarters, Newton North 2717, for further information about this course.

There have been for several years in Newton four certified workers in Braille. There are two others taking a course, and one, who has completed it, is writing letters for blind friends, rather than transcribing books. These workers are Mrs. Reche, Mrs. Montague P. Ford, who transcribes music, and for whom the Newton Chapter purchased a Braille writer last year, a necessity in her work; Miss Virginia Bloom, Miss Ida P. Hannington, and Mrs. David Rioch, who is especially giving her time to transcribing stories to be sent to India and to other foreign parts.

ZONTA CLUB

To Mrs. Della Stanley of 166 Moffat rd., Waban, chairman pro tem of the Program Committee of the Newton Zonta Club, credit is due for arranging the fine program, celebrating their 10th (tenth) anniversary last Tuesday evening.

At Estes Park, Colorado, among surroundings of unparalleled charm and beauty, Zontians assemble to hold their 1940 Convention. With that site in mind, Freeman O. Stanley gave the clubs a glimpse of the scenic wonders of the colonial entrance to the Stanley motor roads leading to the "Stanley Hotel" and the "Manor," constructed in accordance with the traditional New England design.

The next meeting will be held Monday evening, March 18th, at the home of Miss Olivia Cate, 892 Watertown st., West Newton. Waltham Zontians join the Newton Club to enjoy a musical feast. Miss Cate, a pupil of Matthey in London, entertained the clubs with a Pianoforte Recital.

Rob Gas Station As Tire Is Fixed

About noontime last Friday a car bearing Rhode Island plates was driven into the gasoline station at 361 Washington st., corner of Thornton st., Newton, and the attendant at the station was asked to fix a flat tire. As he was repairing the tire, the radio in the car was turned on full blast. After the attendant had finished his task, and the car with its five occupants had been driven away, it was discovered that the cash register at the station had been looted and $37 stolen.

Hunting With A Fountain Pen

A fascinating method of "Hunting Big Game" will be described to the members of the Waban Woman's Club by Cornelius Greenway on Monday, March 18th, at 2:30 o'clock, at the Neighborhood Club House. Mr. Greenway hunts "Big Game" with a fountain pen. He began his hobby of getting autographed photographs while a freshman in college. He holds the keen attention of his audience when he tells of the methods he used to get four thousand signatures of "the great."

Mrs. Irving Townsend will be Social hostess and Mrs. Ernest A. Hale will preside at this meeting.

Guest Night of Seniors and Juniors Jointly

The gala occasion in the Club Year is always Guest Night. So that when the members of a senior club and those of a junior club of a town join for this affair it is even of double interest. The members of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club and of the Junior Club will invite to this event guests and escorts to hear Cornelius Greenway, who is called appropriately a "big game hunter," since he trails the great and near great to their hideaways, and entices them into signing their famous names to photographs and into telling their innermost thoughts or secret experiences. These adventures Mr. Greenway will disclose on the evening of Tuesday, March 19th, in the Parish House of the Congregational Church, the meeting opening at 8 o'clock. The president of the Senior Club is Mrs. Malcolm Green, and the president of the Junior Club is Miss Nancy Newell.

The Club Chorus will also be on the program, and refreshments will be served.

"The Romance of T. Wharf," will be the subject of a talk to be given by Mrs. John H. Kimball at the meeting of the Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club, on Monday evening, March 18th. Mrs. Kimball is General Federation director for Massachusetts. As her home is at Quail T. Wharf, she is well qualified to tell many interesting stories of this spot of Old Boston.

At the close of the business meeting, which opens at 7:30, Mrs. Robert McLaughlin, chairman for the evening, will introduce the speaker. Refreshments will be served by the Hospitality committee.

Auburndale Woman's Club

About one hundred and twenty-five members and friends of the Auburndale Woman's Club met at the Club House on Tuesday afternoon, March 5th, for the entertainment and Bridge given by the Education committee for the Scholarship Fund of the Club.

Mrs. Frederick Goode and a group of helpers served dessert and coffee at 1 o'clock, and an hour later the Fashion Show which had been promised was presented, the president of the Club, Mrs. Austin Fisher giving a preliminary talk on the present trend of fashions and of the French influence upon them, and then one by one she presented models to illustrate her points. To the surprise and amusement of her audience, these models wore gowns dating back to 1850, and showed every type since then, from the long full skirts to the narrow knee-length ones in vogue not so very many years ago. Club members who wore these gowns were Mrs. Henry L. Goodman, Mrs. Chester E. Blackey, Mrs. H. D. Flegals, Mrs. Norman T. Steed, Mrs. Frank Ranlett, Mrs. Richard L. Kenney, Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt, and Mrs. Frederick V. Briscoe. At the piano, Mrs. Louis Billings played popular airs from the period of the gowns which were displayed.

The Education committee includes Mrs. Guy M. Winslow as chairman, Mrs. Ralph D. Weston, and Mrs. Leslie Ford, and the choice of applicants to whom the scholarship will go, will be left to them for decision. All arrangements for the afternoon were in charge of Mrs. James Dunlop and Mrs. Edward B. Gray, the two last presidents to hold office.

Over $100.00 was netted from the afternoon's entertainment, which closed with card playing, no prizes being given.

Programs From The Cultural To Recreational

Auburndale Review Club

The Auburndale Review Club will meet on Tuesday morning, March 19th, with Mrs. W. A. Van Atten, 29 Studio rd. The business meeting will be at 10 o'clock. During this session, the reports of committee chairmen, including one for the recent Guest Night, will be given, covering the four weeks since the last program meeting.

At 10:30, the course of study on "Interesting Personalities as Seen in Biography," will be continued with three papers. Mrs. Susan Tuttle, chairman of the morning, will give the first one, on "The Adams Family," by James Truslow Adams; Mrs. H. E. B. Case will follow with one on "Green Worlds," by Hindus; and Miss Elizabeth Eaton will close the morning with one on "One American and His Attempt at Education."

Guest Night of the Auburndale Review Club was enjoyed by about one hundred and fifty members of the Club and their guests on Tuesday evening, March 5th, in the Chapel of the Congregational Church.

Following the Reception, the president of the Club, Mrs. Eugene Ufford, in greeting the assembly, told briefly of the life of this Study Club which will be fifty years old in another year. She then turned the program over to Miss Anne Buckley who, with the assistance of the other members of her committee, Mrs. Grace Fiske and Miss Eleanor Pinkham, had arranged for the evening's entertainment.

Mrs. Herman Krueger, a member of the Club, a reader as well as an author, read three original monologues, "Tony Comes Home," "The Family Plate," and "A Little Lady Goes to the Theatre."

Miss Mildred Shedd played a group of three selections on the harp; and Mrs. Krueger and her daughter, June, then gave a one-act play, "Guest of Honor."

Miss Shedd closed the program with several numbers. She had also given a musical background, played softly, during the time of the Reception.

Refreshments followed, the chairman of the Social committee, Mrs. Paul Tardivel, being assisted by Mrs. John Hebeck.

Assisting in the serving were a number of Club daughters and friends, including Miss Hannah Tardivel, Miss Louise Tardivel, Miss Judith Bailey, Miss Betty Cole, Miss Sara Lee Edson, Miss Mary Robertson, Miss Louise Purinton, and Miss Winnie Ching.

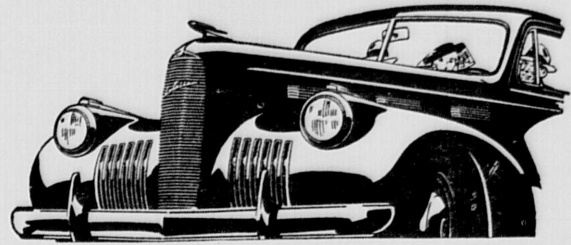

At one of the tastefully-decorated serving tables, Mrs. William P. DeWitt and Mrs. Albert Palmateer presided, and at the other Mrs. Ralph Rogers and Mrs. Eddin Lynn.

The decorations for the tables and platform had been arranged by Mrs. Thomas Young.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

On March 15th the Garden Club of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Gordon S. Heath, 89 Dickenman rd., Newton Highlands. Mrs. Patrick J. Duncan will assist. Newtonville Woman's Club

A program of the artistic combination of music and poetry will present Artiss de Volt and Alice Mansur at the Newtonville Woman's Club meeting, Tuesday, March 19. Artiss de Volt, Harpist, is well-known both in this country and in Europe, and Alice Mansur, equally well-known for her poetry programs, is sometimes accompanied in her readings by Miss de Volt's music.

There will be an Exhibition of Art in the Gallery, with Mrs. John R. Tolman in charge.

Tea will be served following the program by the Hospitality Committee, Mrs. H. E. Johnson, chairman.

The American Home committee of the Newtonville Woman's Club is sponsoring a program by Miss Bernice Henderson, at the home of Mrs. Theodore Clark, 101 Highland ave., Wednesday, March 20, at 2:30 o'clock.

Miss Henderson will discuss the subject "Happy Family Relationships." She comes from the Massachusetts Society for Mental Hygiene, Inc., and will explain mental hygiene as applied in the home, through the personality of adults as well as that of adolescents. She will present the subject in a slightly different manner than the usual lecturer, as she is a medical authority.

This meeting is open to anyone in the community who is interested in the subject. For Club members there will be no charge. For others than members there will be a charge of 25 cents.

Tea will be served. At the recent Guest Night of the Club, March 5th, the Club members saw for the first time the new draperies for which so many members have been working, and the improved appearance of the Auditorium brought many favorable comments from members and guests.

An unusual bowling match between two women's clubs took place Thursday afternoon, March 7. A team made up of five highest bowlers of the Newtonville Woman's Club met a group of players from the West Roxbury Woman's Club, and Newtonville won two of the three strings, finishing with a lead of only 8 pins.

This is the first competitive game the team has bowled, but Mrs. John P. Kobrock, the manager of the bowlers, will be glad to make arrangements for further games.

The score, which will be of interest to clubwomen, was as follows:

West Roxbury: Hartshorne, 1st, 52; 2nd, 78; 3rd, 77; Total, 207. MacFee, 1st, 67; 2nd, 83; 3rd, 76; Total, 226. Van Ness, 1st, 82; 2nd, 72; 3rd, 79; Total, 233. West Newton Community Service Club

Members and friends of the Community Service Club of West Newton filled the Neighborhood Club House on Berkeley st., for the Annual Charity Bridge Party held Wednesday, March 6. Dessert was served at 1:30 o'clock, followed by cards at about one hundred tables placed in every available nook and corner of the attractive club house. The drawing for a beautiful blanket found Mrs. Joshua Clark of West Newton to be the holder of the lucky number, while several others held tickets for attractive door prizes. There was an individual prize for each table as well.

Special credit for the success of the affair is due Mrs. George S. Fuller, chairman of the committee, and her assistants, among whom were Miss Gray, Mrs. Thomas Cooper, Mrs. Edmund Kingsbury, Mrs. Clarence Dales, Miss Ethel Woodberry, and Mrs. Edmund Anthony.

"Presidents' Day" will be celebrated at the Community Service Club on Wednesday, March 27th, which is one week later than the usual third Wednesday for the monthly Club meeting, owing to the fact that the regular day falls in Holy Week. "The Boss Put Me Wise"

"THE boss called me in. 'Old Mac's going on pension,' he said. 'I'm making you foreman. Okay?' I said okay.

"You got a savings account?" he went on. I said I had. 'You got life insurance?' he barked. I said I had some on the children. I thought he'd explode.

"As foreman, you get a good raise, he growled. 'If you're smart as I thought, you'll put part of it into Savings Bank Life Insurance on yourself. Your family depends on you for support, not on the children.'

"I went to the savings bank, and it didn't take me long to see that the boss had put me wise to a good thing. At my age, Savings Bank Life Insurance actually costs less than $2 a month for a $1000 straight life policy."

Complaint Against Daughter Gets Father In Trouble

William F. Tenninah of 1110 Boylston st., Newton Upper Falls, had his daughter Francis L. Tenninah, 19, in the Newton court last Saturday on a complaint that the girl is a stubborn child. As a result, Tenninah and the girl's mother, who is his former wife, were themselves ordered arrested on a morals charge and arraigned in court. Tenninah testified that his daughter was irresponsible and away from home much of the time. The girl testified that she had been ordered to leave her home by her mother. Dr. Edward Leonard told the judge that when the girl had been a patient at the Newton Hospital recently she was unmanageable.

Upon being questioned by Judge Mayberry, Tennihan revealed the facts that although he was divorced from his former wife several years ago, they have been residing in the same house at the Boylston st. address. The woman, Mrs. Eva M. Small, has been married seven times and her present legal husband resides in Boston. Tennihan stated that he and Mrs. Small have not been living together as man and wife, but together as man and wife, but Judge Mayberry ordered the police to investigate the case, and after questioning them, Sergeant King asked for complaints against the pair. They were then arraigned in court and their cases continued until March 14. The daughter's case was also continued until that date.

The Rotary International logo, featuring a gear-like wheel with the word "ROTARY" at the top and "INTERNATIONAL" at the bottom, surrounding a central emblem.

At the meeting of the Newton Rotary Club on Monday, the speaker was Robert D. Wu, secretary of the Chinese Y. M. C. A. Mr. Wu prepared for Harvard in the Newton High School and is a graduate student of the School of Arts and Sciences at Harvard. His topic was "The Chinese Viewpoint of Today's Problems in the Far East," and he spoke as a student of foreign affairs and not as an observer recently returned from the Far East.

Far East. In opinion Japan has suffered two major reverses recently: has "bogged down" economically and has received two serious diplomatic defeats. As for the economics, her gold supply is almost exhausted, her foreign trade is negligible, and her resources of gas, coal, power, food and clothing are all limited. Her own explanation attributes this to the transformation from light to heavy industries and to her expansion into China. In denying the seriousness of her condition she further points out that she is not expanding but only 30 per cent of her national income exceeds England and Germany were using up three times as much of their incomes in the last war. Mr. Wu does not consider a revolution likely in Japan.

In China, while Japan is returning toward the coast and building defenses against the interior, China is having definite solidification with a growing definite solidification, with a growth from West to East rather than from East to West. A new and stronger China is emerging as Japan's power is growing weaker and weaker here, as is well illustrated by the new and stronger Shanghai that has arisen from the havoc wrought by Japanese bombs.

Two members were admitted: Kenneth S. Dale, who is succeeding Harry Bascom at the Y. M. C. A., and Frank Hackett, of the Newton office of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company. Dr. Cecil Clark welcomed them with a brief talk on the meaning of Rotary.

Alderman Asserts Health Dept. Costs Too High

During the discussion of the 1940 budget by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night, Alderman Temperley criticized the big increase during the past few years in the cost of the Newton Health Department. He said that in 10 years the cost of this department has doubled, while the city has only increased 10 per cent in population. He said that this department should be slowed down. Temperley, senior member of the Aldermen, and a life-long resident of this city, said that Newton was a very healthy community in past years, and certainly is not twice as healthy today as it was 10 years ago. He commented that the Newton children of the past generation seemed about as healthy as those of the present, and he wondered "how they got by without all the public health activities that add to the city's expenses today."

Alderman Hoffman stated that new activities in the Newton Health Department were started several years ago in co-operation with the Har-

Hoffman Votes Against Budget As A Whole—Several Aldermen Against Some Items

The Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night passed the 1940 budget which totalled $5,222,222. This, in addition to $199,234.58 already appropriated makes a grand total of $5,421,456 estimated as sufficient for city expenses this year. The cost of running the city in 1939 was $5,517,420.37. So, if the Mayor and Aldermen are correct in their belief that further appropriations will not be necessary, city expenses this year will be $95,963 less than last year.

The only negative vote against the budget in its entirety was that of Alderman Carroll Hoffman. His objection, as at the preceding meeting, was based mostly on the budget of the School Department. He moved unsuccessfully, that this budget be returned to the School Committee and $25,000 pared from it. Voting with Hoffman in his effort to have the school department budget reduced were Aldermen Eaton, Fahey, Hughes and Lee. Hoffman stated that he also would not vote for the budget because the Aldermen had not been given a list of the salaries paid to teachers and other employees of the School Department. At the meeting on March 11 Hoffman asserted that the city ordinances require such a list to be provided, and he was informed then that a list would be prepared for him. Last Monday night typewritten lists of salaries paid all city officials and employees were ready for each Alderman, but the only department not included on these lists was the School Department. Hoffman insisted that the salaries paid in this department should also have been included. City Solicitor Bartlett ruled that the one list of the School Department salaries which is in possession of the City Clerk, covered the law.

Prior to voting on the budget, the Aldermen voted to appropriate $45,289.41 as Newton's share for the maintenance of the Middlesex County tuberculosis hospital at Waltham, as recommended by Mayor Goddard. Alderman Colby, who with Alderman Schipper had made an exhaustive study of Newton's share in this county expense, and had reported that this city is being over-assessed, stated he could not vote to pay Newton taxpayers' money for this illegal assessment. Alderman Eaton said he would vote against it because Newton's assessment for maintaining this hospital has been increased 240 per cent the past 6 years. Alderman Hughes said the issue was to expedite the payment of this amount but he would vote against it because Newton was being over-assessed $15,000. Others who voted against the appropriation were Aldermen Cronin, Fahey, Lee, Hoffman and Rawson. Alderman Schipper moved that a committee of 2 be appointed to confer with the Governor, State and county officials to bring about an equitable levy on towns and cities in Middlesex County which are assessed for the maintenance of this hospital.

The controversy over the budget item for the purchase of 8 trucks for WPA work was settled by a compromise; $8600 was appropriated to enable the purchase of 8 trucks, but only 4 will be bought at present, and the others will not be purchased unless needed. Alderman Hoffman moved that one investigator be dropped in the WPA administration force, which is paid for by this city. He said Director Harold Young had stated he can dispense with this investigator's services. Alderman Fahey seconded this motion and said the investigator referred to is in business for himself and has been drawing a yearly salary of $1248. Alderman Cronin said he had received adverse comments from citizens relative to the purchase by the city of the 8 trucks for WPA projects. Alderman Temperley asked if liability insurance will be carried on the trucks to be purchased for WPA work and was told "No," despite the fact that the trucks will be operated by men on WPA relief who have no means to pay damages if they become involved in accidents.

The Health Department budget brought objections. Alderman Hughes objected to the salary of $4500 for the head of this department and the increase in the item for nurses' expenses. Alderman Fahey also objected to the increase in the item for nurses' expenses. Alderman Temperley said the Health Department budget has been increasing too much. Alderman Hoffman objected to the Library Department budget. He said that the city of the 8 trucks for WPA projects larger than Newton spend much less on their libraries. He specified the item for new books as being too large. Alderman Rawson called attention to the fact that Newton has more branch libraries than have most cities. Alderman McKay said that the cost per book circulation in Newton is the lowest in this State, and that Newton people take out more books than in other cities.

Alderman Hoffman said he has been criticized for objecting to the high cost of the Newton School Department, but that would not deter him. He said this department is out of line in the trend toward economy, not only with other departments in this city, but with school departments in other cities in this State. He contended that the cost of schools in Newton has not been adjusted to the ability of citizens to pay. Alderman Lee objected to the School Department budget items on salaries and other expenses. He said we want good schools but not frills and unnecessary incidents. Alderman Colby said he would vote for the school budget with reservations. It is the only department budget he can't understand, and he defied any Alderman to check it with the budget of previous years. He said there has been a gentlemen's agreement between the Aldermen and the School Committee that a survey

Expect 1940 Tax Rate To Be Lower

The Newton tax rate for 1940 will be at least 60 cents less than that of 1939, according to indications, and may be nearly $1 less. Just what the reduction will be, cannot at present be definitely stated, but the lesser reduction seems assured, and the larger is hoped for.

Newton Aldermen Give Warning to County Officials

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night, Chairman McKay of the Finance Committee read the following report relative to the Middlesex County T. B. Hospital at Waltham.

On January 15th a sub-committee of the Finance Committee gave you a report on the Middlesex County Tuberculosis Sanatorium. Since then somewhat similar studies have been made of the Sanatoria of five other counties.

The problem is complex in that there is an initial daily charge for patients, billed monthly to each community; then at year end a deficit assessment for the balance of cost, and finally a subsidy payment by the State. We became thoroughly convinced that the accounting systems were not in accordance with the law as to the division of expenses between care of patients and maintenance.

The results of our studies disclosed that in the six counties 129 communities would have lower net costs if the per diem rate were increased. Even so they would still be paying more than the average operating cost.

Eighty-seven cities and towns would have their net costs increased by a higher per diem rate but would

School Supt. Warren Talks On Education Costs in Newton Schools

Gives Informative Address to Newton Rotarians In Answer to Criticism Schools Too Costly

The cost of education in Newton public schools being a subject of current discussion by many persons interested in local affairs, an address by Superintendent of Schools Julius Warren before the Rotary Club proved both timely and interesting to many members and invited guests at the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday. Mr. Warren gave facts and interpreted his facts showing that Newton has been able to provide for itself a superior school system and not a "sub-sistence-level" system because of the character of the city. "Newton has demanded and has the right to receive the kind of educational program it wants," he said. "This does not mean that because Newton can afford an expensive program it should do so." Continuing the School Superintendent showed how the trend of school budget figures has been downward in more recent years.

"The costs of operating Newton schools can be cut any amount at any time," he concluded. "There are three ways in which this can be done: (1) Decreasing salaries with a resultant loss of morale and efficiency of teaching; (2) increasing the size of classes, a difficult thing; (3) decreasing the services rendered, and destroying the effectiveness of the program. The question is more than that of just keeping the schools going. Fundamentally it is whether Newton is to be satisfied with an educational program on a bare subsistence level, or whether it is to provide the kind of schools it needs and can afford."

Superintendent Warren's address follows: "My objective is to present facts and a minimum of opinion, concerning cost of education in Newton as straightforwardly and simply as possible. It is not a defense of the present or proposed budget—I would not have time to do that in a half hour. "By way of caution, in attempting to measure or evaluate a program we must be concerned basically with the question how good as well as the question how much. Our product is a qualitative product. We cannot approach it entirely on the quantitative basis. The problem we are discussing today is after all somewhat concerned with the future of the race, the future of democracy in this community and nation and the welfare and happiness of a portion of humanity that is pretty close to those of us who have children. While I have ventured to lapse into oratorical language in the last sentence, what I am trying to say is that statistics always need interpretation. For example, if one is studying exhaustively the state report of the Department of Education, one finds that the per capita cost of education in Mt. Washington in Berkshire County is $211.34 as against Newton's per capita cost for the same year, 1938, of $122.56. Is this a cause for a survey by the town fathers of Mt. Washington into the extravagance of the school system? Rather the basic reason would seem to be geography. Mt. Washington has but one school, one teacher, and five pupils.

"In all this discussion and concern, and there should be public and informed discussion and concern, about the costs of education, it is generally known among our citizens that Newton stands first among cities of Massachusetts, but not among communities (at least 16 higher) in per capita costs in education, but it does not seem to be known that this is not new; the fact is that Newton among cities has stood first, second, or third in per capita cost of education since 1924 at least except for one year when it stood fourth (1929). It is not a new phenomena. If this ranking of first is a fault or disease, it is a chronic state of affairs.

"We have not heard much, however, about the fact that since 1932 among cities of Massachusetts, Newton has also stood first in per capita wealth and never below third since 1924. This means in dollars and cents of valuation that back of each child in Newton there is $14,333 of wealth as against the second city in per capita wealth of Boston with a backing for each child of $12,800.

"It is also interesting to note that among 39 cities, Newton for the fiscal year 1938 stands 38th in its expenditures for school support from local taxation per $1000 valuation. This means that out of the tax rate for this year $30.20, $8.55 of that amount went to the support of schools, and of all cities in the state, Newton stood next to the lowest in the amount spent for schools in relation to its ability to pay. Inasmuch as the budget for school expenditure has been decreased rather than increased since 1938, it would seem possible that Newton will achieve lowest place in relation to ability to pay by the time 1939 and 1940 figures are released. (Since 1924 Newton has not realized a ranking higher than 31st.)

"This does not mean necessarily that because Newton can afford expensive education, it should purchase that kind. It does mean, however, that Newton seems to be in the fortunate and somewhat unusual position financially to purchase the type of education that it wants for its children. "There are many reasons why there should be variations in school costs among communities which on the surface seem to be comparable in terms

THE COST OF EDUCATION IN NEWTON

We have studiously refrained from comment upon the cost of education in Newton during recent weeks until a clearer picture was available. Some criticism has been leveled at the school committee for not making a larger reduction in the budget of the schools; some on the basis that the school budget is not difficult to analyze, and some that the per pupil cost is the greatest of any city in the state. Superintendent Julius E. Warren without attempting to justify the present school budget, presented a partial viewpoint of the administrative angle of the situation. His address is printed in the columns of this issue.

Whether or not we are spending too much upon education in our schools is and always will be the subject of controversy and debate. During times of financial stress it will be more open and widespread. In times of prosperity our citizens will demand and expect to receive additional services than we are giving the youth of our city at present. The functions of our school committee include the determination of the services to be given. Under our state laws the school committee determines the funds required and the mayor and aldermen must provide the amount sought, or under refusal to do so, court action results. The time to consider school budgetary requirements, as suggested by Chairman McKay of the Aldermanic Finance Committee, is during the period before the school year opens. This can be done under co-operative effort between the aldermen and school committee. Newton is fortunate, much more fortunate than many other cities and towns, in having a mayor, school committee and board of aldermen who can arrive at the proper decision with combined and intelligent effort.

Unquestionably Newton can afford a more superior school system than other places. Unquestionably such a system is more costly. The question to be determined is whether or not the citizens of Newton want to continue this system (and incidentally the trend of the school budget is downward) or whether or not they want to reduce the costs and receive less beneficial results.

SPRING WEATHER IS ON THE WAY

Spring was ushered in late Wednesday by a most unusual storm which brought rain, hail, sleet, snow and thunder and lightning. There are some weather prophets who say that thunder and lightning at this time of year are certain signs of a cold summer. There are others who simply take the weather that comes, which, in the final analysis is all that we can do. But one thing is certain—soon there will be many signs of real spring—flowering crocuses, budding forsythia, warm and sunny days, chirping robins, and the usual harbingers of the new season. There is something about spring which cheers the spirits and warms the heart after the long spell of cold and wintry weather. It will not be long now.

THE EASTER SEASON

It is the Easter season. To many the observance of the ascension of Christ has a deep significance and spiritual meaning. To others who give it but a passing thought there is little significance and no spiritual meaning. It is to these persons that we direct our thoughts. Many times life seems strange and cruel. Most of us have had experiences of one kind or another which have brought us to the verge of desperation in an effort to understand the meaning of life. Yet, at the same time, out of these experiences, many have reached the firmer conviction that there is a rich and beautiful significance to the future life that dispels earthly uncertainty and gives to us some of the courage and faith which is the heritage that Christ, the Son of God, gave to the peoples of the earth.

Letters To The Editor

PUBLICITY HELPS SALE

Dear Sir: The Committee for the Sale of Christmas Health Seals would like to express its appreciation to you for the generous amount of space given to its publicity. Without the co-operation of the press, the sales undoubtedly would not have reached the present amount—slightly over $6100.

The usual past approved expenditures from this fund, voted upon and granted by the Health Committee of the Family Service Bureau of Newton, and subject to the regulations of the National Tuberculosis Association, have been of great benefit and value to our city.

The sending of the children for a two months' period to the fine Southern Middlesex Health Camp in Sharon, the numerous attentions given in the homes for preventive and follow-up work, and the campaign through education which has been emphasized in recent years are more lately being augmented by the vocational rehabilitation program. This branch is becoming more and more prominent throughout this state as well as in the national work, and the Health Committee is now able to give that advance to a few who are able to be trained for employment fitted to their capacities.

May the committee at this time also thank the many Newton residents who have participated in this important work by their purchase of the seals.

Very truly yours,

GERTRUDE M. BOWEN,
Chairman, Annual Christmas
Health Seal Sale.

Powers' Paragraphs

Two brothers who had worked many years for the Newton Street Department were retired on pensions the past week. One had been employed by the city 28 years, the other 26 years. The younger brother who had worked for the city a considerably shorter period than the older brother, will receive a much larger pension. The reason for this is the retirement system under which employees of this city other than policemen, firemen and school teachers are pensioned. Such employees receive as annual pensions one-half of the amount they were paid in wages during the 12 months preceding their retirement. The unfairness of this system is manifest. If a veteran employee after many years of faithful service falls physically during the last year of his employment by the city and cannot work regularly, his wages for the 12 months drops from what it was in preceding years and he is penalized unjustly by being paid a smaller pension than he should receive were it based on the wages he had regularly been paid. On the other hand, if an employee happened to be in good health during his last year of service, he would not only be given a pension based on half of his regular wages, but he might also have been given overtime work, and this giving him additional wages, would add to the pension he would obtain.

In happy contrast to large increases in tax rates in Boston, Cambridge and other cities is the announcement that Newton's tax rate for 1940 will be at least 60 cents, and probably nearly $1 less, than that of 1939. This reduction is partly due to economies effected by Mayor Goddard and the Board of Aldermen, and partly because of the fact that the city will have its State tax assessment $80,000 less than that of last year due to Governor Saltonstall's economical administration. The city will also receive about $51,000 more from income and corporation taxes, and from other sources over similar receipts last year. The city has also received permission from the Tax Commissioner to use $100,000 from its surplus fund (if it so desires) toward reducing the amount which must be raised by taxation.

The present Board of Aldermen is economically minded, as have been the Boards in recent years; most of the members of the present Board having been Aldermen for several years. Mayor Goddard has also been advocating economy, and both the Mayor and the Aldermen favor having surveys made of various city departments, including the School Department, with the expectation that by so doing further economies will be gained. We are told that a survey made of the Street Department last year resulted in a total savings of $51,000. Most of this savings will come from the disposal by the Street Department of the last 20 horses it has used. It wasn't necessary to employ experts to suggest that the horses be eliminated. This has been advocated over a long term of years, and the process of supplanting horses in the Street Department has been under way gradually for a long period. They would all have been sold years ago, except for the need of using them to haul sidewalk plows during winter months. For the past several years horses owned by contractors have been boarded by the street department during winter months in return for their use in plowing sidewalks. The practicality of this plan remains to be proved. The sidewalks certainly were not plowed after the recent blizzard so that they were fit to walk on, but the snow had drifted so high on February 15 that horses could not be expected to clear snow of such depth from the sidewalks. Whether untrained horses guided by inexperienced drivers will be successfully used in future winters in plowing sidewalks is an uncertainty.

Frankly, we don't enthuse over the proposed surveys of city departments by alleged experts. We have observed "efficient engineers" in past years make surveys of privately owned corporations, as well as government owned activities, and we have seen some of the factories and plants so surveyed woefully decline in efficiency, or the quality of their products after the "experts" had systematized things. We have had personal experiences with efficiency experts both while working for the government and while engaged in a supervisory job in a mill. And as we remembered those lines about the village schoolmaster in Goldsmith's "Deserted Village":

"And still they gazed,
And still their wonder grew,
That one small head
Could carry all he knew."

We wondered how some of these efficiency engineers could survey a cheese factory, textile mill, iron foundry, arsenal, watch factory, school, hospital or what you will, and be qualified to give expert information as to how such diverse activities should be conducted.

It is proposed that the Newton School Department and other departments shall be surveyed. Will the efficiency experts who will make the survey of our schools, for instance, be trained educators with years of practical experience in teaching and administering public schools? Perhaps the proposed surveys will warrant their cost. But, to our way of thinking the heads of our various city departments ought to be able, in conjunction with the advice of the Mayor, the Aldermen and the School Committee to conduct their departments efficiently and economically without our city government acknowledging that it is necessary to obtain the services of outsiders with no legedly superior intellects or judgment.

In the current issue of "The Saturday Evening Post" the lead article is a biographical sketch of James H. Cromwell. It is published under the caption—"Golden Boy," and it was written at least several weeks before Mr. Cromwell proved his stupidity by his tactless speech a few days ago in his official capacity as United States Minister to Canada. It is very well written, has probably been read by many of our readers, and should be read by all of them. It will give one a good idea as to how well qualified Mr. Cromwell is to represent this country in a major diplomatic post, and to serve as a leading exponent of democracy. Possibly Mr. Cromwell may be sincere in his blatherings about democracy and liberalism, but he will have one helluva time being accepted as a leader by democrats and liberals who are also not genuinely concerned about saving capitalism (as Mr. Cromwell undoubtedly is), especially that kind of capitalism which is tolerated in a lopsided economic system such as ours, and permits someone like Jimmy Cromwell to wallow in wealth he never created or earned. The story of Cromwell's career and luxurious mode of living, as printed in this week's Saturday Evening Post will not be comforting to capitalists in general, because they know it will provide much ammunition for those millions of liberals and radicals who are striving to end that type of capitalism represented by Cromwell and his kind.

It is also interesting to muse on the fact that Cromwell was appointed to the post in which he is showing his unfitness by that great exponent of democracy and liberalism, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and allegedly at the behest of another great democrat and liberal, Mayor Hague of Jersey City. It's a great world, isn't it?

A couple of weeks ago we commented in this column about a youth who was arraigned in the Roxbury, Brookline, Brighton and Newton courts a couple of months ago on charges of having stolen a number of automobiles and having snatched handbags from several women. Despite the number and seriousness of some of the charges against him, this 17 year old youth received suspended sentences in each of the four courts. He showed his appreciation of this leniency by stealing at least another automobile and burglarizing a house at Waban. He was then caught and committed to the Shirley Indian School where 3 young toughs of his kind are mixed with less tough boys who are trying to reform.

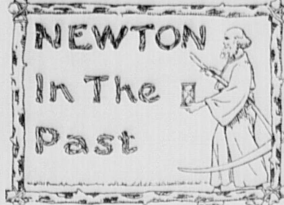

The pal of this boy, a 16-year-old youth, who was also arraigned in the above mentioned four courts for the same crimes, and also was accorded the same leniency in the shape of suspended sentences, didn't profit by the capture and confinement of his erstwhile pal. Last week he was also involved in another automobile theft and with another youth they led State police along the Newburyport turnpike in a 10 mile chase, endangering traffic while travelling at a speed of 85 miles an hour. Because this child of tender years is only 15, he was not confined in a cell at Newton police headquarters after Newton police had received him from the State police who captured him. Our humane State laws prohibit any child, no matter how hard-boiled, being placed in a cell if he is only 16 years of age. So, this precocious boy, sneaked out of Newton police headquarters when the attention of the police on duty there was momentarily diverted from him, and he has not been found by the police up to the time we write this.

The two youths we are referring to were Brighton boys. They are only two of many boys from that district who have been committing crimes in Newton for the past 10 years or so. Last year Judge Mayberry in sentencing two youths from Brighton who had committed burglaries in this city, commented that he would break up this gang of young Brighton lawbreakers if it was the last thing he did. Evidently there is a great need of some uplifting social influence for boys in Brighton. It is apparent that a well-conducted boys' club should be organized for that district.

The recent blizzard brought additional evidence that many persons who arrive at the Newton Hospital in automobiles to visit patients, don't believe in signs, in co-operation or in consideration. Despite the fact that the parking space at the hospital grounds had been cleared of snow, cars were continually parked along the winding driveway, narrowed by high snow piles. On the Sunday after the blizzard, the ambulance was blocked from the "accident entrance" by a parked automobile. It is obvious that the only way no parking can be enforced on the driveway at the hospital is by the presence of someone with authority to compel selfish persons to park their cars in the space provided.

Ground was broken on Tuesday for the new Baptist church on Church st., Newton, and the work will be pushed as fast as possible.

The winter dies hard. This week was bitterly cold with slight falls of snow on Sunday and Wednesday night. This morning the mercury is only 5 above zero.

We wish to remind the Highway Committee that Spring has come, and if the new chairman will but take a look at Newtonville ave., we believe that he will not take the stand his predecessor did. From what we hear about him, he is a man of sound judgment, and we trust that he will see that dangerous places are made safe.

"Westward Ho!" Thursday saw a party of Newton Centre young men leave home to establish themselves in California among the orange groves and vineyards of Los Angeles. The party included John W. Paul, Herbert Morse, two sons of William D. Philbrick and Curtis White. These young men have all been trained in the Newton grammar and high schools, are of fine families noted for thrift, industry and success in agriculture. They are worthy of their sires, some of whom possess old time deeds from the Indians, given when John Elliot was exhorting the Red Men, and birch bark canoes were paddled over Baptist Pond.

There is in the Acts and Resolves passed by the General Court of Massachusetts a dog law which is a good thing, because these animals are in many instances a nuisance and should be confined to the owners own premises. There is no reason why anyone should be allowed to keep dogs to injure or annoy his or her neighbors; yet, how many cases can be mentioned. Why let dogs run on the highways any more than cattle? A remedy can be had, and if the proper officer should walk the streets of this city he would reap a good harvest for himself, as many dogs are without collars and should receive the fate of lawbreakers.

We would speak of another nuisance, and that is the keeping of hens. They are a great nuisance in a neighborhood; to have from 20 to 30 hens scratching up your seeds as fast as you plant or sow them, is anything but pleasant or profitable. For the benefit of those troubled by these trespassers, a law passed in 1878—to prevent trespassing on land, may be a safeguard.

SIXTY hens were killed in Nonantum on Wednesday morning between 3 and 4 a. m. by dogs which got into henhouses. Mr. Clayton, the milkman lost 40, Willie Lowry, 12; and James Galway, 10. At the latter place the dogs were caught and found to belong in Watertown. That town will be asked to pay the damages.

Mr. Covell who resides in a new house on Waltham st., West Newton, left the city with his family last week Wednesday to be gone some little time. He neglected to shut off the water at the meter, and remembering it afterwards sent a letter to A. J. Fiske the plumber, which visiting the house the plumbers found that pipes had burst, water was waisting in the cellar, several inches deep in every room, pouring in streams from pipes, and the ceilings, furniture, carpets and walls had been extensively damaged.

College News

Newton again came to the fore when the scholastic achievements of Juniors and Seniors at Wellesley College were announced recently in an Honors Day Chapel Service. Flora Mariotti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent H. Mariotti, of 29 Harrison st., Newton Highlands, and Natalie Grow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Grow of 767 Commonwealth ave., were named as Junior and Senior Durant Scholars respectively. Durant Scholars, named for the founder of the college, are awards for the highest scholastic standing for the past three semesters. Natalie has already received her Phi Beta Kappa key and last year was Junior Durant Scholar.

Flora is the recently elected head of Forum, the organization which integrates the extra-curricular activities of all students who are interested in any aspect of political, social, economic and international affairs. It includes such groups as the Debating, International Relations Clubs, and the American Student Union. As President of Forum Flora will direct its activities through a Board of eleven members. She is well qualified to hold the position for in 1938-39 she was on the Forum Board as representative of the League of Women Voters, and last year was Treasurer of the organization. This year she was admitted into Agora society, a group interested in the discussion of current affairs. Newton High passed into the realm of memories for Flora in 1937, but it now seems that it was merely a stepping stone for greater conquests.

Don Colony of West Newton, one of our featured collegians two weeks ago, has just been accorded another signal honor at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y. Claiming him to be interested in tennis was a gross understatement as recent developments indicate. Not only does Don participate, but he also plays the game for all it is worth. Recognition of his abilities came a few weeks ago when his mates elected him to captain the tennis team for the coming season. Bear with us, please, when we stoop to repetition in mentioning that he is a senior in the industrial course at Rensselaer.

The Dartmouth Indian is whooping it up once again, and this time it is over the recent Phi Beta Kappa elections held at the Hanover institution. Walter C. Kelley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Kelley of Newton Centre, a senior at Dartmouth, was one of seventeen undergraduates to be elected a member of the honorary scholastic society at a recent annual meeting and banquet of the local chapter.

Wait prepared at Lakewood High School in Lakewood, Ohio. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity and has participated in swimming while at college. Only this year he was awarded a Justin H. Smith Fund Scholarship which is given to students "distinguished for proficiency in studies, sound morals and physical health."

Claire Wilson of Eden ave., West Newton, and Richard Hoag of Waban, both students at Bates College, were among the 116 named on the honors list for the first semester at Bates, according to the announcement by President Clifton D. Gray in the Chapel exercises Wednesday morning.

Claire graduated from Newton High in 1938, while there she was active in club work and a member of the National Honor Society. At Bates we find her continuing her fine scholastic achievements as a sophomore. She has been named dean's list for three semesters and plays a mean bass viol for the MacFarlane Music Club.

Dick, who lives at 40 Fuller st. in Waban, graduated back in 1935 from the local high school. His first year in Maine he earned fresh numericals in track. Since then he has become an assistant in economics, assistant business manager of the Mirror, a member of the Polities Club, and an active participant in the Bates Christian Association.

More frozen facts about Bates students concern Marilyn Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Miller, 34 Lodge rd., a junior from the local suburb. She has just been named women's editor of the Buffoon, college humor publication, for the year just ahead. Membership on the staff augmented by frequent contributions, assured Marilyn of her new position. Other activities of the girl with the movie star's name include membership in the French and Latin Clubs. Marilyn is majoring in French and honestly hopes to teach upon her graduation next year.

Robert S. Shaw of 29 Central st., was made a member of Gridiron, honorary society of the undergraduate publications at the Mass. Inst. of Technology, at an initiation banquet Wednesday night. Bob, who was one of 11 students to be initiated, is thus honored for his outstanding work on Voo Doo, the student humor magazine. He is a sophomore in the biophysics and biological engineering course at the Institute and is a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

We are signing off until our vacation days edition next week.

Commemorative Stamp for Eliot

One of the series in commemorative stamps being issued by the U. S. Postoffice Department honors Charles W. Eliot, former president of Harvard University. The first of the "Eliot" stamps will be put on sale at the Cambridge postoffice on March 28. Postmaster General Farley will be present and present sets from the first block of these 3-cent stamps to Rev. Samuel A. Eliot, only surviving son of Charles W. Eliot; and to Charles W. Eliot, 3rd, a great-grandson of the famous educator. Many stamp collectors are preparing to have first-day covers, with an appropriate cachet, mailed from Cambridge on March 28, and these will bear a special postmark.

Print Shop Fire At Auburndale

A fire in the printing shop at 1838 Washington st., Auburndale, late Monday night caused damage estimated at $6000. The shop, located in a single residence zone, goes under the trade name of the Hutchinson Press and was operated by Anthony Delmonte at 303 Boylston st., Newton Centre. The second floor of the building was used by its owner, Mrs. Hattie Hutchinson, for the storage of antiques. The fire was discovered at 11:10 by Frank M. Cahill of 2084 Washington st., as he was driving by the place. The cause of the fire is not known.

NEWTON SMITH COLLEGE CLUB BENEFIT BRIDGE

Miss Esther Merchant of West Newton will have charge of a junior committee to assist at the bridge party to be held for the benefit of the Newton Smith College Club's scholarship fund, on Friday, March 29, at the Waban Neighborhood Club. The group consists of Miss Jane Hunting, Miss Marjorie Wormelle, Miss Eleanor Lord, the Misses Nancy and Sally Delano, and the Misses Helen and Sylvia Pierce. Mrs. F. Brittain Kennedy of West Newton and her committee have been active in the sale of tickets.

W. C. T. U.

The West Newton W. C. T. U. held their regular meeting on last Monday evening at the Walker Missionary Home in Auburndale. There was a large attendance and members responded to the roll call in prose and poetry. Plans were made to send Easter greetings to shut-in members. Also arrangements were made for the Covered Dish luncheon which is to be held on April 2 at 12:30 in the home of Mrs. Flora Weeks, 9 Higgins st., Auburndale.

Sunbeam Chats

My Dad says we're going to have an old-fashioned Easter this year with an egg hunt and all. I can hardly wait to see how many eggs I can find. But I know the first egg I'll find will be for my breakfast. I have one every day some way or other, Easter or no Easter.

Fined $50 For Drunken Driving

Charles E. Peterson of Wollaston was fined $50 in the Newton court on Monday for driving a car while under the influence of liquor. Patrolman Maguire testified that he observed Peterson driving a car near police headquarters and that one wheel on the car was wobbling and a headlight out. He said that Peterson admitted having collided with another car a few hours previously. Lieut. Moan and Patrolman Corcoran also testified that Peterson was under the influence of liquor. The defendant stated that he had only drunk one glass of liquor. Clifford C. Cobb of Washington St., Newton, whose car had been hit by that of Peterson, testified that he did not observe signs of drunkenness on the defendant.

Form New Men's Club At Newton Corner Church

On Monday evening, March 25th the men of the Newton parish will meet at the Eliot Congregational Church to form a Men's Club. The Organization Committee, formed a month ago with Thomas Cleveland as chairman, will report with a suggested Constitution and By-Laws. Officers for the first year will be elected. Buffet luncheon will be served after the meeting.

Edison Guild Cooking School Coming to Paramount Theatre

Manager G. E. VanBuskirk of the Paramount Theatre, Newton, announces another cooking school to the theatre starting March 27th, at the Wednesday matinee. The school is given through the courtesy of "Edison Guild Cooking School" of the Boston Edison Company.

This school will be under the direction of Miss Emma Maurice Tighe, Home Service Director of Boston Edison Co. since 1925, who previously was Director of Home Economics for a leading manufacturer of electric ranges. In the latter capacity she developed a knowledge of electric cookery and its application, which provided excellent background for entrance to the Boston Edison Company as Electric Range Adviser. With the development of the Home Service Division in 1928, Miss Tighe's duties became administrative and increasingly varied. Under her guidance the Boston Edison Home Service has grown to include a group of 23 women, largely trained home economists from colleges of household arts. It is the responsibility of these Boston Edison home service counselors to plan with Miss Tighe the cooking schools, which are conducted every business day before clubs, church and school gatherings, theatre audiences and other groups. Miss Tighe is looking forward to come to Newton with her assistant, to give her audience something new, something different, and the easy way of cooking with electricity. Remember the date, Wednesday, March 27, at 1 p. m. and for four Wednesdays to and including April 17th, 1940.

The regular picture program will follow immediately after the school without advance in prices.

Youthful Driver Wrecks Auto

Robert C. Lamb, 17, of 51 Oakland St., Auburndale, is a youthful and truthful driver who learned last Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock that he must concentrate on driving while operating an automobile. He lost control of the car he was driving on Washington St. near Court St., Newtonville. The car hit an Edison pole, the pole broke at its base and fell across the top of the car, badly damaging the automobile. The car travelled for some distance with the pole atop it. Neither the driver nor his father, Arthur Lamb, on whose license he was driving, were injured. The youth might have given various reasons for losing control of the car, but he told the truth. He said he was trying to light a cigarette when he lost control of the vehicle.

Folks Live Longer In Wealthy Places

If Brookline and Newton, the two wealthiest communities (per capita) in Massachusetts are any criterion, persons residing in wealthy districts live longer than those in less wealthy places. From 1929 reports Brookline has the largest percentage of persons over 10 years of age, and Newton is second. This accounts for the large percentage of deaths among Newton and Brookline residents from heart ailments and cerebral hemorrhages.

The report of the Newton Health Department for 1939 shows that 735 deaths occurred in Newton during that period and the death rate was 19.06. In 1938 there were 714 deaths in Newton and the rate was 9.8. The number of persons in Newton over 40 years of age has been gradually becoming larger. Conversely the birth rate in Newton is decreasing; last year it was only 11.6, the lowest in the records of the city. The principal causes of deaths in Newton during 1939 were—heart diseases, 249; cerebral hemorrhage, 75; cancer, 143; pneumonia, 64. There were no deaths from such communicable diseases as typhoid, diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles or whooping cough. The deaths caused by tuberculosis in Newton in 1939 were nearly double those of 1938.

During 1939 there were 859 babies born to mothers residing in Newton, and there were 14 stillbirths. Only 29 of these babies were born at home; 96.8 per cent having been born in hospitals; 420 in the Newton Hospital, and 424 in other hospitals. More deaths of infants from prematurity occurred in Newton in 1939 than during any of the four preceding years.

Thirteen persons died from injuries received in automobile accidents in Newton in 1939, as compared with 8 in 1938 and 16 in 1937. Of 65 persons killed by automobiles in this city the past 5 years, 18 were between 40 and 59 years of age, and 27 were over 60. Most of the latter were pedestrians.

Welch Brothers Are Pensioned

George Welch, 70, and Frank Welch, 66, veteran employees of the Street Department were retired on pensions last Saturday. The Welch brothers reside at 22 Cummings rd., Newton Centre. George had been in the employ of the city for 38 years, and Frank for 26 years. At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night $610.97 was appropriated to pay Frank's pension for the balance of this year, and $481.20 for George's pension.

Teachers' Night At Stearns School Centre

Monday evening, March 18th, teachers' night was held at the Stearns School Centre. A short recital was given by three pupils of the All Newton School of Music under the supervision of Virginia Kenway. Piano solos were rendered by Lavina Mayo, age seven, and Eula White, and violin solos by Miss Cleary.

The mothers and teachers had an interesting evening bringing both closer and gaining a greater understanding of both sides.

Refreshments were served and the mothers are looking forward to an evening of music later on in the season.

Interesting Collection of Coins at Newtonville Library

The Newtonville Public Library has currently on exhibit in its display cases at the new building at 345 Walnut st., an extremely interesting assortment of coins loaned by Doris Carley. This is the fifth in a series planned by Miss Dorothy C. Peters, Librarian.

In the South Case are displayed a group of U. S. 50c commemorative coins with a very instructive running comment on their historical background by Mr. Frederick Holmes of the Newton High School. Also shown in the South Case is a 50c piece of 1795, one of the earliest minted by the U. S. Government; a 50c piece of 1833, Liberty facing left, and a 50c piece of 1846 with Liberty seated; the famous commemorative Morse Medal, the only octagonal piece that the United States ever minted; a 25c piece which is the only U. S. coin minted with a foreign ruler's image on it, i. e., Isabella of England.

In the North Case are displayed such interesting things as Chinese porcelain money, English half farthing, Japanese oblong silver piece, the famous Lady Godiva Coventry half penny, a Roman coin used during the rule of Hadrian, a 20c piece being the first Philippine coin, a counterfeit half dollar and 25c piece (both broken in two pieces to comply with the law), a U. S. silver trade dollar specially minted to be acceptable in the Mexican and Chinese trade, the Widow's Mite from India, probably the smallest coin ever made, a State of Connecticut and one from the State of Massachusetts, a State of California 25c gold piece, a silver half dime, a U. S. 50c piece with the date 20 overstruck over the date 1819, and one with 18 overstruck over 1817.

There are also some U. S. coins of the type which most of the present generation have never seen and many never have heard of: 20c silver piece, 1875; 3c silver piece, 1871; nickel 3c piece, 1865; copper 2c piece, 1867; Eagle nickel cent, 1858; 1c piece, 1793 (the earliest date that any U. S. coin was minted); famous 50c piece, 1853 with arrows.

An interesting comparison is made of the size of our present cent compared with early U. S. cents, half cents and 2c pieces, and there is an English one penny (2 cents) which is equal in weight to the U. S. 18 cents.

I know something good about you

Wouldn't this old world be better
If the folks we meet would say,
"I know something good about you!"
And then treat us just that way?

Wouldn't it be fine and dandy,
If each handclasp warm and true
Carried with it this assurance,
"I know something good about you!"

Wouldn't life be lots more happy,
If the good that's in us all
Were the only thing about us
That folks bothered to recall?

Wouldn't life be lots more happy,
If we praised the good we see?
For there's such a lot of goodness
In the worst of you and me.

Wouldn't it be nice to practice
That fine way of thinking, too?
You know something good about me!
I know something good about you!

Recreation Comm. Holds Meeting

At the March meeting of the Newton Recreation Commission plans for the coming season were discussed. Several factors will necessitate careful planning and economy. The Recreation Department asked $37,233 for maintenance of playgrounds in 1940. The Mayor cut this amount by $1500 and the Aldermen, making a further cut, only appropriated $34,000. The total budget recommendations of the department were $97,975 and after cuts had been made by the Mayor and Aldermen the amount appropriated was $80,362. The department asked $32,000 for directors' salaries for this year. Mayor Goddard cut this to $30,000, and the Aldermen made a further reduction to $29,000. Although this is slightly more than was expended in 1939 ($28,183), the fact that the Civil Service Commission is insisting that seniority be recognized in the employment of playground directors in Newton will necessitate more employment to be given to directors in the higher wage brackets. It is expected, however, that by careful planning, this will not necessitate curtailment of playground activities.

Rang False Alarm, Must Pay $50 Fine

John J. Scarlet, 19, of 85 Crescent St., West Newton, was fined $50 in the Newton court on Monday by Judge Mayberry for pulling a false alarm. At 1:44 a. m. Sunday Box 3511 at Washington St. and Lucas St., West Newton, was pulled, and a few minutes later Scarlet was caught running on Elm St. by Patrolmen Cunningham, Leelan and O'Neill. They testified in court that when they asked him where he was running, he replied—"To the fire." Patrolman Maguire testified that just before he heard the siren on Engine 2 as it went toward the box that had been pulled, he saw Scarlet go along Washington St. and into Lucas court.

The contemptible practice of pulling false alarms has been on the increase in this city lately. Saturday night three were pulled; one at Upper Falls and two at Nonantum.

Burglary At Gas Station

The gasoline station at 1545 Washington St., West Newton, owned by Henry Barth was broken into Sunday night and $17 stolen from a desk.

Two boys broke into the sporting goods store of Arthur Rogan at 325 Washington St., Newton, on Sunday night and after considerable trouble obtained 9 cents in loot from the cash drawer. They first broke a pane of glass in a rear window, but could not raise the window. Then they forced open the transom over the rear door and wriggled through. A passerby observed them in the store and notified the police. The boys, however, had made their escape before the police arrived.

PHI SIGMA RHO PLANS DANCE

The last meeting of the Phi Sigma Rho Sorority was held at the home of Miss Fredede Littlefield, 117 Mt. Vernon St., Newtonville. Mrs. Metz, a representative of Beauty Councilor, spent part of the evening demonstrating the "Art of Makeup." The Sorority is announcing their Annual Spring Formal to be held April 6 at Woodland Country Club, in Auburndale. The dance committee: Rosetta Casperson, chairman, Emily Quimby, Betty Medbury, Lorrette Chandler, Patricia Cavanaugh, Barbara Bancroft, Marjorie Midgley and Louise Tardivel, are very fortunate in being able to obtain Vaughn Monroe and his orchestra of Ten Acres, in Wayland, as this is his first appearance on returning from the South. The newly elected officers of this Sorority are: Fredede Littlefield, president; Ruth Roffe, vice-president; Marjorie Dow, corresponding secretary; Marjorie Hesslein, recording secretary; Geraldine Graves, treasurer.

School Costs

of size, and location, even when those school systems are seeking identically the same high quality of educational program.

"One big factor is the nature of the city itself, its social and economic status, as well as the outlook of its people which makes demands for the type of school system, different. In communities where the typical citizen does not include among the necessities of life an extended program of formal schooling for himself or his children, there is no conspicuous demand for an extensive program of public education. Where the vast majority of citizens are willing to accept a 'subsistence level' of education, even though this subsistence type of education is not at all the type of education that their children should have, it is commonly accepted doctrine that those citizens for whom such a program is inadequate are expected to purchase education in private schools or neighboring public schools of high rank. There are communities in Massachusetts where for one reason or another, the greater number of children of school age are in private rather than public schools.

"Newton has a relatively high percentage of citizens who for social and economic reasons, make, and have a right to make, demands on the school program. These demands result in increased school costs which as a matter of wise public policy should be met.

"To illustrate to you how two cities which are comparable with respect to size and location may demand different programs of public education, may I contrast some social and economic differences between two cities such as Newton and another city which has been mentioned by others in previous discussions which I will designate as City A. My figures are taken from the published statistical abstract of the New England Council.

(a) Newton has 14 per cent of its employment concentrated in professional service. City A has 9 per cent. (The state less than 8 per cent). These citizens as a group can and will purchase elsewhere the kind of education they want for their children unless they can get it in the public school.

(b) Newton has 63 per cent of home-owning families against 53 per cent for City A. (The state 43 per cent). A higher percentage of home owners suggests that there is a larger permanent group of parents who will have a sustained interest in the quality of public education and whose children must be served for twelve consecutive years.

(c) Newton has more than twice the number of persons in City A having annual incomes in excess of $3,000 while Newton constitutes less than 2 per cent of the population of the state its citizens file more than 8 per cent of income tax returns in brackets over $3,000. From this group, preparation for college is an almost automatic demand which the school system must supply or fail to hold the children of a class of citizens whom not only the public school needs, but who need the public school.

To illustrate how differences in outlook of parents may necessitate consequent differences within a school program, Newton has about 65 per cent of its 9th grade pupils taking Algebra whereas City A has, according to its last School Report, 39 per cent taking this normally college preparatory subject.

"Another factor is the salary rate basis or schedule upon which teachers are paid, and since in Newton, 87 per cent of the total annual budget is spent through salaries for service, it is clear that the largest difference between the cost of operating schools in two communities of about the same size and location is to be found in this item. The salary schedule for educational employees in Newton has been in operation since 1925, except for certain minor changes and these have been, as far as the records show, largely downward rather than upward. This schedule is not the highest in Massachusetts; in a number of other communities it is higher in all brackets; and in many communities, I can name a dozen, which several classifications are paid at a higher rate. If we turn again to City A, there is a decided difference in the schedule upon which that city is paying its teachers and the one upon which Newton has operated for the last 15 years. For the fiscal year 1938, for example, the average salary in Newton was $2,230.76. In City A, it was $1,966.64.

"If we accept the cost of rent and home ownership as proper indices of variation in cost of living it would seem that if we want our teachers to be contributing citizens of our community, this differential is justified by facts, for in Newton the median monthly rental is $8.62 as against the median monthly rental of $5.74 for City A, while the median value of owned homes in Newton is in round figures $12,000 as against $7,000, as the median value of the owned home in City A.

"But by far the greatest advantage which we get from this differential of $300.00 would seem to be educational.

- (1) Increased bargaining power in attracting able and well equipped teachers (brains and personality).
- (2) Ability to attract exceptionally able teachers of successful experience from other communities.
- (3) Increased holding power of those able teachers through their years of highest productivity and skill. (65 per cent at maximum salaries because they have found Newton a good place in which to work and to live.)
- (4) A higher per cent of Liberal Arts trained and better educated people on the secondary level.
- (5) A larger proportion of men teachers on all grade levels at larger salaries and maximums than are paid women, and the demand and need of this community for men teachers on all grade levels is a very pressing one. (Newton 107 to City A's 82).

"In this connection I cannot help emphasizing my conviction, and I believe yours, that the most influential single factor in good education is the teacher whom we place in the classroom in direct contact with our children.

"Another feature, and this time it is a geographical one, that has made the cost of education high in Newton among the cities of the state is the relative density of school population. Not only has Newton 1.4 square miles greater total area than has City A, she has nearly 1000 persons fewer per square mile. This means in terms of providing school housing for the school population, the necessity of organizing smaller units for elementary and junior high school pupils than would be the case if the city were compactly built and congested into small areas which provided reasonable distances from homes to the school center. If, as was pointed out two weeks ago, larger units could be organized, marked economies could be made in size of personnel, in quantity of school supplies and in expense of operation and maintenance of school buildings.

"It is a fact that the school population is decreasing. In the period 1936-1939 Newton's total enrollment decreased 3.3%, although some cities have approached this figure in a single year. While our total enrollment was showing this decrease, our secondary school enrollment was actually increasing 5.3%. This increase at the more expensive level of education has not, as yet, offset the decrease on the elementary level, where the cost of instruction is less. In the decade 1929-1939, the population of the city went up 10%, school costs went up 20%, and the secondary school population went up 56%.

"The limits of time do not permit me to give the facts on all the elements that enter into the costs of education in Newton. There is only one more on which I shall dwell and that is the matter of differing and improved services that different communities demand to meet changing times and needs of their own people.

"Since 1893 Kindergartens have been an integral part of the Newton school system, and Newton over the years has had to pay for these Kindergartens. City A and many other communities do not have Kindergartens. The cost for this service last year amounted to $6,500. In other years the cost has been much larger, because there were many more young children to serve. Those who have had children in our Kindergartens, those who have seen these schools in operation and have tested the value of them to their children as they enter the elementary grades would be reluctant to see them discarded, on the grounds that they constitute an unnecessary expense.

"Improved services over the years have been instituted because it was discovered there was a need for them, and by and large for no other reasons. They have included classes for handicapped children, lip reading and sight saving, instruction in remedial reading, the development of a better program of instruction for those students who do not go to college, but who are continuing through to graduation from high school or trade school, the more adequate provision for those who will go to college in the face of increasing competition and difficulty of getting into college today, the problem of placement and guidance.

"I am quite aware as I mention some of these services that do not touch you as individuals, perhaps would not touch the needs of your family, that you may question their value and the necessity for them.

"Without attempting to explain any of them, it is certain that a survey of expert opinion would find that in these services for pupils and parents lies the difference between just a school system and a good school system, for in these services is found the ability of the schools to meet much more efficiently and adequately the needs of all the children, the normal and the abnormal, the superior and the handicapped. Your child may be one of these defective or he may not be. Among 12,000 there are bound to be many for whom special provision must be made, and when the number in one group becomes large enough, the state or your local school committee is forced to take some action which shall provide for this special group a different kind of program than is required for the normal child.

"When you as a parent come to the school about a problem that your boy is faced with, you are concerned about the welfare and progress of just one person, your own child; you have not come out of concern, unless you are a very extraordinary person, for 12,000 children of Newton. You expect the school to recognize this one, your son, as an individual and to give you and him some help in the problem of his growth and education. (You expect the same thing when you go to your physician about his personal health.)

"Much of the time and energy of our schools and school people is spent in response to the demand for service for John or Mary as an individual. Eliminate these services and you save some money, but your schools are unable to do for your boy or your girl the thing that desperately needs doing for him to enable him to proceed normally, and adjust himself to the world he's got to live in. Your school which does not have these services ceases to be a human institution and becomes a factory which turns out a product to be sure, but a product that is definitely inferior to what it could be if the school could give that boy the guidance and practical help he needs in overcoming the obstacles that stand in the way of his academic and social success as an individual.

"Of such a nature is the character of these improved services that have made their appearance not during the last few years, but during the history of the Newton schools. Their immediate cost may seem high (it is actually relatively low when compared with the cost of teaching the three R's and the academic subjects which still constitute the major part of the curriculum) but in terms of the job, that is the schools in helping to build well-adjusted, happy and successful men and women, it is a cost that this community has so far felt it must assume. I hope we have not reached the point where Newton is willing to drop this responsibility, which up to now has been her greatest pride and boast.

"I have tried to show you the facts regarding the pupil enrollment, about teachers' salaries, about some of the special services, about the problem faced in this community of a widely scattered population. I have not mentioned the school building program which, whether right or wrong, your Board of Aldermen and School Committee have gone ahead in modernizing and improving over a period of years. All these and many more are factors which have caused increasing rather than decreasing costs of education in this city. I am impelled to turn your attention for a moment to trends in budgets and I shall do this by showing you a graph. Since 1924 the school budget has shown an average annual increase of $54,146, due principally to increased enrollment. With the exception of 1935, at which time the salary cuts of 1933 were restored, each year since 1932 has shown a decline in the budget increase over the preceding year. Despite the fact that the total enrollment did not start to decline until 1937, and then by only three-tenths of one per cent, the increases since 1932 have been below the average for the period 1924 to 1939. In 1939 the budget decreased $44,394 from the preceding year. This year shows further decrease from 1939. Your School Committee is acutely aware of the problem, gentlemen, of the need for economy, but it is also aware of its responsibility for running a decent program of education.

"In all this discussion it seems to me that I have said very little about the many evidences that:

- (1) The Newton schools have always attracted a high-grade citizenry to make their homes among us, because they want for their children the kind of schools we have;
- (2) The school system is well and favorably known throughout the country and the world;
- (3) The schools are visited by as many educators in the course of a year as any public school system in America;
- (4) The schools are basically doing an effective job in teaching children to read, to write and to figure, and to prepare for living useful and successful lives;

"The evidences of the truth of these statements are to be found not only in objective data and records in the School Department, but in the records of our college entrance, in the records of job placement, and in the achievement of the majority of our students wherever they go and whatever they do.

"The costs of operating schools in Newton can be cut by any amount that it is necessary to cut them at any time, but as far as I know there are only three ways in which this can be done:

- (1) Decreasing salaries with its attendant loss of morale, and quality of teacher that can be attracted to Newton;
- (2) Increasing the size of classes, though that will be difficult;
- (3) Decreasing the services rendered, though that breaks down the very effectiveness of the program;

"But the question is more than that of just keeping schools going. Fundamentally, it is whether Newton is to be satisfied with an education on a 'subsistence' or minimum essential level, or whether it is to provide the kind of schools it needs and can afford."

Brighton Youths
Newton Autos

On Thursday night, March 14, a car owned by Lillian Cohen of 393 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, was stolen while parked in front of that address. The keys were in the car. Last Friday afternoon two State police observed the stolen car on the Newburyport turnpike at Peabody and pursued it. The chase lasted for 10 miles along the heavily travelled pike, and the speed at times reached 55 miles an hour. At Lynnfield the pursued car skidded and tipped over and the two youths in it were captured. They were two Brighton High School students, Robert Warriner, 17, of 116 Warren st., Brighton, and Edgar DeAbre, 16, of 11 Coburn rd., Brighton. Lieut. Crowley and Serg. Bannon of the Newton police brought the pair to Newton police headquarters. Because of an arbitrary law which prohibits the placing of persons under 17 in cells, DeAbre was not so confined, and he escaped from the building, not returning to his home. Warriner was arraigned in the Newton court on Saturday and his case continued until March 22.
DeAbre, on the night of Jan. 14, toured Brighton, Brookline and Chestnut Hill in a stolen car with George Bennett, 17, of Boston, and who formerly resided in Brighton. The pair snatched handbags from several women, including one from Annie

House Damaged By Broken Water Pipe

Tuesday afternoon the Telephone Company notified Newton police headquarters that the telephone in the home of Robert Lehnert at 17 Lancaster rd., Newton indicated that something was wrong at that house. The Lehnerts have been in Florida the past few weeks. Inspector Joseph Lyons went to the house and with difficulty forced an entrance into it. He found water had flowed down through the house from a broken pipe in the attic. Walls, ceilings and furniture was ruined or damaged. Much water was in the cellar and Lyons was unable to find the water meter, but he closed a shut-off in the cellar. Employees of the Water Department came and found the meter concealed under a bench in the playroom. Apparently the water was not shut off when the occupants went on their Florida trip and a cold spell had frozen a pipe and burst it. Lehnert's office in Boston was notified.

Fined $25 For Reckless Driving

In the Newton court on Wednesday Judge Mayberry fined Edward Harris of Durant rd., Wellesley $25 for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. On February 6 a car driven by Harris skidded when he applied the brakes as he approached a red signal light on the turnpike at Dudley rd. His car hit a car driven by Maurice Hussey of Pontiac rd., Waban, which had stopped at the signal. Hussey claimed to have received an injury.
In court on Wednesday Judge Allen found Harriet Wolfe of 1165 Commonwealth ave., Allston not guilty of driving so as to endanger. A car driven by her was in collision on Ward st., Newton Centre with a car driven by William Walker, Jr. of Park place, Newtonville. Several girls riding in Miss Wolfe's car claimed to have received injuries.

"What's In a Name?" Telephone Official Explains

Next November three central offices in Newton will be reborn, under the names of BIGelow, LAsell and DECatur, when all of the telephones in Newton begin to operate from the Crossbar Dial Exchange now under construction on Washington st., Newtonville, just across the street from the location of the original "Newtonville" of 1881. Three baby offices they are, among nearly 800 old timers serving the people of New England. Choosing names for the newcomers ble name was given consideration, and then the process of elimination started. Experts went over the list, striking out those names which obviously were not suitable. For instance, one-syllable names were eliminated at the start because they give a operator name when it is given by a customer. Multiple syllables in an office name are more easily recognized. Names, such as Waban, that sounded like has caused more thought, experiment, testing, research and study than most mothers and fathers give to picking a name for their offspring. Choosing a new office name is not a matter of simply calling a family conference and telling Aunt Cynthia quite firmly that "this baby is going to be named after his father." There are conferences, many of them, but they come only after months of name testing by hundreds of operators and Traffic Engineers. When the final conference is held, it is likely that the choice will be so narrow that making the final selection will be as simple as choosing between tea and coffee at lunch.

those of existing offices, which could easily be confused with Woburn or Auburn, would not do. Obvious confusions with a present dial office such as ENDicott with EMERson were eliminated and the resulting list was ready for further slenderizing.

The standard dial used in Boston and in all large cities has 10 finger holes. Under the first nine holes are the figures 1 to 9 and under the last hole, 0.

There are three letters associated with eight of the figures. The "0" is reserved for dialing "Operator" and the "1" is never used in office names because an accidental jog of the switch-hook would have the same

New Exchange Under Construction

In the case of Newton, there were three names to be chosen, and the Metropolitan Division Traffic Engineers started early last year to select names that might be used when the new Metropolitan Area Directory is issued next November.

First, a list of all possible names was compiled. It was a long list, in this case containing 1,440 names after the one-syllable names were eliminated. Every available source of information contributed a share. Names were taken from King's "Handbook of Newton," written in 1889 from public schools and other schools and colleges, from parks, railroad stations and streets. City records were consulted to obtain names of former mayors, members of the first Common Council, first school committee and other officials prominent in Newton's early history. A map of Newton in 1700 and a historical sketch by the Rev. S. F. Smith in 1873 yielded others. One of our traffic employees spent days in the Newton Library and cemeteries searching for other names which might be appropriate to the new offices. Then a list of famous Americans was added. Every possieffect as dialing "1." The figure "1" is used in dialing several codes, however, such as 211 for Long Distance, 411 for Information and 611 for Repair Service.

While a name, or rather, the first three letters of a name, combined with a number is used because this arrangement is more easily remembered by telephone users than a long series of numbers, dial equipment in central offices does not recognize either letters or numbers as such—only electrical impulses. Thus, when the letters HAN in Hancock are dialed, the dial equipment does not transmit "Han" but a number of impulses corresponding to the figures which are under those letters on the dial—in this case 426. The first three letters of every office name make up a code whose key can be found on every dial in the Metropolitan division. Here it is:

| ABC | DEF | GHI | JKL |
| 2 | 3 | 4 | 5 |
| MNO | PRS | TUV | WXY |
| 6 | 7 | 8 | 9 |

Using this key, each name which was suggested for the new offices was coded. And then the real elimination began. No names which produced a code similar to any other within a 25-cent calling area of Boston could be used. Also, since "Q" and "Z" are not used, any names containing these letters must be stricken from the list.

Names with the first three letters the same as existing office names cannot be used, such as Kensington which conflicts with Kenmore. If the first three letters of Emerson, EME, are dialed, a numerical code of 363 is actually transmitted. ENDicott has the same numerical code, so Emerson could not be used.

For this reason Medford was changed to MYSTic several years ago to avoid conflict with NEEDham. WINchester has the same code, 946, as Winthrop, so Winthrop was changed to OCEan. Other conflicts developed. Faneuil, a very appropriate name for an office serving the market district of Boston, has not been used as there is a Faneuil Station in Brighton. A glance at the portion of the list shown on this page shows clearly why certain names could not be used.

By the time that the coding and analysis were completed, the original list of nearly 1,500 names was reduced to a shadow. Names with a "Y" used as a vowel, such as Byfield which might be spelled Bifield, names such as Dearborn which could be spelled Dearborn, or McKinley which could be confused with Mackinley, were all eliminated. Names beginning with Saint or Mount were undesirable as customers might be uncertain whether to dial ST or SAI, MT or MOU.

Names having an "O" or "I" for the third letter, while not taboo, are seldom used as there is considerable chance of dialing error in changing from the letter "O" to the figure "0," or from the letter "I" to the figure "1" when dialing. At present, such as Hyde Park and East Boston, no new names of a similar character are used.

One might think that by this time nothing remained to be deleted, but there was more to come. Names similar to other office names, even in a distant state, are undesirable. With the wide use of Long Distance, it is bad enough to have a Franklin in Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts without adding another one in Newton. Care must be taken to avoid the confusion that is caused by the similarity in sound of "K" and "C" or "C" and "S".

After such microscopic examination and after meeting such rigid specifications, it is a wonder that any names survive. But in the case of the Newton possibilities, 20 were left. And what a raking over they took!

An exacting phonetic test was the next step. The 20 possibilities were included with 750 other names in a test list. This list included all of the names in the Metropolitan Division, many A-B Toll points and any names which might be confused with the possibilities. One hundred and fifty lists were sent to exchanges in different parts of our company's territory for testing. In each case operators read the list over the telephone to other operators who recorded their understanding of the words. In this way each of the possibilities was tested over a thousand times. During tests of the Newton possibilities one name, Lawndale, was mistaken 52 times for Longdale, and was also recorded as Lonsdale, Longwood, Lawrence, Glendale, Blondale, Blondale and Londale.

Each color was composed of girls from the four junior high schools. Each girl on the winning team, which was blue, received a chevron.

The assembly was planned for this week by Miss Hincley, the art teacher. Jacqueline Hervey, of Grade VIII, presided. The sound film, "We Are All Artists," produced by the Harmon Foundation which received its idea from Mr. Alon Bement was presented. Although an artist himself, Mr. Bement was interested in promoting the production of beauty in industrial fields. The picture brought out many underlying principles.

Between Parts I and II of the movie, Jacqueline interviewed Miss Elliott, the director of art. Questions sent in during the week by pupils were answered by her.

LOOK AT THE DIFFERENCE...

TED BORROWED $360 when he bought his car. He paid it back in 12 equal monthly installments. It cost him $57.50 in charges, figured at 14%—the estimated average rate for small loans and installment purchases—including interest, investigation and insurance charges.

IT COST HIM $31.21 more

HARRY SAVED $360 before he bought his car. He put the money in the bank in 12 equal monthly deposits. The bank paid him $3.91—2% interest, the minimum annual dividend rate paid by any Mutual Savings Bank in Massachusetts.

IT COST HIM $31.21 less

WHAT will those extra dollars buy? A different model or make, a radio or other accessories, or a good supply of gasoline for some time to come. Just see how much better it is to set aside a regular amount each month—and be paid interest—than to pay out the same sum regularly—and not only lose that interest, but pay additional interest as well.

Yes, it's far wiser to save before, and not after, you spend. Open an account in your nearest Mutual Savings Bank. Then you'll be ready and able to buy more for your money.

Young Thief Sent To Shirley School

John Rourke, 17, whose home address is not known, was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday on three charges of larceny, and he was sent to the Shirley Reform School. Last week Rourke stole a truck in Newton and while operating it collided with a Boston Elevated bus on Western ave., North Brighton. For this offence he was arraigned in the Brighton court, and given a three months' suspended sentence. Newton police then took him in custody on the larceny charges. From two houses in Newton where he had roomed, he had stolen watches. From a third house he had stolen two children's banks containing $11.50.

Women's Club Activities

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Music And Club History For President's Day

President's Day will be observed by the Community Service Club of West Newton on Wednesday afternoon, March 27th, at 2 o'clock, in the Parish House of the Second Church. Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, will honor the Club with an official visit on that day. Other guests of honor will be Mrs. William F. Leach, Twelfth District director; Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs; and Mrs. Arthur G. Hosmer, the first president of the Community Service Club.

The meeting will open with the singing by all present of "God Save America", under the leadership of Mrs. Marion Kingsbury, musical director of the Club Choral Society. Following this, Mrs. Leslie Pratt Phinney, president of the Club, will preside at the business meeting, and will introduce the special guests, each of whom will bring greetings from her department. The officers and members of the Club will be especially happy on this occasion to welcome the first president and the Club historian, Mrs. Hosmer, who is well qualified to review the past twenty years during which the Community Service Club has been a vital force in charitable, social, and intellectual activities of the community.

A special musical treat has been prepared by the Program chairman, Mrs. Hortense Creede Rallsback, who will present, Mariam Burroughs, an American Violinist of first rank, and Mary Humphrey Tower, well-known Concert Pianist, and a past president of the Community Service Club. Both of these musicians are recognized in their special field, so that an afternoon of high musical artistry is assured.

Following the program, tea will be served in the Ladies Parlor by Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader, Tea hostess, and her committee.

Committee Sponsors Guest Night, With Attractive Subject

"Keeping Out of the Ruts of Stagnation" is the arresting subject of a talk to be given before the members of the American Home Group of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Thursday evening, March 28th, in Bragdon Hall, Lasell Junior College.

This meeting, which is the Annual Guest Night of the committee, will be in charge of the chairman, Mrs. Lysecomb Bruce, and at 8 o'clock she will introduce J. Alexander Magoun, Professor of Humanities at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Magoun spoke before this group recently, and was so thoroughly enjoyed that he was urged to make a return engagement.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the program. Guests are welcome at the usual fee.

Talk and Exhibit Of Early Glass

Those who have been privileged to visit the antique shop at Harwichport conducted by Mabel Read Surprize are looking forward to the next meeting of the Newton Community Club, on Thursday, March 28th, in the Underwood School Hall, where Mrs. Surprize will speak on "Early American Glass".

Mrs. Surprize has a wonderful collection of glass, and, besides being a collector, has written numerous articles on this intriguing subject, among them a series which appeared in the Boston Transcript not long ago. Mrs. Surprize will have many of her own pieces to illustrate her talk, and members are invited to bring their own pieces for discussion and, if possible, identification. It is hoped that many members will bring glass to make the talk and exhibit even more interesting.

The Newton Community Club heard Professor J. Anton De Haas at the meeting March 14th, in the Underwood School Auditorium. Before he discussed his subject "The Economic Effects of the War", he spoke of the horrible peace inflicted on Finland, and blasted the Allies for not coming to its aid, saying that it may turn out that the Allies through this peace may have lost the opportunity to shut off supplies from reaching Germany through the Balkan States.

Professor De Haas gave as his opinion that the United States will lose much of its trade, especially with France and England, as countries naturally will trade with those countries who are borrowing from them. As an example of this he mentioned the large loan that Great Britain had made to Turkey. Consequently, instead of American tobacco, which is greatly preferred, he said that Great Britain is buying Turkish tobacco. Also, that at the present time Great Britain is buying quantities of beef from the Argentine. Altogether he painted rather a dismal picture of the United States being able to sell to other countries only those things which those countries are unable to get elsewhere, which would result in a vast overproduction here after the war, he thought.

At the business meeting preceding Professor De Haas' talk, the president, Mrs. Wallace Wales, called attention to the Exhibition of Paintings by the Art chairman, Mrs. Gustaf A. Peterson, as well as the beautiful screen on the platform, and announced a Food Sale in progress in an adjoining room.

Home chairman, asked Club members to bring their old glass pieces to the next Club meeting. The speaker, Mrs. Surprize, will be willing to identify any piece of which a member may be doubtful. Mrs. Secord will see that owners are assisted in getting their treasures to the meeting if they will get in touch with her.

Officer McEnaney gave a short talk on "Safety" at the request of the Safety Council, quoting statistics showing the rise and fall of accidents and fatalities in Newton.

Mr. Joseph Antonelli sang a group of songs, accompanied at the piano by his wife, a Club member. Mr. Antonelli has a very pleasing tenor voice which was greatly enjoyed by the audience, and after his group he responded with an encore.

Professor De Haas, who came as a speaker through the courtesy of the Newton Trust Company, was introduced to the Club by Mrs. Albert Hutchinson, of the Woman's Advisory Board of the Trust Company.

At the tea table, which was arranged by Mrs. Ernest Foley and Mrs. Thomas W. Emerson, were Mrs. Frank H. Briggs, Mrs. Alfred H. Handley, Mrs. Harry L. Walden, and Mrs. Edwin Briggs. Sandwiches, made by Mrs. William Burnett and her committee, and coffee were served following the meeting.

Conference Topic To Be "Work of White Cross"

An afternoon of music was the feature at the meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, March 12th, in the Club House.

Before the program, the president, Mrs. Austin Fisher, held the usual business meeting, and this included a report of the Nominating committee, read by Mrs. Clinton Elwell, the slate to be voted upon at the Annual Meeting in April.

A report of the recent Bridge which the Education committee gave was read by the chairman, Mrs. Guy M. Winslow. She stated that a little over $100 was netted which will be added to the Scholarship Fund. This is always given to an Auburndale girl, and this year's recipient is studying nursing, and will soon be admitted to the Newton Hospital.

A change in the program scheduled for the next meeting of the several committees which sponsor the monthly Friday Conferences was made by Mrs. Herman Krueger, who announced that a representative from the White Cross organization would speak at 11 o'clock, Friday, March 29th. This will be in the Club House as usual. The program had been listed as a Round-Table discussion, but the various committees felt that the work of this organization was not always understood, and the speaker will answer questions.

A Sale of Books will be held at the next meeting of the Club on Tuesday, March 26th, the proceeds to be the Club's donation to the Bookmobile which the State Federation of Women's Clubs is sponsoring. The chairman of the Literature committee, Mrs. Paul Tardivel, is in charge, and she asked that all who had books which had been read, and with which the owner was willing to part, be

After the business meeting, Mrs. Fisher turned the program over to the chairman of the Music committee, Mrs. George D. deGrasse, who presented the Litwin Trio: George Litwin, Violinist; Arthur Winograd, Cellist, and Leo Litwin, Pianist. From one of Haydn's works, they played his Allegro, Andante, and Presto, in C Major, and followed these with the two old airs arranged by Fritz Kreisler, "Nina" and "London-derry Air."

There was a short intermission, after which the Trio played Allegro Moderato, Andante, and Poco Mosso, Scherzo-Allegro, and Rondo-Allegro Vivace, all by Schubert.

"Current International Interests" is the topic which Prof. J. Anton De Haas has chosen for his talk before the members of the Auburndale Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, March 26th.

Prof. De Haas will be introduced by Mrs. Howard P. Converse, one of the members of the Women's committee connected with the Newton Trust Company. It is through the courtesy of this organization that the speaker comes to the Club.

There will be the usual business meeting at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Austin Fisher presiding, and Prof. De Haas will speak at 3.

Following the program, tea will be served by Mrs. Raymond Perkins, assisted by members of her Hospitality committee.

OUR LADY HIGH FIVE REACHES SEMI-FINALS OF CATHOLIC TOURNEY

The Our Lady High school basketball team, runners-up to Cathedral High in the Greater Boston Catholic High School league race, reached the semi-final round of the New England Catholic basketball tournament at the Arena last Friday afternoon by defeating St. Joseph's high of Manchester, N. H., by a score of 32 to 27. In the semi-final round on Saturday afternoon the local team were the victims of the high-scoring De LaSalle Academy five of Newport, R. I., eventual tournament champions, by a two to one margin of 52 to 26. Saturday evening, playing in the consolation round, Our Lady high was again vanquished being on the short end of a 35 to 26 count against St. Peter's high of Worcester.

In its first-round victory a last-period surge, after St. Joseph's had tied the count, brought success. Our Lady High stayed out front by scores of 4-3, 15-12, 21-16 at the end of the first three periods, respectively, only to see their opponents tie the count at 27-27 all with a few minutes to play. Five Newton points, three by Marco Marino, Our Lady left guard, sewed up the verdict. The other two points were foul throws by Captain Tony Grella and John Gerity. John Cronin, high scorer for the season in the Boston league, again led his team with 11 points although forced out in the third period on personal fouls.

The De LaSalle-Our Lady game provided a new tournament scoring mark with the Rhode Island academy exceeding by one point the old figure of 51 points. Murphy, Our Lady centre, was the Newton five's leading scorer with 9 points while Cronin was held to but one point.

In the evening game Our Lady high stayed on the heels of St. Peter's for three periods, the score at the end of each being, 9-11, 17-19, 25-28. In the final session the Worcester team outscored the Newton five 10 to 1 to build up its winning margin. Cronin again found his eye to lead the locals with 8 points.

The Our Lady high team was awarded the Bishop Cushing trophy for sportsmanship and Marco Marino was named a guard on the all-tournament team.

Aldermen Pass City Budget of $5,222,222.37 of this department will be made. Alderman Hughes said it is about time that the School Committee take off their coats and pare down costs. Alderman Rawson said that budgets of the other departments are carefully analyzed, but the School Department budget contains but 5 items and does not tell us much. He said our schools are costing too much and he hopes the survey will show how money can be saved. Alderman Cronin asked who will make this survey, how much will it cost, and will the Aldermen have anything to say on these matters?

Alderman Cronin said he has received many protests about the sale of horses by the Street Department and there is a difference of opinion as to the alleged savings which will result. He argued that there have been too drastic reductions in the Street Department budget when so many streets need repairs after the ravages of the past winter. Alderman Jamieson replied that the budget makes proper allowance for the maintenance and repair of the streets. Alderman Fahey objected to the reduction in the item for the care of sidewalks. Alderman Hoffman criticized the accounting methods of the Street Department. He said the cost of collecting garbage is too high, and the cost of collecting rubbish astounds him when one considers that with oil being used largely instead of coal for fuel, the amount of ashes has greatly decreased. He also asserted that the cost of the garage of this department is too high. Alderman Jamieson replied by saying that it is desired to keep the trucks and other equipment in good condition, that the garbage collection contract will not expire until next September, and there has been a 10 per cent reduction in the cost of collecting rubbish.

This Tuesday night's concert will also present Hadley's "Song of the Marching Men," John Hyatt Brewer's arrangement of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Protheroe's thrilling song "The Pilot," and will fittingly close with Liszt's arrangement of Schubert's "The Omnipotence."

The city of Newton with its many communities possesses in the Highland Glee Club an organization of over one hundred men with an unusual unifying power in its personnel, its spirit and its superb direction. Its audiences are deservedly large and enthusiastic.

Dentists Can't Use City Property

In the annual report of the Newton Dental Society, issued on Tuesday, Dr. William Jones, president, states that the plan to provide dental care for persons of small incomes by having a dental clinic at City Hall, could not be placed in operation because it had been learned that it is illegal to use city property for dental work by persons not in the employ of the city. It was planned to have such work done on adults teeth and a charge of $3 per hour made. The clinic work on adults would be performed after the dental clinic for children at City Hall. The report states that efforts are being made to overcome this obstacle.

Aldermen Take Credit For Work Toward Economy

Alderman Donald McKay, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen read a statement at the meeting of the Board last Monday night which expressed his feelings and those of his fellow aldermen relative to the Newton Taxpayers' Association. The statement is gently satirical in that it reveals that the Board of Aldermen during the past four years took the initiative in recommending and working for certain moves toward municipal economy, credit for which has been assumed the past year by the Taxpayers' Association. Alderman McKay's statement follows:

The report of the Finance Committee presented to you tonight has been in process of preparation during the last few weeks. Its final form was completed Saturday prior to our reading a press release from the Taxpayers Association. The texts are so similar, that it is gratifying to learn we see eye-to-eye. Last Wednesday evening the Finance Committee interpreted the budget to ten of the thirty-five directors of the Association, and outlined much of this report. We were disappointed that twenty-five directors did not accept our invitation. But the answer I think is the remark of one who said, "We have such confidence in the aldermen that it seems unnecessary to tell them what to do." That is indeed flattery, but the Association can be of real help in giving us moral support and encouragement in resisting pressure groups and in crystallizing public opinion. And as part of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations it can have great influence in the larger State problems. We wish them success in building a large and influential membership. I am told that all the aldermen are members. In the coming campaign for members the Association will have our hearty support.

From 1936 report "We believe that money could be saved for the city in purchasing of supplies as well as motor equipment if this were done through our central agent and recommend that a study be made with this in view."

From 1937 report "More aggressive effort should be made to dispose of real estate that has come into the hands of the city through tax title foreclosures or otherwise, and thus turn this slow asset into cash." And quoting further from the 1937 report in discussing welfare and unemployment: "We believe that the entire situation requires much thought and we suggest that a plan be considered by which a person connected with this department should devote his entire time to finding work in private industries for those now on city relief." And again in 1937 reference was made to the 1936 report already quoted "The Committee last year recommended that consideration be given to the creation of an office of 'Purchasing Agent' for the city. . . . We again recommended that a study be made of this problem."

From 1938 report "We endorse a balanced budget on the pay-as-you-go principle. By that we mean as far as can be foreseen, all anticipated expenses for the fiscal year be included in the budget. If there are uncertainties, that a reserve be set up to the amount believed ample within the limit permitted by law. In Newton the maximum is about $75,000—1½% of the previous year's expenditures." That would be about $84,000 at present time. And again from 1938 report: "That pending the re-establishment of a Department of Public Works—that an expert be engaged to make a study of those departments commonly grouped under that heading, namely—street, water, buildings and engineering to the end of increasing efficiency and reducing expenses."

From 1939 report: "We reiterate what has been said many times regarding budgetary control. Department heads must be required not only to keep accurate accounts of commitments, but must keep the comptroller advised."

All the foregoing have been championed in the past year by the Taxpayers' Association. We commend its wisdom and discernment in adopting our pioneer studies. They have been so thoroughly adopted that our parenthood is overlooked. The birth records are however in the City Clerk's files. Our Mayor was a signer of three of those annual reports. The present finance committee has two members who signed the 1936-7 reports, four who signed the 1938 report and five who signed the 1939 report. And if I recall correctly the Board of Aldermen unanimously adopted all the reports.

Tennihan Girl Goes To Sherborn

Frances Tennihan, 19, of 110 Boylston st., Upper Falls, was adjudged a stubborn child by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Thursday and ordered sent to Sherborn Prison for Women. Her father, William Tennihan, who made the complaint against the girl, and her mother, Mrs. Eva Small, will appear in court next Thursday to answer a morals charge. While testifying against his daughter, Tennihan revealed that he and his former wife, the Small woman, have been living together although they were divorced several years ago. The mother has been married seven times.

The Commissioners of Middlesex County have admitted the validity of our reasoning, and have put into effect as of January 1st a slightly higher daily rate—raising it from $1.50 to $1.75. This falls far short of what seems to be the cost of caring for patients, but a committee of County Commissioners has been appointed to investigate the subject fully, and we shall await its findings with interest. Refusal by Newton to pay the assessment would cause Middlesex County to default on a note due in April. We have the satisfaction of having brought to light a misinterpretation of the statutes, which it is expected will be rectified. For the past several years Newton and the other cities and towns have paid the assessments without protest. It would be difficult to effect a retroactive adjustment.

But unwillingness on the part of State and County officials to comply with the letter of the law during this current year can be met with a refusal to pay the next assessment. The County is given fair warning that it will not be our responsibility in 1941 if it finds itself in an embarrassing situation. The Finance Committee has had the advice and counsel of the City Solicitor.

Alderman Colby, who refused to vote to pay the assessment levied on Newton for this hospital said that while some communities have been paying far less per patient than the cost per patient, more communities have been paying far more than their share, and that Newton is over assessed $15,000. He said the increase in the day rate made by hospital officials is only 25 cents; from $1.50 to $1.75 and does not indicate a proper change of attitude. He contended that the refusal of the hospital officials to fix a proper per diem rate for patients illegally taxes some communities for the benefit of other communities.

Aldermen Confirm Holden Assessor

Ex-Alderman Sydney P. Holden of Oxford rd., Newton Centre, was made a member of the Newton Board of Assessors on Monday night when the Board of Aldermen by a vote of 18 to 1 confirmed Mayor Goddard's appointment of Holden as an assessor. The position carries an annual salary of $3000. Holden, who will succeed the late John R. Prescott, had been in the real estate business at Newton Centre for many years.

Early Morning Fire At Newton Centre

Mrs. John B. Harris of 128 Warren st., Newton Centre, was awakened at 5:40 Thursday morning by smoke. A fire had started in a bedroom which was occupied by her two sons who had departed nearly an hour earlier to work on newspaper routes. She aroused her husband and they rescued the pet dog of the family from the blazing bedroom. Firemen from Engines 3 and 9 and Ladder 2 confined the fire to the room.

Jumping Beans

Most Mexican jumping beans come from the province of Chihuahua; they are the seeds of various members of a family of swamp trees listed as euphorbiaceous plants. When the plant is in blossom the moth (Carpocapsa saltitans) lays an egg in one part of the flower. The hatched larvae bore into the growing beans but do not attain full growth until the beans are hard and ripe. The larva inside the bean moves it by coiling up and then suddenly extending itself. Later in the season it cuts a circular door through the bean and changes to a pupa, then when the pupa is transformed to a moth it escapes through this door. Close examination of the bean will show this means of exit.

30-Mile Speed Limit For Motor Vehicles Effective In Newton On Monday

Signs Placed At All Entrances To City

Starting Monday, April 1, a 30 mile speed limit for motor vehicles will be established in Newton. Signs specifying this limit have been made by the Street Department and will be placed on streets at all entrances to this city from surrounding cities and towns. Last year Alderman Maxwell Gaddis, chairman of the Street Traffic Committee of the Board of Aldermen, started the movement for enforcing this speed limit in Newton. Incidentally, 30 miles an hour is the speed limit legally allowed by the statutes of Massachusetts, despite the stickers which have been distributed the past couple of years by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles and which instructed motorists not to drive over 50 miles an hour, or 45 miles at night or in wet weather.

Last year the GRAPHIC was informed that the Street Department was preparing these signs, but later it was learned that our information was erroneous, as the Street Department at that time had not been asked to make such signs.

Books of "courtesy tickets" have been printed and will be distributed to Newton policemen. These tickets will be given to first offenders who will disregard the 30 mile limit in this city. The tickets read:

"You are requested not to drive more than 30 miles an hour within the confines of the city of Newton. This regulation is being put into effect to protect our citizens from accident and to save you from needless worry and regret."

"We want you to see our city the safe way. May we have your cooperation?"

Motorists who persist in speeding in Newton after having received a "courtesy ticket," will be summoned into court on speeding complaints. Mayor Goddard approved of the new measures to restrict speeding in this city where 12 persons were fatally injured in automobile accidents last year. He commented that in other cities where speed limits of 25 or 30 miles have been established, appreciable reductions in automobile accidents have resulted. Among these cities are Waltham, Providence, Worcester and Springfield.

Will Build New Wing to St. Mary's Church, L. Falls

Plans have been drawn by William J. Freethy of Waban for a new, fire-proof, brick wing to St. Mary's Episcopal Church at Newton Lower Falls to replace the parish house which was destroyed by fire in February. The proposed structure will serve as a religious and community centre, and a Reconstruction Fund campaign to finance its building will open with a roll call next Sunday. It is estimated that the proposed building will cost $40,000, and from various funds and insurance $15,732 is on hand or pledged. This leaves about $25,000 to be raised by members and former members of the parish and by citizens of Newton, Weston and Wellesley, the districts served by the parish. E. Deane Seely of Wellesley Hills, senior warden of St. Mary's Church, is chairman of the building committee. The reconstruction committee is headed by Henry H. Stafford.

St. Mary's Church, built in 1814, is the oldest Episcopal Church in Newton. The building destroyed by fire contained the parish hall, built in 1857, and Hubbard Memorial Chapel, built in 1903. Because of the rapid growth of sections centering about Newton Lower Falls, a church building such as the proposed new wing is greatly needed.

Newton Dog Clinic Starts April 15

The annual clinic for dogs licensed in Newton will start at the shed behind the high school building, Walnut st., Newtonville on Monday, April 15, and continue each afternoon until Friday of that week from 3 to 6 p. m. Owners of dogs whose names (the owners, not the dogs) begin with initials A to D inclusive, can take their canines to be immunized against rabies on Monday; E to I on Tuesday; J to Q on Wednesday; R to T on Thursday; U to Z on Friday; the initials being inclusive in each group. Persons bringing a dog to be immunized free, must also bring the dog's 1940 license.

Policemen Qualify As Sharpshooters

Nine additional members of the Newton police department, including younger members of the force, have qualified as expert marksmen and sharpshooters in the use of revolvers after having taken a course under the instruction of Patrolman David Dalton, one of the champion revolver shots of the Newton police department. Those who received gold bars from Chief Hughes for having attained expert ratings included Patrolmen Thomas Brady, Frank Lovely, Stephen Madden and Raymond Sullivan. Those given silver bars for having qualified as sharpshooters are: Patrolmen John FitzSimmons, William Howley, Nils Holmstrand, Thomas McEnaney, George O'Neill. The members of the class have presented a gold badge to Patrolman Dalton in appreciation of his work in training them.

Community Council Told of Changes In Public Relief

Rotch Advocates Local Control of Relief

A general relief program administered by the local community but with financial grants-in-aid from the state and federal governments will eventually replace relief for special groups such as Soldier's Relief, Aid-To-Dependent Children, etc., Arthur G. Rotch, Commissioner of Public Welfare of the state told the Case Conference of the Newton Community Council at the Newtonville Library. In a strong plea for returning the administration of all relief to local authorities, Mr. Rotch pointed out that at present general relief is at a lower standard than that given certain special categories of aided people and that the existence of these special categories made for confusion and waste in administration.

"If all relief is to be returned to the local community," he said, "it will be necessary for these communities to receive grants of money from the state and the state in turn from the federal government. The state would also set up standards of relief which local communities would be obliged to live up to if they are to receive this financial assistance from the state." In Mr. Rotch's opinion local administration of a general relief program under these provisions would be less costly and bring better social results than the present program.

Tracing the relief program of the state in recent years Mr. Rotch paid tribute to work done by his predecessor David Armstrong and commended his establishment of district offices of the Public Welfare Department in place of the former centralization at the State House.

The Annual Meeting of the Newton Community Council will be held at the Newtonville Women's Club at 6:30 on April 3. Chief feature of the program will be a panel discussion on "Youth in Newton" in which Miss (Continued on page 10)

Popular Adagram Contests Ended

Many Entries Received In 26-Week Series

The popular Adagram contest which has been running for the past six months as a NEWTON GRAPHIC feature was concluded with the last issue. Prize winners for the most original, neat and correct answers are announced below. Hundreds of enthusiastic contest-minded readers of the GRAPHIC participated in the twenty-six contests and many varied entries were received. Models, cutouts, verses, sketches, designs, dolls and other unique and original answers showed the time and effort which readers put into the contest to share in the two hundred and six prizes awarded. No contestant was permitted to win more than one cash prize during the series although cash prize winners were eligible to compete for theatre ticket awards after having won a major prize.

The popularity of the contest, evidenced by the numerous entries and the support of advertisers whose messages appeared in the Adagram, was the greatest of any contest which the GRAPHIC has conducted in recent years. It is the intention of the publishers to offer another Adagram contest or a contest with similar appeal to its readers within another few months.

Winners in last week's contest to which the correct solution was the Boston Gardening Co., were: Mrs. Frederick C. Rising, 84 Parker st., Newton Centre (first prize); Nanette Hoag, 63 Institution ave., Newton Centre (second prize); Miss Hannah L. Bond, 24 Oxford rd., Newton Centre (third prize).

Theatre tickets: Mrs. Julia Keenan, 41 Gardner st., Newton; Mrs. Frank J. Toscano, 15 Riverside st., Auburndale; Catherine Barry, 29 Irving st., Newton Centre; Lillian Webb, 109 Jewett st., Newton; Eva F. Durrell, 100 Bullough Park, Newtonville; Mrs. C. C. Perry, 362 Waltham st., West Newton; Mrs. E. B. Church, 30 Bennington st., Newton; Barbara L. Hurst, 17 Walnut st., West Newton; Mrs. Frederick J. More Clothing Needed For Poor Newton Children

"Thrifty Centre" Asks For Donations This Spring

An urgent need for more children's clothing, especially children's outer garments, is reported by the Newton Thrift Centre. Harold P. Carver, chairman of the executive committee of the Centre, asks Newton families to remember the Centre especially at "spring cleaning" time when the family clothing chests are being re-examined. "In all probability," he said, "there are hundreds of articles of discarded clothing hanging in the closets of Newton families which could be given, through the Thrift Centre, to some needy Newton family. A telephone call to Newton North 2122 will bring the Centre's truck to your door to collect your used and discarded clothing."

Although the Centre still needs large amounts of children's clothing, the response to its appeal has been prompt and generous. During its sixty days of operation the Centre has filled 93 requisitions totalling 600 garments for needy families. At the present time the Centre's supplies are available on requisition from the Newton Family Service Bureau and the Catholic Welfare Committee. It also supplies emergency requests from the Soldiers' Relief Department of the city. As the work of the Centre becomes better known, it is hoped that it may be able to meet the requests of other social agencies in the city.

The Centre is conducted under the auspices of the Newton Community Council with the co-operation of the Newton Hospital Aid Association and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. The Centre's truck was given by the Newton Circle; Newton business firms and church groups are co-operating with the Centre in cleaning and mending the clothing given to the Centre.

Ward 1 Citizens Assert Aldermen Ignored Them

A meeting of the Ward 1 Improvement Association at the Lincoln-Eliot School on Wednesday night was featured by criticisms of the recent action of the Board of Aldermen in changing the precinct lines of that ward without giving its residents an opportunity to be consulted, and by a request to the Aldermen to change the place of Precinct 1 of the ward be changed from the Stearns School to the new Lincoln-Eliot School. Because Precinct 2 of Ward 1 has more than 2000 voters, it became necessary recently for the Aldermen to change the precinct lines and that part of Precinct 2 west of Jewett st. was shifted to Precinct 1.

John W. Murphy, chairman of the Board of Assessors, told those present why it was necessary to decide on the precinct changes without further delay so as to enable the assessors to proceed with their work. Mr. Murphy stated that the Assessors had nothing to do with the defining of the new precinct lines. Edward H. Powers, president of the association, told of the various proposals in recent years to change ward lines in Newton, or create additional wards, and he gave information regarding the discussion at the Board of Aldermen a couple of months ago over the changes in the Ward 1 precincts.

Alderman Edward Fahey said that Aldermen Barwise, McCabe and himself were agreed last year that a third precinct should be established in the ward, to include that part of Precinct 2 North of the B & A tracks, and that the Lincoln-Eliot School should be the polling place. Alderman Lee, who succeeded Alderman McCabe this year, contended that the third precinct should not be established, in the interest of economy, but that part of Precinct 2 should be shifted to Precinct 1. The Board then agreed with Alderman Lee.

Mr. Powers suggested that a survey would probably prove that the Lincoln-Eliot School is nearer to a larger number of voters.

Vandalism At Newton Centre

A near-explosion of a boiler in a business block at Newton Centre occurred on Monday. Some person shut off the water supply of the heating system of the business and apartment block located at Langley rd. and Union st., causing the water in the boiler to become dangerously low. Fortunately, this condition was discovered by the janitor, Edward Tracy of Cypress st. The building is owned by Isenberg Brothers of Cambridge. It is supposed that the vandal entered the boiler room, which was unlocked, and shut off the water supply.

REP. PHILIP G. BOWKER of Brookline Announces Candidacy for Congress

Bowker Candidate For Congress

Philip G. Bowker of Brookline has announced that he is a candidate for the Republican nomination to Congress from the 9th district, which includes Newton. He states that the margin of Republican victory in this district in recent years has become progressively smaller, until in 1938 it was less than 2000, when it should have been at least 15,000, and that a young, alert and progressive nominee is needed to keep the district safe.

Mr. Bowker was born in Brookline 41 years ago, graduated from Dartmouth in 1923 and during the World War served at Camp Eustis, Va., with the heavy artillery. From 1929 until 1934 he was a member of the Brookline Board of Selectmen, and since 1933 he has been a member of the House of Representatives of this Commonwealth. He has served on various important committees and recess commissions. He was one of the leaders on the attack on the Curley administration and the Coakley influence and has a 100 per cent Republican roll call record as a member of the Legislature. He was an original sponsor of the Unemployment Compensation Commission, and the Pardon-Parole Investigation.

Don't Want Sunday Drum Corps Noise At Claflin Field

In the face of several petitions against the granting of any more permits for fireworks displays at Claflin Field, Newtonville, the Newton School Committee showed little sympathy at its meeting on Monday night to a suggestion from School Committeeman C. Raymond Cabot that a permit be given to Newton Post, A. L., to hold the annual State (Continued on page 10)

Result of Agreement With Aldermen's Finance Committee

The Newton School Committee on Monday night voted to have a study made of the teachers salary schedule in Newton public schools. This action was the result of an agreement recently made by the School Committee with the Finance Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen. In discussing the budget of this city for 1940 certain members of the Aldermen contended that our schools are too costly and that a definite move toward lowering the school department budget in Newton should be made by the School Committee. Similar contentions have been made by members of preceding Boards of Aldermen in recent years.

The School Committee and Supt. of Schools Warren agreed that Dr. Willard S. Ellsbee, consultant on educational problems, of Teachers College, Columbia University, will be asked to serve as adviser and consultant in making the study and that it start next month. Dr. Ellsbee's services, provided he can come to Newton, will be under the auspices of the Teachers Education Commission of the National Educational Council, and they will be financed by the Rockefeller Foundation. This commission has been conducting a study of educational problems in Newton, as part of a nationwide survey.

The Newton Teachers Federation will be asked by the School Committee to participate in the study of the salary schedule, and after the fact-finding has been completed, a citizens' committee will be invited to co-operate in deliberations on the matter of revising the salaries. Among the details to be studied are—cost of living in Newton, the educational background of Newton teachers, and the relationship of salaries to the selection of teachers and the type of work they are doing.

The present salary schedule in Newton schools was adopted in 1925 and has not been changed since. (Continued on page 10)

ANOTHER ANGLE TO EDUCATION

In the course of conversation the other day among a group of men interested in business, government, and public affairs in general, an interesting comment was made in regard to one of the angles of education. There is a monthly gathering of personnel executives of the major industries of the state where problems of a common nature are discussed. It is evident that there is a demand for skilled employees which cannot be filled—and yet we have youths walking the streets for miles and miles in search of employment. Youths with a general high school education who cannot find jobs—and youths with a college education who cannot find work. The days of the apprentice are practically extinct—and we continue to seek a higher cultural level in our educational program. Perhaps a solution, or at least a partial solution, is to promote greater opportunities for vocational training. It seems quite obvious that the skilled and trained employee is going to command the salary and be at least the equal in productive value of a more culturally trained youth. What educators offer along these lines should be of material assistance toward solving the major problem of the day, unemployment.

A VALUABLE PUBLIC SERVANT

Nearly five months remain before the state primary elections in September. Recent announcements of candidacies for various political offices have focused more or less attention on the fact that a state election is in the offing. The retirement of Representative William B. Baker upon the expiration of his present term is of major interest to Newton residents on the northern side of the city. Representative Baker served the district which he represents, the city and the state with distinction and honor. As a member of the extremely important Ways and Means Committee and ranking next to the chairman of this committee he diligently and conscientiously maintained a keen interest in the careful spending of state moneys. Frequently he was ironically referred to as "the watch dog of the state treasury" but this appellation was always tempered with deep respect for his views. Probably no member of the two hundred and forty comprising the lower branch of the State Legislature possesses a keener insight into the financial affairs of the state as a whole than Mr. Baker. Lately Mr. Baker has given of his time and service to the Commonwealth at considerable personal sacrifice of time and energy and he deems it best to retire. Public servants of his type and calibre are rare. The state and the district he represents have much to be thankful for from his service. Under the gilded dome Representative Baker will be missed, by friend and critic, when his service ends with the year.

Kiwanis Club

Three new members were received at the meeting last Tuesday of the Newton Kiwanis Club held at the Charles River Country Club. The new members were Robert J. Vallone, Walter Hood and James Daley. Installation ceremonies were in charge of William White assisted by Raymond Green, Vice President of the Club.

Raymond Green announced that on April 5th a Dance Drummer would be given at the Newton High School by the high school students. All proceeds will be used for the underprivileged child fund.

The speaker of the day was Dr. Harold Choje, Health Officer for the City of Newton. Dr. Choje outlined the improvements and new services introduced by the Health Department under his direction since 1935. These improvements include complete laboratory service; he described how samples of the City water and the milk supply were tested regularly.

Another improvement was preschool health service, together with additional nurses and better equipment. These extra health development activities have resulted in the fine record of health in the City of Newton in recent years. As an example, in 1921 Newton had 115 cases of diphtheria and 15 deaths. There have been no cases of diphtheria in Newton for the past three years and no deaths for over seven years. Dr.

Choje paid high tribute to the Board of Aldermen, to Mayor Goddard and to the co-operating agencies which have assisted in the health program.

Members of the Newton Club were unanimous in favoring regulations that pedestrians be compelled to obey Stop and Go signals, and that traffic safety education including at-the-wheel training should be given in high schools.

TWENTY MIDGETS COMING TO THE PARAMOUNT THEATRE, NEWTON

As an added attraction on the stage at the M. & P. Paramount Theatre, Newton, Manager George E. VanBuskirk has made arrangements to have the Hermies Midgets and a cast of twenty to perform for one day only, Saturday, April 13th, matinee and evening shows. Hermies Midgets is a company of clever and cute entertainers direct from the Midget Village at the New York World's Fair. Robert Rebernigg, the manager of this unique troupe, has been on the stage since he was three years old, and has traveled the world as a novelty juggler using hoops, Indian clubs, and other props with lighting effects. They have a jazz band in which the entire company take part playing all types of instruments. Willie and Hilda a dance team that do not measure more than 24 inches high do a real Apache dance. George Ruff, a clever entertainer works on a trapeze, and before going on the stage was a jockey. The boxing act of the show is one of the features, Lewis Vasek acts as the referee, and the contestants are Alois Sapik and Fritz Soucek with Fritz and Hilda Karolus acting as seconds. There are many other acts that these little midgets feature themselves in. After their engagements in New England these folks go back to New York for the World's Fair this coming season.

EDWARD H.

Powers' Paragraphs

There is a State law which calls for the imposition of a penalty on any persons leaving an automobile unlocked on a public highway. If this law were enforced there would be fewer thefts of automobiles. Why do not the Newton police and other police departments in Massachusetts obtain complaints against persons who leave their cars unlocked on streets, thus permitting young Brighton law-breakers and others to steal the cars? Many persons have been killed and seriously injured by automobiles which had been stolen by young thieves, and the victims or their dependents could not collect damages.

For the past several years Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin has been engaged in a controversy over the dimming of headlights on automobiles. He ordered that the lights not be dimmed, contending that by so doing the driver of a car on which the lights are dimmed cannot see pedestrians on the road ahead. Persons who drive cars at night (which Mr. Goodwin does not do) contended that unless the glaring headlights on an approaching car are shifted to the dropbeam, they cannot see a pedestrian or anything else. The writer agrees with them. In many states it is the practise to use the dropbeam on headlights when other vehicles approach from the opposite direction.

Now, Mr. Goodwin comes out with the order instructing owners of the new automobiles with sealed beam headlights of 50 candle-power bulbs to shift to the dropbeam when another car approaches, as the more powerful bulbs develop 40,000 candle power in the headlights. Anyone with common sense, or anyone who drives much at night, knows that considerate motorists will shift their headlights onto the dropbeam without any order from the Registrar; and that inconsiderate drivers will not do so. We have stated in this column several times in past years that there should be a State law compelling smaller bulbs in headlights than the 32 candlepower used the past several years. We also stated last year that the change from 32 candlepower to 50 candlepower bulbs in headlights would increase an already bad traffic hazard on highways. The change from 21 to 32 candlepower bulbs in headlights was one of the principal causes for the big increase in recent years of motor accidents having been killed at night on highways. The increase from 32 to 50 candlepower will cause a much higher increase in the slaughter of pedestrians at night by automobiles. Granting that the higher-power bulbs permit a longer range of vision on highways to those drivers who menace themselves and others by speeding at 50 miles and over, any advantage thus obtained is more than offset by the blinding of the vision of operators of approaching cars.

Boston newspapers (at least some of them) feature each year on the Monday following Easter, long articles describing the attire worn by persons attending church services on Easter Sunday, especially the clothing displayed by the ladies. In fact the newspapers give more prominence to the descriptions and photographs of Easter finery than they do to the services. Possibly, there may be persons who do not attend church services every Sunday, but who go on Easter impelled more by social than religious motives. If the newspapers gave some attention each Monday to the attire worn by churchgoers the preceding Sunday, possibly more folks would go to church regularly.

Some men ambitious for wealth and renown achieve both and acquire nation wide fame, but their reputations in their home towns are poor. Other men, contented with little, have led long and useful careers in the communities where they were born, and won the respect of their neighbors. To this latter class belonged Benjamin Thomas who died suddenly of a heart attack last Sunday morning in Our Lady's Church at Newton. For many years Mr. Thomas had been a regular attendant at this early service. Born in Newton 67 years ago, he had always lived and worked in the Newton Corner section. He was an honest, industrious man and a good citizen.

He was one of the limited number of survivors who in the generation past served this city long and faithfully as a call fireman on the Newton Fire Department. From July, 1895 until July, 1929, Ben Thomas was a member of the crew of Engine 1 at Newton Corner, most of that time the stoker on the old steam fire-engine. The present generation does not know of, or appreciate the services rendered by the oldtime call-firemen. These men, drawn from various walks of life, constituted the fire fighting force of Newton and most other cities and towns in the State and many days, serving for meagre compensation. Shortly before Mr. Thomas joined the Newton Fire Department the annual salary of call firemen was $100, and the top salary, paid after the turn of this century, was $150. For this modest pay call firemen were supposed to answer all fire alarms in Newton 24 hours a day, 365 days each year; and there were many fires in those days. If they failed to report to a fire, they were docked $1. The writer, as a small boy, lived very near old Engine 1 house, and later resided alongside "Armory Hall" where the fire alarm bell hung so we saw the activities of call firemen days and nights. When a fire alarm was sounded during day hours call firemen would start on the run toward Newton Corner in an effort to jump onto the engine or hose wagon as these horse-drawn vehicles rumbled toward the fire. Some of the call firemen worked in stores or shops near the engine house, and these, by sprinting, could arrive in time to board the fire wagons as they left the engine house. Other call firemen whose occupations took them to other parts of the village, would head toward the route they knew the fire apparatus would take, provided the fire was in their direction, to be pulled onto the rear step of the hose wagon as the galloping horses were slowed somewhat to permit this boarding. Usually a small "gallery" of youngsters would trail along to get a thrill from seeing the flying leap of the call fireman onto the hose wagon. If the part time fireman of the 80s and 90s didn't catch the hose wagon enroute, he had to do a distance run to the fire unless he was fortunate enough to be picked up by some citizen hastening to the blaze in a wagon or buggy.

Some of the call firemen slept in the fire stations, but more of them slept at home, and such were awakened when a fire alarm sounded at late night hours by a tapper in his house. A jump into trousers rolled for such rapid donning, and a run toward the engine house—or the fire then began, whether it was on a warm summer night, or (more frequently) on some winter night with a blizzard blowing or a sub-freezing temperature. Many a call fireman ruined his best suit of clothes working at a fire which happened to occur on a Sunday or some other time when the fireman had his "Sunday clothes" on. And all this for $100 or $125 per year. Times have changed.

The article in last week's GRAPHIC under the caption—"What's in a Name," relative to the selection of names for the new telephone exchanges in Newton, was written by S. I. Daniels, Division Dial System Engineer of the New England Telephone Company.

At the meeting of the School Committee on Monday night it was voted that a study be made of teachers' salary schedules in Newton public schools, and to endeavor to obtain the services of Dr. Willard S. Ellsbree of Teachers' College, Columbia University as consultant and adviser in this study or survey. His services are provided by the Teachers' Education Commission and paid for by the Rockefeller Foundation. In conjunction with the survey (or study) the Newton Teachers' Federation will be asked to participate, and a committee of citizens will be asked to take part in the deliberations on the revision of the salary schedule after the fact finding survey has been completed.

The reason for this survey of salaries of teachers in Newton public schools is—an agreement recently made by the School Committee with the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen to have such a survey made. In this column last week we stated that we do not endorse surveys by efficiency engineers or experts, real or alleged. While we applaud efforts of our Board of Aldermen to reduce the cost of running the City of Newton, and placing its various departments on as efficient and economic a basis as is compatible with the quality of public service which Newton citizens have become accustomed and now desire, we believe that some of our Aldermen are afflicted with surveyitis.

Newton pays a Superintendent of Schools a good salary to supervise our public schools and their teachers. He is selected because he was adjudged one of the leaders in his profession. He is assisted by a staff of supervisors who were selected in past years because they assumed to have the requisite ability to efficiently fill these positions. Newton prides itself on being a community much above the ordinary insofar as the intelligence and cultural background of its residents are concerned. The men who comprise our City Government, including the Board of Aldermen and the School Committee are supposed to be of the same high calibre as their predecessors in these two bodies. Despite all this our Aldermen (and some of them) with their present "survey" complex, deem it necessary to import an outside expert to tell our school department, our School Committee and the people of Newton in general, how to run our school and what to pay our school teachers. Dr. Ellsbree must rate very high as an expert in educational matters, or he would have not attained his preeminence in this field. But we still insist that no man, no matter how great his intellect, can come into a community and after a comparatively short time be better qualified to decide how the affairs of that community should be conducted, than are men, also of high intelligence and adequate experience, who have been on the job in that community for years, and who are conversant with local peculiarities and routine matters. Especially a community which, as Newton is and has been, quite free from cheap political influence.

It would not surprise us to have Dr. Ellsbree, assuming he will make the survey (or study) advise that Newton teachers are not overpaid. In fact, he may give the finding that some of them are underpaid. So when he or some other expert has made a survey and used his educational engineering "transit" to ascertain angles and distances of teachers' salaries here, our economically minded Aldermen and the citizens commit Deacon J. W. Kimball of Newton is in a critical condition and can't survive long.

The health officer was notified of a dangerous case of typhoid fever in Newton on Tuesday.

The third week of March is nearly over with no let-up in the cold weather. The mercury still stays near zero.

The Pomroy Home for Orphan Girls has at present 17 inmates and only 3 vacancies. The institution is in a flourishing condition and is progressing well in its useful and unostentatious work.

A meeting of those interested in placing women on an equal legal footing with men will be held at the Allen School building in West Newton on March 21 at 7:30 p. m. Many of the people in this city are in sympathy with it.

The Nonantum Worsted Mills are running full time with 500 hands.

Mr. Keith of Newtonville complained to Officer Bosworth on Monday night that his horse narrowly escaped injury by stumbling over a pile of earth on Watertown st. near Parsons st., left there by city employees and unlighted.

During 1884 in Newton there were 33 cases of diphtheria, 3 fatal; 128 cases of scarlet fever, 11 fatal; 27 cases of typhoid, 9 fatal.

E. W. Wood of West Newton lost a valuable dog last week. The poor fellow was run over by a railroad train.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday a petition was received from G. H. Ingraham and others asking for a four-burner gas lamp at the intersection of Watertown and Washington sts., West Newton. The order for the sale of the old house at West Newton was passed.

Officer Fletcher found a horse and wagon without a driver on Centre st., Newton Centre, on Monday evening. The wagon was marked "Douglas Berton," and the owner was subsequently found.

The boys of Bigelow School have appointed a committee to solicit donations for a flagstaff for the flag recently presented to the school. About $75 is needed.

Newton patrons of Adeline Patti's concerts are complaining of the lack of accommodations on the late train to Newton. They protest against having to stand all the way from Boston.

Aban, Trowbridge & Co. have sold a large lot of land between Maple st., Newton, and the river to the Stanley Dry Plate Co. of Lewiston, Me., which will bring a new industry into our midst. The Stanleys will erect at once a fine, three-story building, 44 by 80 feet for the manufacture of photographic dry-plate. It is a clean business, unobjectionable to the neighborhood.

The Newton High School Military Battalion is practicing skirmish movements at their drills. A large bundle of hoops came to the school on Wednesday morning for use by the girls in their calisthenic exercises. The first meeting of the High School Athletic association will be held at Armory Hall, Newton, on March 27. The features will be: boxing, 3 classes; fencing, high-kick, running, high-jump, shotput, and tug-of-war by classes. All fathers and mothers interested in the school are requested to be present, so that they may see the advantage a gymnasium will be to the school.

The Boston Record says: "Newton is the Paradise of burglars." After all, it appears that boys of very tender years have been engaged in the house-breaking business.

It is difficult to discover the motive of the high school investigating committee in giving a public hearing to citizens next Monday evening. They state "they were appointed to investigate the department and scholarship of members of the high school." But a public hearing is not an investigation and will only serve to stir up an unpleasant matter still further, and create more talk. The members of the committee must be satisfied that there is something wrong, without further testimony. Rev. Mr. Hornbrook said at the meeting of Feb. 28 that he had heard many complaints relative to conditions at the high school. Rev. Mr. Lawrence said substantially the same thing, and thought something should be done to dispel the feeling of dissatisfaction. Mrs. Davis said that stories of the poor condition of the school, and improper conduct were constantly coming up. Mr. Bell told of complaints coming from parents. With all this mass of testimony, what earthly use is there of holding a public meeting for the sake of hearing more?

One may find it difficult to use a "level" that will show attitudes in the salaries that will meet with the approval of some of our taxpayers.

By GEORGE W. HUTCHINGS, N.H.S. 39

Another week and three-fourths of the school year will have passed into the scrap books. A card from the University of Vermont Press Club in Burlington informs us that a member of Newton High's record-rocking class of '39 has reaped an abundant crop in the field of scholarship. Joseph Albert of 943 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, was named on the dean's list cum laude for high scholastic standing during the first semester of the college year. Those two short words, cum laude, are very impressive and equally significant, being Latin for "with praise." Why do we insist on flouting our meager familiarity with Latin vocabulary? Another classmate, Leslie Wesson, has been located at beautiful Cornell University far above Cayuga's famed waters. When the initial awe of the Ithaca institution evaporated, Leslie settled down to her study of musical theory and modern piano, specializing in symphonic swing. The typically alert rushing committee of Alpha Epsilon Phi Sorority pledged her to membership, an honor for which she will show her appreciation by playing the piano for her sorority sisters and their dates at the Annual Spring Formal.

In addition to garnering excellent mid-year ranks, she has been active as a "compet." Cornell for Fresh practice, in the Cornell University's Radio Guild, which operates a local station broadcasting to Ithaca and Elmira.

During Junior Week, Cornell's celebrated Carnival, Leslie was a guest at Sidney Kingsley's college fraternity house, an item mentioned in a recent edition of the New York Sunday Times. With The Times scooping "All the news that is fit to print," we are forced to present it to you second-hand, but hardly warmed over.

Stuart C. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. W. Peterson of Rowe st., Auburndale, a junior at Tufts College, has been elected to Tau Beta Phi, national scholastic honorary society for engineers corresponding to Phi Beta Kappa in liberal arts colleges and granted in recognition of superior academic distinction. One of eight men to be elected this year, Stu is living up to the scholastic promises shown at Newton High where he was awarded a scholarship for well-rounded excellence.

When the names of 113 Norwich University freshmen pledged to become members of fraternities as the result of a one-week rushing session were made public two weeks ago we discovered two local lads on the list. Robert S. Ellis of Auburndale is a future S.A.E., Sigma Alpha Epsilon of the uninitiated, while Edwin Roys of 334 Otis st., West Newton, is pledged to Iota Pi Kappa. Here we have two more Newtonites wandering into the land of Greek letters and pass-words. Good luck Bob and Ed!

Lois Rockwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Farnum Rockwood of 35 Lakewood rd., Newton Highlands, was initiated into the Boston University Chapter of Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary educational fraternity for women a short while ago. She was one of 26 students inducted at the semi-annual initiation-banquet of the fraternity at which Dr. Mario Anderson, editor of Ginn and Co., was guest speaker. Basis for admittance to this select group is primarily exceptional scholastic rank. This, however, is the stumbling block for many students when thrust into such keen competition.

Next week we will take up again from way down Maine where we will have time for reminiscences on this week's vacation.

What The Red Cross Is Doing For Humanity

"Man's cruelty to man is far too rampant today." So spoke Norman Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross, on the evening of March 16th, in his nationwide broadcast informing American citizens of the work of this organization in aid of war sufferers during the past six months. And he ended his straightforward, sincere report of the use of funds placed in their hands through the kindness and sympathy of the American people, by saying: "The American Red Cross exists in the world to aid all."

That statement is proved in every hamlet and town. Like a ripple in the stream when a small pebble stirs it and expands and expands in widening circles, until its influence reaches every brook, river, and to the ocean, so the efforts in every home where women are working, sewing, knitting, making surgical dressings, widen to a mighty army whose combined products reach almost unbelievable figures in work accomplished.

The Newton Chapter of the Red Cross has shipped to national headquarters since Nov. 25th, 1939, 523 sweaters; 122 pairs of mittens; 181 "Beanies"; 43 scarves; 7 pairs of socks; 232 children's dresses; and 92 women's dresses. On March 19th the Newton Chapter sent its most recent quota, destination Finland, of 24 women's dresses; 65 children's dresses; 67 "Beanies"; 26 pairs of mittens; one pair of socks; 110 children's sweaters; 40 men's sweaters; and 13 women's sweaters.

This represents the work of many devoted women and young persons. To quote Norman Davis again, theirs is a share of "the two million hours given by women in America to these services for war-stricken Europe."

It would seem that the women of America are making it true that the Red Cross exists to aid all. Norman Davis further said that with the end of the Finnish-Soviet conflict Finland's need does not cease. In fact, there is great suffering here, and throughout the countries where war is in the saddle. On the western front battle may break forth at any moment. Clothing, bedding, medicines, surgical dressings, hospital supplies, already have been sent in many shipments, and these shipments must continue.

Red Cross chapters throughout the country, moved by the plight of Europe's war sufferers, have mobilized a mercy corps of 250,000 women volunteers. At this writing they are engaged in the production of hundreds of thousands of garments and surgical dressings, with shipments arriving daily in New York for transmittal to Europe. Already the large cargoes sent have reached the war zones and are being distributed where greatest needs are reported. To date, more than 166,000 articles of clothing and nearly 400,000 surgical dressings have reached Europe. Expenditures by the National Organization have been in the six months since Sept. 1st, $1,174,639.78; and the expenditures of chapters for materials for shipments to Europe have been $166,171.38. Care of the refugees, not only homeless, but with almost no possessions, however necessary, is the big work of the Red Cross units in Europe today.

While there has been no actual drive, as it is called, for funds for the gigantic task in aid of humanity, the National Organization has authorized local chapters to accept any contributions which residents of their cities and towns may wish to make toward their share of these quotas, whether of materials or money.

The aid to humanity, which is the banner flying for the Red Cross, must go on, and through the interest of those who can assist, this aid does and will go on.

Sunbeam Chats

It sure seems good to have the days a little longer—I'll be glad when I can get out of my snow suit and feel the sun on me again. But mother says I needn't worry about sunshine. I get mine every day out of a bottle—even on the darkest days. It's Cod Liver Oil and do I like it! Still I can take my bottled sunshine and enjoy a little of the real article without any trouble.

RANDOLPH—JOHNSON

Miss Ruth Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Johnson of Newton Centre, became the bride of Paul I. Randolph, son of Mrs. John Isaac, of Wollaston, at a candlelight ceremony in the First Congregational Church of Newton, on March 23, at four o'clock. The church was decorated with Easter lilies.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory crepe de chine (hand embroidered) over tulle, trimmed with real lace, with a full veil trimmed with ivory silk and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

The bride's sister, Miss Mary Johnson, who was maid of honor, wore an aqua chiffon gown and carried pink and blue sweet peas. The four bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Dickson, cousin of the bride, Miss Erna Swanson, Miss Agnes Lindsay, and Miss Jean Paddon, wore similar dresses in pink chiffon and carried bouquets of sweet peas.

The bride's mother wore a black lace dress trimmed with shell pink, while Mrs. Isaac, was gowned in rose crepe. William Johnson, brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Arnold T. Gronlund, Malcolm Kinkaid, cousin of the bride, Norman Warner and Everett Andros.

After a short wedding trip to New York and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph will reside in Dover, where they will be at home after May 1st.

Highland Glee Club In Another Fine Concert

Newton's Highland Glee Club was in a gay and festive mood for their Annual Spring Concert which was given in the Newton High School Auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 26, before the usual enthusiastic capacity audience. This large group of men singers, numbering eighty-five on the stage, has been presenting pleasing concerts for many years, and were again heartily received in their latest appearance.

The concert was a "request" program, based on preferences expressed by the audience at the December concert, and consisted largely of old favorites, mostly of the robust and humorous numbers which are well adapted to male choral singing. Prominent in this category were "Stout Hearted Men," "The Czech Folk Song," "The Chorus of Peers" from Iolanthe, "Marching Men" in the strident manner and "Tobacco Is a Dirty Word" and "But He Didn't" in the humorous vein, all of which were given excellent performances under leader D. Ralph Maclean's efficient guidance.

The more serious and sentimental music was not entirely neglected, however. The beautiful "Spirit Flower" and "Brown Bird Singing" offered pleasant interludes, also "Caleno Cusura Me," an old English melody arranged by Taylor which has been presented on former programs. The splendid obligato was beautifully sung by John Tulloch, substituting for Ernest Schleicher, who was unable to sing. This number was one of the high spots of the evening. Several other members, including Nelson Lane, Kenneth McKay and Fred Linke, gave excellent solo performances in the Sea Chanties.

The evening was brought to a climatic close with the singing of Prothero's noble "Pilot" song and Schubert's "Omnipotence" in which Mary Nevery, well known soprano, sang the obligato most effectively against the background of men's voices.

The singing of the club in general leaves no room to doubt that it is among the best choral organizations in New England, and Newton is fortunate to boast of such a group. Mr. Maclean deserves great credit for the club's accomplishments. The accompaniments by Karl Switzer were effectively and sympathetically played. The club presented Georg Flor, pianist, who has appeared with the club on former occasions as major soloist. In two groups of virtuoso compositions, Mr. Flor again added to his already increasing following in Greater Boston. He was warmly encoered after each of the two groups which he contributed so ably to the program.

Rotary Club

The very evident desire of the American people to keep out of war necessitates some very careful and very clear thinking on the part of both citizens and Congress, thinking which will enable them to keep clear of the entanglements of subversive influences which are all too active throughout the country at this time. Such was the thought underlying the very interesting discussion of our national defense program by Major Thomas J. Heavey, an officer in the U. S. Cavalry and at present Adjutant General of the Second Military Area, before the Newton Rotary Club last Monday. Although this call to careful and thoughtful analysis of the problem was fundamental to his remarks, Major Heavey's text was preparedness is the best insurance against entry into war. He pointed out the serious condition in which we found ourselves in 1917 both as to equipment and as to trained man power. Although by the armistice, we had swung into a considerable program of production and training, we were still lamentably weak as evidenced by the fact that very little of the equipment we finally manufactured was produced in time to be sent overseas and by the fact that a man who entered the service as late as October 1918 was wounded in combat before the armistice was signed.

Although today we have 13,000,000 men of military age, they would constitute a real liability instead of an asset if war broke out now because their lack of training and of seasoning leaves them without knowledge or ability to either act together or care for themselves. Furthermore, short as we are of equipment, most of what we do have is either obsolete or obsolescent. Major Heavey supported his discussion with many illustrations and closed with a motion picture that showed some of the progress we are making in the fields of aviation and mechanized warfare. Many of the mechanized stayed over for a half an hour of questions and in commenting on a question of expense, the choice was pointed out between millions now or billions later. Furthermore, it cannot be overlooked that we have obligations under the Monroe Doctrine as well as those which apply more directly to our own self-defense.

Help Promote Safety—Dim Your Lights When Passing

IN other, blunter words, why be satisfied to trail?

Why buy a car that's content to follow along—when little, if any, more money will put you in a Buick up where the banners are flying?

For this year's automotive style pattern was cut by Buick a good twelve months ago.

This year's performance tempo was set two years back when the Buick Dynaflex engine appeared.

And this year's comfort standards still have some catching up to do to equal Buick's combination of four coil springs, recoil-mounted Knee-Action, the SUPER's five-foot front seat room and Foamtex cushions.

Eventually, perhaps, others may find a way to micropoise—balance engines after assembly; they may heavy-up their frames, and generally seek to equal Buick's staunchness.

Meantime you'll have those Buick blessings to enjoy.

You'll drive the style-leader, the comfort-leader, the value-leader—a car full of things that will still be "new" a good two years from now.

And as a visit to your Buick dealer will show, you'll get it at prices like those you find on the sixes, at figures so little above some of the lesser cars that the difference is more than made up by the additional equipment included in Buick's price.

Go see him early — to get in on all the fun.

Young Automobile Thief Surrenders

Edgar DeAbre, 16, of Colburn rd., Brighton, who escaped from Newton police headquarters on March 15 after he had been brought there under arrest for the theft of an automobile in this city, appeared in the Newton court last Friday in company with his attorney, Senator Edward Mulweeney of Brookline. DeAbre was arraigned in the juvenile court and Judge Mayberry continued his case until today. On March 14 DeAbre and Robert Warriner, 17, of Warren st., Brighton, stole an automobile owned by Lillian Cohen of 393 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre. The next day the pair were observed in the car by State police on the Newburyport turnpike and after a chase of 10 miles the stolen car overturned and the pair were captured. Warriner was arraigned in the Newton court last Friday and was given a suspended sentence to Shirley School.

DeAbre was in the Newton court two months ago on charges of stealing an automobile and snatching a handbag from a woman at Chestnut Hill. He and another Brighton youth involved in the same cases were then given suspended sentences. They also received similar leniency at that time in Brighton, Brookline and Roxbury courts for other automobile thefts and handbag robberies.

Bleak Finland Celebrates Flower Day Each Spring

It is so common to think of Finland as a bleak and barren land of the north that many visitors are greatly surprised to find Flower Day, May 13, one of the most popular of Finnish holidays. It is a day when all Helsinki turns out to celebrate and the city is literally covered with thousands of geraniums, hydrangeas, fuchsias, pansies, violets and poppies. Housewives fill their windows with flower pots and hang wreaths of brightly colored blossoms over their doors, while the university students and school children hold processions and singing festivals, all marked by lavish floral decorations.

The day is historically the anniversary of the Finnish national anthem's first public performance, so that choral singing, for which the Finns are as famous as for their running, plays a big part in the celebration. The anthem is nearly a hundred years old now, and is dear to the heart of every Finn. Its words tell of the indomitable spirit of Finland in overcoming her natural poverty:

"Our land is poor, as all can tell,
For those who seek but gold."

The visitor is bound to admit that if the country has little gold in its hills it suffers from no lack of golden buttercups, marigold, and nasturtiums upon their surface. For in addition to the boatloads of cultivated cut flowers which are sold any spring or summer morning in the famous marketplace in Helsinki, the rural fields and woods are full of gay wild blossoms from May till August.

It is a curious fact that with all his love for flowers of every kind the modern Finn seldom sends any at all to a funeral. A movement has been under way for several years which provides a home for the aged from contributions made by those who, instead of buying flowers for a funeral, send their money to the foundation in charge of the project.

City Dweller Inferior

To Farmer in Eyesight
Although the eyes of the city dweller show a greater percentage of defective vision than do those of his "country cousin," they are better protected against accidental damage, as shown by Dr. James E. Lehensohn in his article "The Eyes of Urban Dwellers" appearing in Hygeia.

In an analysis of the physical status of 100,000 life insurance policy holders, the professional group had the highest percentage of defective vision of some degree in one or both eyes; the agricultural group had the lowest. In the business group, defective vision was somewhat more common among clerks than among executives and salesmen.

The better vision among agricultural workers has been attributed by some to the better lighting conditions under which they work. But the selective factors that determine urban population, such as racial distribution, require consideration also. The eyes of the industrial worker are much better guarded than those of the farmer. Though the farmer may use an ill fitting pair of goggles, he tends to ignore the danger of something in his eye until ulceration is well advanced. Kicks from horses and mules are a special source of danger.

Disastrous wounds of the eye by corn stalks are of frequent occurrence. Flying splinters of wood, rebounding wires, penetrating injuries by nails and glances into a gasoline engine to see how it works have all been the cause of such serious injury as to require removal of the eye.

Colonial Military Gear Sought by Collectors

Military gear dating from the early Colonial period is so rare that the discovery even of fragments of arms and armor used by the forefathers warrants recording. A recent visit to Yorktown and Jamestown, where many relics of the first settlements in Virginia are being uncovered by archeologists working under the direction of the Colonial National Park service, emphasizes this, writes Dr. Joseph R. Mayer in "American Collector." On Jamestown island, the site of active excavating, we visited the museum and were permitted to inspect the huge store of unclassified artifacts. The following list will give some idea of the richness of material brought to light.

A fine series of chased brass bit bosses of the Seventeenth century. Four hilts from swept-hilt rapiers of the Seventeenth century. An extraordinarily well preserved basket hilt from a Jacobean broadsword.

Two heavy gun barrels, apparently from Seventeenth-century muskets. Two deeply corroded pieces of iron which might have been matchlock plates.

A flintlock of the type recognized as an English doglock and commonly used on military arms during the period of the English civil war. Three doglock hammers.

One battery or steel from a snap-hance lock of the type dating from the early Seventeenth century.

In the museum at Yorktown was seen that rarest of rare things, a piece of armor actually used in America. It was a helmet, called a cabasset, commonly used by the soldiery of Europe in the late Sixteenth and early Seventeenth centuries. Here was also seen another doglock.

Teacher Resigns, No Replacement

At the meeting of the School Committee on Monday night Supt. of Schools Warren announced that a resignation of Cora K. Shockley, teacher in the 4th grade at the Cabot School has been received, and will take effect at the end of the present school year. Miss Shockley is to be married. No teacher will be appointed to succeed her, as her work will be absorbed by other teachers at the school. A number of vacancies in the Newton teaching force since the past two years have not been filled, thus reducing to that degree the cost of teachers' salaries.

Supt. Warren also informed the committee that an amicable settlement had been reached between the School Department and members of the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association on the controversy over the use of the Hamilton School by the vocational department of the Trade School. Mr. Warren stated that school officials and a committee from the Improvement Association had visited the school on March 1, and that the association members after observing conditions, agreed that the elementary and vocational classes at the school did not interfere with each other, and that the sound of the machinery in the trade school room was objectionably audible in the elementary classrooms.

Last year certain members of the Lower Falls Improvement Association attended a meeting of the School Committee and were quite insistent that the trade school classes be removed from the Hamilton School. One officer of the Improvement Association, who has been a resident of this city for a comparatively short time, as stated at that meeting, that he would move out of this city unless the trade school classes were removed from the Hamilton School.

On Thursday afternoon, an interesting basketball game was played, the Varsity vs. the Faculty. E. Tanner, W. Thornton, R. Morse, S. Brent, A. Reed with F. Tanner and Mr. Westgate entering the game later, comprised the Faculty team. During the first half, the Faculty led 11-8, but the final score was 29-27 in favor of the Varsity. Mr. Morse was the high scorer for the Faculty and J. Forte carried away the honors for Varsity. New Papal Currency
The Vatican state is putting into circulation the new coins bearing the head and armorial bearings of Pope Pius XII, together with the year of his election. In all other respects these coins are exactly the same as those minted for the papacy of Pius XI. The minting of the Vatican currency is regulated by a special financial convention with Italy, concluded in August, 1930, and ratified the following January. The Vatican coins are of the same value, material and dimensions as the Italian coins, the only difference being in the minting.

Eliot Church Men Organize Club

Over 60 men met at Eliot Church, Newton, last Monday evening and organized "The Eliot Men's Club." A constitution and by-laws were accepted and these officers elected: President, Thomas Cleveland; Vice President, Ted Leonard; Secretary, Russell Broad; Executive Committee, Sayford Bacon, Ellison Day, Charles Morrow. The purpose of the club is to promote a better acquaintance and closer fellowship among the parishioners and friends of Eliot Church that they may enjoy a larger usefulness in any field of service which may require their strength and influence. Membership in the club is open to all men who have a friendly interest in the purpose of the club. A buffet supper followed the meeting, and a challenge from the Central Club of Newtonville to a bowling match was received and accepted. Frank Dennison was appointed to organize a bowling team. Regular meetings will be held on the second Monday of each month from October to May, inclusive.

One of the first projects will be the building of a club room in the basement of Eliot Church. Plans were submitted by Ralph Henry and Charles Morrow.

Age Evidence For Social Security

Documentary evidence of a person's age, ranging from a birth certificate to old automobile driving licenses, is going to have an increasing importance as the Federal Government's old-age and survivors insurance program develops, according to Walter W. Daly, Manager of the Social Security Board's Cambridge Field Office. Mr. Daly explained that the Government must have the proof of one's age before insurance payments can be made. The law provides that monthly payments may be made to workers who have reached the age of 65 if they qualify, but, it will require suitable evidence of age.

Since the law specifies that monthly insurance is payable to the widow with dependent children under age 16, or age 18 if still in school, to the widow after age 65, and to the young dependent children of any age, it is necessary for the Social Security Board to have some acceptable proof that the age of the widow or children is such as to justify the payments.

But a claimant will be given every opportunity to supply the required proof. The applicant will be asked if he has a birth certificate or a record of infant baptism.

If such testimony cannot be produced, the Board will open the way to the presentation of a miscellaneous lot of evidence, which, when viewed as a whole, may be regarded as sufficient. This type of evidence will include public documents such as a man's army discharge, school records, or marriage certificates, naturalization papers, voting lists, census records, employment records, insurance policies, labor union or fraternal association records, passport applications, etc.

If any person otherwise eligible for benefits is having difficulty locating documentary evidence, we suggest that he visit the Social Security Board Field Office at 10 Temple st., Central sq., Cambridge, which office services residents of Newton.

The final entertainment in the Children's matinee series will be given in the Channing Church Parlor at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, April 6. It will be a Mother Goose program with quadrilles, dances, wax works and a special Mother Goose quiz. There will be fun and frolic for all.

On March 19, the Eliot Circle entertained the ladies at the Stone Institute with a "Hat Parade" of 70 hats. The hats dated from 1756 through 1940 and were loaned by members of the Eliot Church. The committee in charge included Mrs. Richard Moore, Mrs. Charles Pearson, Mrs. Philip Horne, Mrs. Leonard Abbott and Mrs. Milton Moland.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday, March 31.

The Golden Text is: "Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning" (James 1:17).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Commit thy works unto the Lord, and thy thoughts shall be established. . . . How much better is it to get wisdom than gold! and to get understanding rather than to be chosen than silver! . . . He that handleth a matter wisely shall find good; and whose trusteth in the Lord happy is he" (Proverbs 16:3, 16, 20).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When understanding changes the standpoints of life and intelligence from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of Life, the control of Soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its divine Principle. This must be the climax before harmonious and immortal man is obtained and his capabilities revealed" (p. 322).

Microscope Will Reveal

Qualities of Animal Fur

If the prospective buyer of a fur coat desired several of the hairs from the coat before buying it would probably create a furor in the store. However, if the purchaser planned to take the hairs home, study them under a microscope and then make up her mind, it would be a sensible request, says Nature Magazine.

Furs vary widely in durability, although some of the most expensive furs are among the least durable. The microscope reveals the reasons because it shows the structure of the individual hairs and the clues to strength and weakness.

A hair is a product of the outer layer of the skin. It grows out of what is known as a follicle. The part above the skin is a dead dried structure like a finger nail, living and growing only at its base. As the hair cells multiply and push upwards, forming hair, they change. There is a central sort of pith and the outermost cells form scales, overlapping like shingles on a roof. Down at the base of the hair a tiny manufacturing plant is turning out coloring matter. This is carried along as the hair grows.

If we examine the hairs of various animals under the microscope we find that they differ widely in diameter; in the shape, size and arrangement of the scales; in the character of the pith, and in the way the color granules are grouped. The most durable hairs are those that have a solid pith.

The rare sea otter is taken as a standard durable fur and given a rating of 100. On this basis it is interesting to note the comparative rating of other common furs, such as: wolvenone 100, raccoon (natural) 65, raccoon (dyed) 50, beaver 90, true fur seal 80, skunk 70, mink 70, muskrat 45, opossum 35, fox (natural) 40, fox (dyed) 25, ermine 25, nutria or copy rat 25, lynx 25, chipmunk 15, goat 15, rabbit and hare 5, mole 5.

New Television Tube

Can Pierce Fog, Haze

A television transmitting tube that can pierce fog and haze to pick up scenes for transmission through the ether has been developed in the laboratories of the Radio Corporation of America.

The screen of the new tube picks up scenes by the heat waves given off by objects in the scene. Technically, these are known as infrared rays and unlike light waves, they pierce fog and haze. Thus, what is primarily projected on the screen is not a light image of the scene but a "heat" or infrared image.

Instead of being photo-electric as the ordinary "tele-eye" or Iconoscope of the television pick-up camera, the screen is thermo-electric, that is, electric potentials are generated in it when heat waves strike it. The thermo-electric sensitive screen is disclosed as being a fine film of germanium, a rare earth metal, mounted on a thin sheet of mica.

When the heat image is projected on it localized potential differences appear in the film as a result of temperature differences in different elemental areas of the heat image. These correspond to lights and shadows of the scene. Now when the image on the screen is scanned by a pencil beam of electrons, electrical currents are released from the film corresponding with the lights and shadows of the scene. These impulses are amplified and converted into a visible image corresponding to that broadcast.

With the new tube it would be possible, for example, to televise a hot electric iron or a stove in a dark room.

Lightweight Helium Has

Little Commercial Value

Practical commercial utility of the "lightweight" helium discovered in the air by University of California scientists remains extremely doubtful, the scientists have reported.

Dr. Luis W. Alvarez, assistant professor of physics, who, with Robert Cornog, graduate student from Denver, detected submicroscopic quantities of the lightweight helium in ordinary air, reported the discovery is considered important to the science of physics, but its possible use in commercial form, such as in lighter than air craft, is very much in doubt.

Reason why the commercial utility of lightweight helium is extremely doubtful is that no method has yet been devised to extract any type of helium from the air in usable commercial quantities.

The scientists made their discovery with the aid of the cyclotron's 225-ton atom smashing university.

The United States has a monopoly on heavy helium which has a lifting power 92.3 per cent that of hydrogen, the lightest known gas.

'The Lone Clutch'

When a rock with a note wrapped around it crashed through their window about 10 o'clock one night, Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Campbell of Seattle, Wash., thought they were the victims of a practical joker. The note read: "I strike at midnight or else. To you from the Lone Clutch. Put $2 on the porch." They laughed and went to bed, only to be awakened at midnight by a great rattling of windows and trembling of the whole house. It wasn't "The Lone Clutch," though—only an earthquake.

'Miracle Drug' Advanced In Fight on Influenza

The possibility that medical science at last has found a method of conquering influenza has been disclosed by the U. S. public health service.

The new "miracle drug" called sulfaipyridine, already widely used in treating pneumonia, may come to be used as a preventive of the flu, according to Miss Margaret Pittman, associate bacteriologist at the National institute of health.

An eight-months old baby gave the clue to the sulfaipyridine method of controlling the disease, said Miss Pittman in her report. The infant developed an inflammation of the eyes and ears and pneumonia. In addition to pneumonia germs, he had a heavy infection of the flu germs in his lungs, throat, eyes and ears.

Dr. J. H. McLeod, of Washington, who reported the case, administered sulfaipyridine immediately.

"Within 24 hours the child showed marked improvement, followed by a rapid and uneventful recovery," Miss Pittman said.

Such success led institute scientists to begin immediate experiments on mice. Their results were summarized in these statements:

1—Sulfaipyridine was effective in protecting mice against experimental infections of none-type-specific hemophilus influenzae (the bacteria which causes influenza).

2—The drug did not keep the bacteria from entering the blood stream, but it apparently retarded their increase in the blood until the natural defense forces could overcome the germs.

Two groups of mice were infected with the bacteria. One group received no sulfaipyridine. The other group received varying amounts of it. All the untreated mice died promptly, and some of the treated mice succumbed. In the treated group, the number which lived was directly proportional to the amount of the drug administered, Miss Pittman said.

None of those which received only one milligram of the drug survived the experiment. In some experiments in the series, 100 per cent of the mice which were given as much as eight milligrams came through alive. They apparently were not affected by doses of the germs 100 times greater than the amount ordinarily needed to kill them.

Bow-and-Arrow Used For Hunting Big-Game

Charles ("Tex") Stone, one of the world's foremost big-game hunters, made an internationally known business out of a bow-and-arrow hobby that started as a joke.

Stone began bagging big game with a bow and arrow in 1921. While guiding a scientific expedition through the African veldt, his daily job required him to aid a party of hunters in obtaining fresh meat.

The abundance of game and the ease by which it was shot down, bored Smith and the other hunters. As a joke someone in the group suggested they make the daily meat hunt more difficult and dangerous by using bows and arrows.

That joke grew into the biggest business of its kind in the country. Stone has killed, chiefly for museums, 416 big game specimens. Museum curators want skins as nearly perfect as they can get them. The arrow, although deadly, tears the skin of the animal only slightly.

Stone said he couldn't understand why more hunters didn't use bows and arrows to hunt game.

"In no time at all," he said, "I can teach a boy to kill small game. And another sporting weapon that is effective is the blow gun. With a little training a person can become an expert shot."

All the specimens Stone has obtained in Africa, South America, India, Australia, Mexico and the United States were killed at a range of less than 35 yards.

Stone admitted that he had experienced a "few close calls" in hunting man-killing animals with his long bow.

Recently, he bagged a record-size mountain lion in the Davis mountains of west Texas. It weighed 220 pounds. Stone brought it down at 30 yards, his arrow striking just above the heart. But, he pointed out, if the steel-tipped arrow had not struck in a vital spot, the lion undoubtedly would have charged.

"An arrow doesn't carry much shock," Stone said. "Unless an animal is struck in a vital spot, he is able to charge. So I carry life insurance."

87-Year-Old Deer Hunter

Eighty-seven-year-old Tom Peacock, of Saranac Lake, N. Y., went deer hunting last year as usual. He carried his own pack basket and rifle, as he has for about 75 years. He hiked into the forest with the heavy load on his back and kept apace with companions one-quarter his age. The leathery, white-thatched Adirondack guide didn't get a shot. Tom Peacock has hunted almost every kind of wild game in North America since as a boy he bowled over himself and a deer at opposite ends of a kicking flintlock musket. He likes to recall times past when he hunted elk to feed railroad work gangs in the West, moose in Canada, bear and mountain lions in the Rockies, or deer in his home country. He once killed four Colorado elk with three shots.

Reign of King Charles V Recalled by Landmarks

King Charles V, the monarch known as Charles the Wise, constructed many of the most famous landmarks in Paris.

The Louvre museum, whose marble halls are known to visitors; the Chateau de Vincennes, just outside Paris; the Palais de Justice, or town hall, and the Place de la Bastille, where the famous prison once stood, are among the landmarks in Paris whose origin dates back to the days of Charles V. Even the French National library, the Bibliotheque Nationale, which is known to thousands of foreign students attending the Sorbonne and other Paris universities, had its start with a donation from Charles V of more than 1,000 historic manuscripts.

Charles V did not actually construct the palace which later became the Louvre, but he ordered the original structure to be enlarged and renovated. The famous Palace de Justice was built following the instruction of this French monarch—but six centuries ago it was known as St. Paul's palace.

The prison of the Bastille, which was destroyed by mobs during the French revolution, was built by Charles the Wise "to keep Parisians in order," according to a history of that epoch. The Chateau de Vincennes, the palace where the king was born, was enlarged and redecorated during his reign.

Other significant events in his rule, which were celebrated with fitting ceremonies in Paris, were the establishment of a French merchant marine, the placing of France's taxation system on a business basis, and the expulsion of the English from French soil.

Writer of "God Save the King" an Open Question

There is room for debate among British patriots and musicians as to who wrote "God Save the King," as several persons have claimed the honor of writing both melody and words. However, notes a writer in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, in Dr. John Julian's dictionary of hymnology, credit for writing the melody is given Dr. John Bull, who is said to have played it on the organ in the Merchant Taylor's hall in London in 1607, when James I dined there as a guest of the guild.

Henry Carey is often accepted as the author of both words and music, and the air is said to have been sung by him at a dinner in 1740 to celebrate the victory of Portobello. Carey's son repeated his claim in 1795, hoping to get a pension for his father's patriotic effort, but he did not get it.

What is certain is that George II was the first king to be mentioned by name in the song, and that it became suddenly and widely popular after having been sung in the Drury Lane theater in London in 1745, soon after the proclamation of the Pretender at Edinburgh. It was sung at Covent Garden and other theaters immediately after and soon everybody was singing: "God bless our noble king; God save great George our king."

Uncrowned Rulers

The fact that a king has not been crowned does not mean that his rule is unacknowledged. Whitaker's Almanac says that from the time of King Henry the Eighth it has been a recognized principle that immediately upon the death of a monarch his heir becomes his already constituted successor. The solemn and elaborate ceremony of coronation is the formal public ratification of an event which is already of binding force. Listed among English kings and queens in Whitaker's Almanac are two rulers who never were crowned: Edward V and Jane (Lady Jane Grey). Edward V reigned only a few months and Lady Jane Grey only a few days.

Italics in the Bible

In several early English translations of the Bible many words not intended to be emphasized are printed in italics. This is because the translators of the Scriptures were unable to find English words equivalent to some of the words in the Hebrew, Greek and Latin texts. Whenever they were compelled to insert extra words to make the translation intelligible to English readers they put these additional words in italics to indicate the insertion. In later translations italics were used for emphasis.

Duck Hawk Kin of Falcon

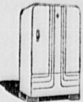

The duck hawk is a close relative of the European falcon which was trained to sit blind-folded on the gantlet of king or noble until released to capture game fowl while hunters watched the thrilling chase. Like its European relative, the American peregrine falcon attains staggering speeds, sometimes as high as 70 miles an hour. This speed has earned for it the popular name of "bullet hawk."

East Indian Influence

Much of British Guiana's colorful character is traceable to the East Indian influence. There are more than 136,000 Hindus in the colony, mostly the descendants of indentured laborers brought from India in the Nineteenth century, when the freeing of slave labor made it imperative to find a new source of cheap man power to operate the plantations.

Spring Conference Of State Juniors At Brockton

The highlight of the State Federation Juniors Spring Conference will be the presentation of three preliminary winners in the Public Speaking Contest in the finals which will decide which one of these three talented, charming young women will win the coveted trip to the General Federation Council Meeting, to be held in May, at Milwaukee. The Brockton Junior Woman's Club, which is the largest of the Junior Clubs of the State Federation, will be hosts for this Conference next Saturday, April 6th. This Traveling Scholarship is awarded each year to a Junior who has the opportunity to attend the May Meeting of the General Federation, with expenses paid. The choice of those who compete for this opportunity is based upon many points. A committee of the State Federation hears the "tryouts," and selects the best to appear before the State Juniors in the open Conference. Ability to speak, to appear upon a platform with dignity and a pleasing manner, and to conduct a meeting, so that the Junior Clubs they represent may feel honored in this representative, are among the qualifications which decide the award.

The three young women who will speak before the Conference on April 6th, when Juniors from every part of Massachusetts will be in Brockton, in keen interest, will be Miss Juanita Clay Bartlett, president of the Woburn Junior Woman's Club; Miss Barbara Ann Henry of Watertown, president of the Waltham Junior Woman's Club; and Miss Evelyn Tuttle, a past president of the Turner's Falls Junior Woman's Club. Miss Bartlett is a graduate of the Bishop-Lee School of Drama, and is especially interested in Little Theatre work. Miss Henry is a graduate of Lasell Junior College, and her special interest is dramatics. Miss Tuttle is now vice-president of the Republican Club of the town of Montague. Her special interest is in public speaking, lecturing, and radio work.

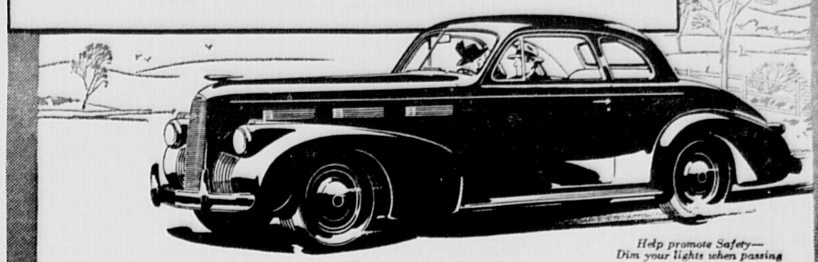

Urge Clubwomen To Destroy Ragweed

Pull, cut, spray and plow the long greenish spikes of the common ragweed, Mrs. Ralph G. Swain, chairman of the Conservation and Garden Committee of the State Federation of Women's Clubs asks clubwomen to assist in destroying this fern-like weed which has become a menace to the population with its toxic pollen, to co-operate by eliminating this weed on her property. No one can be certain of immunity from hay fever in the fall, of which Ragweed is one of the principal causes.

The crusade for roadside beautification includes the removal of this enemy weed, and the planting of desirable shrubs, vines and wild flowers. As New England is the summer playground of the East, every person should see that visitors are not attacked by Ragweed pollen.

Billboards spoil the countryside, and the division of Conservation also is seeking to remove these signs from beauty spots. If the women of the State are thoroughly awake to their duty of seeing that Massachusetts is kept a garden spot they will make it a business to see that Billboards are kept within the laws governing them.

There will be reports from committee chairmen, Mrs. Eugene U. Uford, president, presiding, and at 10:30 o'clock she will turn the program of the morning over to Mrs. Charles E. Valentine, who will review Marrot's "Life and Letters of Galsworthy."

This will be followed by a paper by Miss Margaret Haskell on "The Family of the Barrett," by Marks. The last part of the program will be a review of Valentine's biography "Leonardo da Vinci," and will be given by Mrs. J. Arthur Furbish.

Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, was a guest at the meeting of the Review Club when it met on Tuesday morning, March 19th, with Mrs. W. A. Van Atten at her home on Studio rd.

During the business meeting, with Mrs. Uford presiding, Mrs. E. Sherman Chase announced several exhibits which would be of interest to lovers of Art, and she also recommended several books on the same topic. Letters from the Boston Children's Hospital and from the Division for the Physically Handicapped acknowledging donations from the Club were read by Mrs. J. Arthur Freeman, the newly-appointed treasurer to fill out the term of office of Mrs. Amos R. Wells who is seriously ill. Notices were also given of several educational courses open to the public including Home Gardening, Interior Decoration, and Automobile Driving.

The president then presented Mrs. Hay, who reminded her audience of the coming Sale for the Blind which the Federation and local churches are sponsoring once more, to be held at the Newton Centre Club House on May 1, 2, and 3. She stated that the Annual Meeting would be held in the same place on May 6th. Mrs. Hay is the chairman of the Adult Education Committee in the Newton Safety Council, and she took this opportunity to tell about the work which this committee is doing. First she reviewed what had been done recently for safety in the home by means of the questionnaires which had been circulated by school children and local milk dealers. Then she explained the course of work for the coming season which would be the education of the pedestrian, especially of the older people, as the majority of offenders of traffic rules are among the middle-aged people as shown by statistics. Mrs. Hay gave several rules which should be followed: first, to cross on crossings and with the proper lights, instead of running across wherever was most convenient; second, when ready to cross, to look to the left and then to the right, rather than vice versa. The third suggestion was for the persons in rural districts where no sidewalks are available. To them she urged carrying a flashlight at night, or wearing something white which would be seen by the motorist.

At the close of her talk, Mrs. Uford turned the program over to Mrs. Susan F. Tuttle who read her paper on "The Adams Family," based on the biography of James Truslow Adams. This book deals with four generations of Adamses; John Adams and John Quincy Adams, both presidents; Charles Francis Adams and his four sons. The author claims that this family rates higher than any other, in his opinion, due not to money, but to ability and integrity. Choosing from all of the Adams family, he put John Quincy Adams at the top of the list.

Mrs. H. E. B. Case continued the program by reading from "Green Worlds." She explained that the author, Maurice Hindus, born in Russia in 1891, in great poverty, came to America, and after trying to enter several colleges, was admitted to Colgate University, and later to the Graduate School at Harvard. This book tells of his struggles to become a farmer under very different conditions from those with which he was familiar in Russia. He has lectured, as well as written books, on Russia, and is responsible for interesting his readers in the problems which face his native land.

"One American and his Attempts at Education," by Hunt, was the topic for the last paper, which was read by Mrs. Charles E. Valentine for Miss Elizabeth Eaton. This man, who was at one time connected with the New York Sun and with the Red Cross, tried literature from every angle, including being a reporter, an editor, and finally a war correspondent. It was while he was overseas during the World War that he says he learned more than he had ever learned through books. As a reporter, he met many celebrities, and this book describes many of them, including Lenin, Gorky, Gandhi and Edward and (Continued on page 8)

Mixed Marriage Couple Receive Jail Sentences

In the Newton court yesterday Judge Quinn of Natick sentenced Mrs. Eva Small to Sherborn Prison, and William Tennihan to one year in Billerica Prison. Both appealed. The couple who have been residing at 1110 Boylston st., Upper Falls, appeared in the Newton court on March 9 when Tennihan came to testify as a witness against their daughter, Frances Tennihan, 19, against whom he had made a complaint of being a stubborn child. Questioned by Judge Mayberry on that day, Tennihan revealed that he and the girl's mother, Mrs. Small, although divorced, were living together at 1110 Boylston st. Complaints were then issued against the couple, and they were found guilty on a morals charge. Judge Quinn commented that they had created an aggravated scandal in the community. After her mother had been sentenced, their younger daughter, Ruth Tennihan, 18, caused a scene in the courtroom by jumping up and crying to the judge—"You can't do that. It isn't fair."

Mrs. Small has been married seven times according to record. In 1912 she married Clifford Mendile; he died the following year. In 1915 she married Wendell Small of Boston, and in 1916 divorced him. In 1919 she married William Tennihan at Medford and in 1926 she divorced him. In 1926 she married Edward Burns at New York, and in 1927 divorced him. Two days after that divorce she remarried Tennihan, and that marriage was dissolved by another divorce in 1931. In 1932 she married a John McGee in New York and in 1933 they were divorced. In 1934 she again married Wendell Small, only to again separate from him. This time she did not bother with the formality of another divorce before taking up residence for the third time with Tennihan. The older daughter, Frances, against whom the father had made the "stubborn child" complaint, was sentenced to Sherborn Prison a couple of weeks ago.

Automobile Accidents

Mrs. Isabella Smith of 374 Winchester st., Oak Hill, received a spinal injury last Thursday afternoon when a wheel became detached from a passing milk truck as she was walking on that street. The wheel rolled on to the sidewalk and hit Mrs. Smith. She was treated by Dr. Nutter. A station wagon driven by Gordon Muir of 158 Prince st., West Newton, hit the rear of an automobile driven by James Thompson of 22 Lafayette rd., Lower Falls at 12:50 a. m. last Saturday morning on Beacon st., Newton Centre. Lawson Oakes, 60, of 235 Lincoln st., Newton Highlands, riding with Muir, received cuts and bruises and was taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance. Thompson reported that he also had been injured.

One of the many large mounds of frozen snow which are still causing danger to motorists on the streets of this city, and which should be removed, caused a serious accident on Washington st. near Aspen ave., Auburndale at 12:30 a. m. Thursday. A car driven by Frank Malaguti of Oak st., Wellesley hit the snow and overturned. Malaguti received a possible skull fracture. Biagio Napoleone of Oak st., Wellesley received head injuries. Both were taken to Newton Hospital.

Community Chest

Gertrude McCallum of the West Newton Community Centre, Miss Harriet L. Parsons of the Newton Family Service Bureau, Dr. Harold D. Chope, Director of Public Health in Newton and the Rev. Charles O. Farrar will be the leaders.

Newtonville Man Drove Recklessly

William Doyle of 200 Mill st., Newtonville, was fined $20 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court yesterday for driving a car so as to endanger. On March 2 his car collided at Commonwealth ave. and Homer st. with a car driven by John Janse of Greenwood st., Oak Hill. Judge Mayberry stated that photographs of Janse's car indicated that Doyle was driving at excessive speed.

Warren Jr. High

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association has reported that the "Transmitter" has received a third-place rating in its class. The official announcement was made at the C. S. P. A. convention. The "Transmitter" is the Warren Junior High School newspaper and is published five times during the school year. Miss Dorothy Rice is the faculty adviser of the "Transmitter" and Mr. Simon Surabian is the business manager.

On Wednesday afternoon, March 29, the Junior II and III classes were privileged to see a film entitled "Know Your Money." This is one of the films authorized by the United States Secret Service being shown throughout the country as an aid to crime prevention. Intended to instruct citizens against the dangers of counterfeit money and government check forgery, Mr. Joseph D. Haley and Mr. Rose, two agents of the United States Secret Service, were in charge of the program.

New Study of Sun Spots Detailed in Publication

Popular conjecture as to the importance of sun spots to inhabitants of the earth is just so much wild guessing until scientists learn more about sun spots themselves. Among other astronomical centers where widespread study of sun spots is being carried on is the University of Michigan observatory at Ann Arbor. Discoveries of the last few years have made possible the prediction of latitudes of sun spot activity throughout an 11-year cycle. This fact, together with evidence that regions of maximum and minimum sun-spot activity recur with each 27-day rotation of the sun about its axis, led Michigan astronomers to believe that further studies might reveal the basis for predicting the longitude of sun-spot activity, as well as its latitude.

After three years of intensive study of the problem, Dr. Hazel Marie Losh, of the Michigan observatory, has published the results of her observation of the distribution of sun spots in longitude, indicating strong evidence for the belief that sun spots follow regular patterns in their distribution across the face of the sun, as well as they do in distribution up and down between the solar poles. Most striking among Dr. Losh's findings is the tendency for opposite sun-spot activity to appear in the northern and southern hemispheres of the sun at any one longitude. While occasionally similar activity areas were found at the same longitude in both hemispheres, by far the most common situation was the finding of maximum activity in the northern hemisphere, accompanied by minimum activity in the southern hemisphere.

Household Illumination Unchanged in 25,000 Yrs.

The inventions of Aimee Argand and John Miles in the 1780s revolutionized the art of household illumination. For more than 25,000 years lamps in various forms had consisted of an open or partially closed reservoir for oil with a wick lying at the rim or in a protruding spout, writes Howard G. Hubbard in American Collector. They gave poor light, spilled oil abominably, and cast an annoying shadow on the side away from the flame.

All three of these fundamental faults were overcome almost at a stroke by the vertical wick and closed reservoir of Argand and Miles. There were left many problems of refinement and, as often happens with epochal inventions, at least one new problem was created. The earlier lamps, with flame near the fuel, could use either expensive oils or waste kitchen greases. The latter would not work in the new lamps, which utilized whale, sperm, fish and vegetable oils. Here, then, was the new problem: a lamp with the advantages of vertical wick and closed reservoir and the ability to burn inexpensive greases.

We have meager evidence that inventors on both sides of the Atlantic went to work on this problem almost at once. Perhaps the first to succeed was John Love of South Carolina. He took out a United States patent in 1798 for a "tallow lamp," but this bare title is the sum total of our present knowledge regarding it. Proof that a "lamp for burning lard" was invented in this country previous to 1810 is contained in a statement made by Thomas P. Jones, M. D., editor of the Journal of the Franklin Institute and, previous to that appointment, superintendent of the patent office.

Survey Reveals Opinions On Criminal Punishment

Pardon and parole should be abolished and persons convicted of crimes should serve their full sentences except where injustice is revealed by new evidence, in the opinion of 83 per cent of the men and 88 per cent of the women covered in a survey of 25,000 Northwestern National life insurance policyholders. Death penalty for murder was approved by 86 per cent of the men and 75 per cent of the women; 88 per cent of the men and 93 per cent of the women favored sterilization of habitual criminals. Many expressed alarm over current conditions and favored "cracking down" on tender treatment of criminals. The first aim of penal and legal forces should be to protect the law-abiding by making crime dangerous and its rewards unpleasant, thought 81 per cent of the women and 78 per cent of the men, with rehabilitation of the criminal important, but secondary. The recommendations of those questioned included separation of first offenders from "repeaters" in prisons; closing of loopholes in procedure through which "smart" lawyers can free criminals at a profit; placing of more police powers in federal hands; and use of criminals sentenced to execution for purposes of scientific research, the latter suggestion proceeding from a number of doctors.

Most Extensive Man Hunt
The most extensive man hunt in history was for the three De Autremont brothers who held up a mail train in Oregon on October 11, 1923. Not only were circulars in a hundred languages sent throughout the world, says Collier's Weekly, but special descriptions of their teeth went to dentists, of their watches to jewelers, of their eye-glasses to oculists and of their literary tastes to librarians. They were captured in 1927 after a search that cost $500,000.

Newton Teachers Anxious To Study This Summer

Fourteen teachers in the Newton public schools will be selected in the near future by Supt. of Schools Warren to study at "summer workshops" in July and August. They will be chosen from 70 applicants. Newton is one of the 14 public school systems in this country selected to participate in a 5 year program instituted by the American Council on Education for the purpose of improving teaching. In 1938 a grant of $550,000 was received from Rockefeller Foundation through the General Education Board to finance this program. Twenty teacher training institutions will also send representatives. Six of the Newton teachers will attend the workshop at Chicago University this summer. The other eight will go to other schools. Each will be paid most of the cost of their transportation, board and tuition for the 5 weeks course.

Woman Fined $20, Drove Recklessly

Anna Fahey of West Spruce st., Milford, was fined $20 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Wednesday for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. On March 14 a car driven by her collided at Homer street and Ashton ave., Newton Centre, with a car driven by Arthur Ayre of Furbush ave., West Newton. A woman riding in Mrs. Fahey's car was injured. Ayre testified that the other car was not stopped before entering Homer st. from Ashton ave., in compliance with a "Stop" sign there, and that the Fahey woman told him she did not notice the sign. She claimed in her report to the police that she did not stop her car.

In the Newton court on Monday William Freeman of Grove st., Natick, was found not guilty by Judge Mayberry on a charge of driving to endanger. On January 31 a car driven by him collided at Washington and Hovey sts., Newton with a car driven by James Bell of 93 Waban Park, Newton. Freeman received broken ribs in the collision. Bell testified that he stopped his car before entering Washington st., looked both to right and left, and did not see any car approaching. Bell's testimony was corroborated by A. L. Rodenhiser of 15 Richardson st., Newton, who testified he was in the locality before the accident occurred, and saw Bell stop his car.

Despondent Youth Commits Suicide

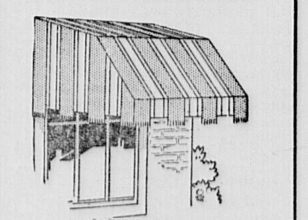

Apparently despondent, Joseph Barrow, 21, committed suicide on Tuesday night by hanging himself from a rafter in the attic of his brother's home at 38 Henshaw st., West Newton. For the past 3 years the youth had been in a CCC camp at Colorado. He came back to Camp Devens several days ago and was honorably discharged from the CCC on Tuesday. He came to his brother's home and stated he planned to enter the egg business. When his brother and family went out in their automobile Tuesday afternoon, he declined to accompany them. When the relatives returned at 8:15 they searched the house for him and found the body in the attic.

His funeral service was held on Friday morning at St. Bernard's Church and burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Burglary at Carr School Tuesday

Tuesday evening between 5 and 9:45 the Carr School at Nevada st., Newtonville, was broken into and the loot included a moving picture projector valued at $225, a radio valued at $126 and $4 in postage stamps. The break was discovered by Patrolman Bronsaban when he was making his round. The burglar first tried to enter the school by breaking a pane of glass in a back door, and not succeeding, then broke a window in the office of Principal Kenneth Laflamme. There have been many burglaries at Newton schools the past two years.

Sunday Drums

competition of American Legion drum and bugle corps at Clafin field on some Sunday the coming May. Mr. Cabot informed the committee that Newton Post, A. L., of which he is a member, had requested him to learn the attitude of the school committee on allowing the use of the field for the competition.

Mrs. Margaret Woods of the School Committee stated that she has been informed that a delegation of residents in the vicinity of Clafin Field are coming before the School Committee to protest against granting a permit this year for the annual field day of Newton Post at Clafin Field on July 4. For the past few years the Post has conducted its annual field day at this location, and protests have come from neighbors because of the noise of fireworks on the night of the field day. Last year indignation was caused when an elderly woman, a life-long resident of this city, was in her last illness at her home directly across from Clafin Field, and despite the fact that "No Noise" signs had been placed near her home, the fireworks display was held as usual. Three petitions were presented to the Board of Aldermen some time ago protesting against further permits for fireworks displays in this vicinity.

Another application which did not meet with approval was one from the Lower Falls organization asking for the use of the Warren Junior High School at West Newton for badminton games on Mondays, Thursdays and Sundays from September, 1940 to June, 1941. Supt. of Schools Warren suggested that use of school buildings for such purposes be sponsored by the Recreation Department. Mayor Goddard, who was present at the meeting, stated that the Recreation Department had procured badminton equipment for use at the Newton Centre playground building, but the game had not proved popular there.

Ward 1 Citizens

ber of voters in the revised Precinct 1 than in the Stearns School, and it was voted to ask the Board of Aldermen to designate the Lincoln-Eliot School as the polling place for the precinct, not only because it is more accessible to a greater number, but because of the unfriendliness of the Stearns School basement as a Voting place, and the difficulty of access to it.

Harold Murray, A. Charles Dunne and Thomas Fitzgerald criticized the Board of Aldermen for changing the precinct lines without holding a public hearing to afford citizens affected by the change an opportunity to be heard. They stated that the Aldermen have been quite deferential toward newer residents of the city in recently developed sections, but they showed little courtesy toward those life-long residents of Ward 1, whose families have resided in Newton for generations. It was voted to send a communication to the Board of Aldermen expressing these views.

Miss Julia Enegess talked on the matter of establishing a community center in the Lincoln-Eliot School, and she stated that while residents of the district are not adverse to afternoon activities for children at the school, there is a general agreement in opposition to any organized evening activities at the school under the auspices of the Recreation Department. She commented that the people residing in the section near the school are largely members of the old families in Newton who have always been self-reliant and do not need or desire city conducted community activities.

Study Salaries

During the discussion of the school department budget by the Aldermen the statement was made that a few Newton teachers are receiving higher salaries than are teachers doing similar work in other communities. The statement was also made recently that Newton teachers are receiving lower salaries than in seven other cities in this country comparable with Newton. The present salary schedule in Newton is as follows—teachers in elementary schools, $1300 to $2000; women teachers in junior high schools (7th and 8th grades) $1400 to $2200; (9th grade to $2500); men teachers in junior high schools, $2000 to $3000; high school, women teachers, $1500 to $2500; men teachers $2000 to $3000; department heads salaries, maximum, $3800. The average salary of Newton teachers in 1938 was $2230.76.

$5000 Fire In Chest. Hill House

The residence of Hyman Weiner at 39 Priscilla rd., Chestnut Hill, was damaged to the extent of $5000 by a fire which started in an attic room there on Tuesday afternoon. The fire was discovered by Mrs. Fred Mitchell of Rotherfield rd., Newton Centre, who saw smoke issuing from the roof of the house as she drove along Commonwealth ave., some distance away. She drove to Engine 9 house on Manet rd. and gave the alarm. When Engine 9 reached the scene, Box 86 was pulled at 4:35, bringing several pieces of apparatus. The fire apparently started in a bedroom occupied by Albert Weiner, a student at Harvard Medical School. After the firemen had arrived at the house, he rushed up to his room and saved a microscope valued at $150. Mrs. Weiner, her son and daughter, Anita, were in the house when the fire started, and told the firemen that they had smelled smoke and were trying to locate its source when the firemen came. The blaze ruined the upper part of the house.

Social Agencies Here Buy Carefully

That Newton social agencies are good and careful buyers is shown in a study just made by Herbert N. McGill, president of McGill Commodity Service of Auburndale, on behalf of the Newton Community Council. Mr. McGill is a nationally-known authority on buying and is economic counsel for the National Association of Purchasing Agents.

To determine what could be accomplished by central purchasing, all Chest agencies submitted estimates of their 1940 purchases to Mr. McGill's committee; bids were asked for from Newton firms or salesmen of other firms who lived in Newton and the results analyzed. The results showed that the social agencies were shrewd buyers and were stretching their dollars a long way. It was found, however, that by consolidating orders for some articles better prices could be obtained. The work of this central purchasing committee under Mr. McGill's direction will be continued and consolidated orders placed when savings are possible.

Newton Youth Robs Church Poor Boxes

A 17 year old Newton Corner youth was arrested by Brookline police last Sunday afternoon after a curfew in St. Lawrence's Church on Boylston st. In that town had detected him robbing a poor box there. The youth used a long knife-blade with a wad of gum attached to it to lift the coins out of the poor box. He was arraigned in the Brookline court on Monday and placed on probation. He was then arrested by Newton police inspectors and admitted that he had robbed poor boxes and vigil light boxes in Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, 14 times during December and January. He also admitted having robbed a poor box at St. Philip Neri's Church at Waban. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday and ordered sent to Westboro Insane Hospital for a period of 15 days' observation.
